MONTENEGRO QUITS WAR

Hungarian Premier Makes the Announcement to Parliament.

LITTLE MONARCHY YIELDS TO AUSTRIA

British Administer Second Defeat to Turk Within Few Days.

Today's War News Given in Summary

Relief apparently is in sight for the British forces under Gen. Townshend that has been in a precarious position at Kut-el-Amara in Mesopotamia for some time since it was compelled to fall back from the vicinity of Bagdad.

It was officially announced in London today that the relief column under Gen. Aylmer proceeding up the Tigris river had inflicted a defeat on the Turks who, after being driven out of their positions at Waddi had fallen back to within six miles of Kut-el-Amara. They had been previously at Orah, 25 miles down the Tigris.

Today's Turkish official statement makes no mention of these operations, reporting merely intermittent artillery fighting near Kuet-el-Amara.

In the Caucasus the offensive inaugurated by the Russians with strongly reinforced columns along a 100 mile front appears to be gaining force, Constantinople admitting a retreat of several miles by the Turkish advanced posts at some points. Turkey has evidently been offering a determined resistance the war office declaring that their retirement was only after they had held strong Russian forces in check for a week.

Berlin announces that military operations on the western front have been lacking in important developments. The official statement records the killing of sixteen inhabitants of Lens by artillery fire.

Snow storms have hampered activities in the eastern war zone.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—(Via Sayville.)—The Overseas News agency announced today that Count Tisza, the Hungarian

ZERO WEATHER MAY CONTINUE FEW DAYS

Not Much Relief is Promised by the Official Forecaster.

While slowly rising temperature is promised by Forecaster P. McDonough tonight and Tuesday, zero weather will probably continue in this section for two or three days. There is nothing in sight indicating anything to the contrary.

Throughout all of Sunday the mercury hovered around the zero mark and during the night had descended several degrees and at 6 o'clock Monday morning stood 8 degrees below, according to the government thermometer in the weather bureau's office. It remained at this point till 8 o'clock, when it commenced to slowly rise, reaching one above at 11:30 o'clock. It is not expected to go very much above that mark during the remainder of the day.

The cold wave is the second within the past week. Suffering among the poor of the city was intensified and charitable organizations and township trustee received an increased number of calls for relief. Both food and fuel were in demand.

The sharpness of the atmosphere was given an additional touch of bitterness by a strong wind which prevailed throughout Sunday, ranging from twenty to twenty-six miles in velocity. The present cold is swept from the northwestern states, where exceedingly low temperatures have been prevailing.

Ice skating has been supplied in abundance as practically every stream in Fort Wayne is covered with a heavy coat of ice.

LAST MINUTE NEWS

FOUR INJURED WHEN TRAIN JUMPS TRACE

Sioux City, Iowa, Jan. 17.—An Illinois Central passenger train jumped the track near Pisgah, Iowa today. Four persons including Conductor S. L. Sage, of Cherokee, Iowa, were seriously injured and two others slightly hurt.

SAYS TWO AMERICAN WOMEN ARE DETAINED.

London, Jan. 17.—(5:25 p. m.)—Reuters' Athens correspondent said unofficial advices have been received there that two American women are being detained at Monastir by the Bulgarians. They are Mrs. Walter Farwell, a Chicago newspaper correspondent, and Miss Mitchell.

FIREMEN SIMULATE WALKING CAKES OF ICE AT EARLY MORNING RESTARUANT BLAZE.

With the thermometer at eight below zero the firemen from engine houses 1, 3 and 5 early Monday morning, were caked with ice from helmet to boots, while they worked three hours on the South Calhoun street restaurant blaze. The upper picture shows the hose wagon squad of the Broadway brigade loading the stiff and frozen hose on their wagon, and the lower shot was made shortly after daylight in front of the ruined building.

EXPLOSION MAY COST EYESIGHT

Mrs. Anna Luescher Badly Scalded as Hot Water Coils Explode.

RANGE WRECKED; FIRE SCATTERED

Other Occupants of House on Home Avenue Escape Injury.

As the result of the explosion of hot water coils in a kitchen range at the home of Herman Leuscher, 1018 Home avenue, at 11:30 o'clock Sunday morning, Mrs. Anna Leuscher is a patient at the Lutheran hospital suffering from scalds about the face and the upper portion of the body. It is feared that she may lose the sight of both of her eyes. Her face was badly scalded with the steam and hot water and late Monday afternoon reports were to the effect that she had not regained her sense of sight.

Mr. Leuscher, who is employed at the Packard piano factory, had just returned home and opened the door when the explosion occurred. He was standing in the doorway and his supposition is that had not the door been open the force of the explosion would have torn away a portion of the side walls. The noise was heard several squares away.

Fragments Strewn About.

Mrs. Leuscher, who was preparing dinner, was standing at the side of the stove when the accident occurred. Had she been standing directly in front of it she would without a doubt have been instantly killed. Fragments of the stove were found in all the adjoining rooms. A flatiron which was on the top of the stove grate was throw a distance of eight feet striking Mr. Leuscher on the shoulder with great force.

Live coals were strewn over the entire kitchen and small blazes were discovered everywhere. One of the grates of the stove flew into the diningroom and burned a large hole in the rug. Fire was also discovered on top of a kitchen cabinet which stood in the opposite corner of the room. Paper on the ceiling and walls was also ablaze.

Mrs Leuscher's aged mother and son were in the kitchen at the time of the accident and all heard a cracking noise in the water pipes of the stove a few seconds before it let go. Presumably, as stated by Mr. Leuscher, the pressure of the steam in the pipes had not been given the proper attention and consequently when it reached a certain point everything let go at the same time. Others escaped injury.

SOUNDS FIRST NOTE FOR PREPAREDNESS

Seth Low Urges Administration Plan Before Civic Federation.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The National Civic Federation opened its sixteenth annual meeting today with prominent civic welfare workers from throughout the country present. Subjects for discussion included preparedness, immigration, government regulation of private industry and other problems. The women's section of the federation opened a separate two days' meeting.

National preparedness featured today's program, which was given over largely to presentation of committee reports.

Seth Low, of New York, president of the federation, sounded the first note on preparedness, when, in his opening address, he declared that if the United States is to prevent the "antagonisms and hates of Europe and its age-long tradition of empire" from finding lodgment on this continent after the war, it must be "by the strength of our own right arm, and by the willingness to die for what is certainly precious to ourselves and for what we believe to be the no less precious to humanity." Mr. Low said he favored the administration's defense program, not because he thought it ideally perfect, but because it was a long step in the right direction

PROMOTERS AWAITING DECISION ON FIGHT

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 17.—Champion Jess Willard arrived here today to discuss with Manager Tom Jones bids submitted yesterday for a fight between Willard and Frank Moran, of Pittsburg. Jones told friends he wanted a few days to consider the matter.

Among the promoters here awaiting Jones' decision are Jack Curley, who made an offer of $30,000 as Willard's share of the proceeds; Barney Oldfield, who, with James Coffroth, would take the contest to Tiajuana, Mexico, and "Billy" Wellman, representing "Tex" Rickard, of New York. If Curley lands the fight he will present it in New York city. Willard says he is in first class condition.

NEW CONTINUANCE GRANTED.

Trial of William Lorimer at Chicago Again Deferred.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Another continuance was granted today in the trial of William Lorimer, formerly president of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank and other officials of the bank who are charged with complicity in wrecking the institution. The case which was set for today before Judge Dever in the criminal court was continued to Feb. 14, when the examination of jurors is expected to begin.

FIRE WIPES OUT A CAFE

Blaze in Lebamoff Brothers Restaurant Threatens Entire Block.

FROZEN HYDRANTS DELAY FIREMEN

Two Explosions Are Heard Soon After Arrival of Department.

Fire of unknown origin completely wiped out the restaurant belonging to Tom and John Lebamoff at 1323 South Calhoun street and gutted the building owned by Mrs. W. S. Morris at 4:20 o'clock Monday morning, causing a loss estimated at $2,000, partially covered by insurance.

With the thermometer registering several degrees below the zero mark fire fighting was most difficult and the firemen suffered intensely. Their clothing was frozen stiff, but they bravely stayed on the job, suceeding in keeping the flames to the one building. The two adjoining buildings, both of which had been recently vacated, were not damaged in the least.

Frozen hydrants added to the troubles of the firemen. The first company to arrive attempted to get water from the hydrant at Brackenridge and Calhoun streets, which was found to be frozen. Then an effort was made to get water from the hydrant at Douglas and Calhoun, which was also frozen. All the time the fire was raging and there was great danger of it reaching serious proportions before the firemen were able to get any water whatever. Finally they succeeded in getting water from the hydrant at Lewis and Calhoun streets and another string of hose was strung from the hydrant at Holman and Clinton streets. In this manner they were able to play on the fire from the front and the rear, but not until the entire interior of the building, which is a two story brick, had been completely gutted.

Entire Block Threatened.

The firemen confined their efforts in keeping the fire in the one building and it was not until after 6 o'clock that they had it under control. For a time the entire block was threatened. Companies 1, 3 and 5 responded, with Assistant Fire Chief Jasper directing the work.

The fire had a good start when it was discovered by the patrolman on the beat. He turned in the alarm and five minutes later the first company was on the scene. The flames made rapid headway and were soon leaping high into the air.

Two Explosions.

Shortly after the arrival of the fire department there was an explosion back of the counter on the south side of the room and near the front. A few miutes later this was followed by another explosion in the rear, presumably in the kitchen. There was no one in the restaurant and had not been since midnight so far as any one knows. It was not an all night restaurant as are many others in the city and usually was closed at 12 o'clock. The entire second floor was vacated and had not been occupied for some time.

Street Cars Held Up.

As a result of the fire hundreds walked to work Monday morning. The

HEAD OF BILLPOSTING COMPANY DEAD AFTER FALL DOWN A STAIRWAY.

WILLIAM B. MERRILL DIES FROM INJURIES

Owner of Billposting Company Suffered Fracture of Skull in Fall.

Suffering from a fractured skull since last Wednesday evening when he fell headlong to the bottom of the basement stairs at his home, 1332 Washington boulevard west, William B. Merrill, owner of the Fort Wayne Bill Posting company, died at 6:10 o'clock Monday morning. He passed away at the Lutheran hospital where he had been a patient since Thursday evening. Mr. Merrill was 44 years and 8 months of age.

He returned home about 11 o'clock Wednesday evening and the supposition is that he intended to go into the basement to fix the fire for the night. At the top of the stairs he tripped over a mop handle and pitched headlong to the bottom. He lay there several hours when he succeeded in pulling himself up the stairway and called for help from the members of the family.

He did not regard his condition as serious, thinking that his injuries did not even necessitate the calling of a physician. He remained at the house Thursday all day and even walked to the garage at the rear of the lot and enjoyed a cigar. Later in the afternoon he was rendered speechless which prompted the calling of a physician. The doctor found that the injured man was suffering from a severe fracture of the skull and ordered him taken to the hos-

WILSON FURTHERS DEFENSE PROGRAM

Washington, Jan. 17.—Announcement that President Wilson had written to the presidents of the leading engineering organizations of the country requesting the appointment of representatives to gather, in conjunction with the civilian naval consulting board, data for use in organizing business for national defense in time of danger, served to renew interest in the subject here today.

The dispatch of the letters is the latest step in the plans of the president as outlined by him in his message to congress for marshalling the nation's manufactures and other business resources in event of an emergency.

New Evidence Points to Responsibility of Carranza Government.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Evidence collected at El Paso by state department agents indicates that Carranza authorities at Chihuahua assured C. R. Watson, head of the party of Americans killed near Santa Ysabel, that no escort was necessary. In that opinion, however, many of the Americans agreed, although they had suggested to the authorities the advisability of sending troops with the party.

The advices further stated that the Carranza governor of Chihuahua gave

COAL MINERS SEEK A WAGE CONFERENCE

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 17.—While delegates to the United Mine Workers' convention, which opens Tuesday, were gathering here today from different parts of the United States and Canada, officers of the union were endeavoring to reach an agreement with coal operators from the central competitive bituminous districts for a wage conference after the convention adjourns.

The central competitive districts are made up of the Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania soft coal fields. The mine owners in these districts formerly had a four state agreement with the union miners, but it was broken up several years ago, since which time each state concluded its own contract with the union employes. At a conference here today between the officers of the union and representatives of the operators efforts were made to bring about a new interstate agreement.

Enter Pleas of Guilty on Conspiracy Charges

New York, Jan. 17.—Edward Weber, Paul Schmidt, Max Jaeger and Richard Wohlberg, accused in a federal indictment of conspiracy to ship contraband rubber to the German government in violation of the customs laws, pleaded guilty today and were fined.

Pleas of guilty were entered in behalf of the Rubber and Guayule agency, of this city, which was also indicted. Mrs. Annie Dekkers, another defendant, was too ill to be in court and will plead later.

Judge Clayton imposed upon Jaeger a fine of $1,500, upon Weber and Schmidt fines of $750 each, upon Wohling $100 and upon the Guayule agency $50. Jaeger was the leading spirit in the conspiracy. He was commissioned, it was alleged by Albert Weber, a Berlin banker, who is in charge of the German government's rubber control, to come to this country and secure rubber for Germany. Mrs. Dekkers is a native of Holland with whom Jaeger became acquainted on his trip across the Atlantic. The plan was for her to make trips to Holland carrying rubber as personal baggage. Four and a half tons of crude rubber were procured through the Guayule agency, of which Richard Wohlberg is the head and on Nov. 27 Mrs. Dekker took passage on the Ryndam bound for Rotterdam. She had four trunks and eight packing cases filled with crude rubber. The customs authorities acting on information given by British agents held up Mrs. Dekker's baggage and she was not permitted to sail. Jaeger and Wohlberg are naturalized citizens and Schmidt has taken out his first papers.

E-2 EXPLOSION DUE TO NATURAL CAUSES

No Outside Agency Figured in Wrecking of U. S. Submarine.

New York, Jan. 17—Officials conducting the two inquiries—civil and naval—into the cause of the internal explosion Saturday on the submarine E-2 at the New York navy yard, which caused the death of four men and serious injuries to ten others, were convinced today, it was learned at the navy yard, that the accident was due entirely to natural causes. They were giving no consideration to the suggestion that outside agencies might have been responsible, it was said.

Three of the six enlisted men who were injured were still in a critical condition today at the naval hospital. The four civilians in a city hospital were sufficiently recovered to be questioned by Coroner Wagner. Three of them told the coroner they were suffering from colds last Saturday and were therefore unable to detect the presence of gas within the hull. The fourth man, however, said that he smelled only the usual odor of gas and oil previous to the explosion.

LOVE'S YOUNG DREAM IS SOON SHATTERED

Maud and Orval Dye Wear Out the Honeymoon in Five Weeks.

It was on October 23, last year, that Maud L. Omspacher permitted herself to be led to the altar by Orval Dye, and it was just five weeks later, wanting one day—towit, November 29—that the short-lived honeymoon completely waned and love's young dream was shattered. Orval refused to provide his bride a home or to furnish her with the necessaries of life, was jealous of her, swore at her, threatened to strike her and by his negligence compelled her to go out to toil to obtain money wherewith to keep herself. This is set forth and alleged in a complaint for divorce just filed in the superior court by Mrs. Dye through Attorneys Macbeth & Hogg. She says she fears her husband will do her harm and asks an order of court to restrain him.

Claim Docket Called Thursday.

Judge John W. Eggeman gave notice Monday that on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock the claim docket in the circuit court will be called. All cases of claims for which no appearance of counsel is made at that time will be dismissed and others will be set for hearing.

Notes of the Courts.

The superior court has granted a divorce to Frances Long from Lloyd Long, giving her the custody of a child four years old and ordered the defendant to pay $12 a month for the little one's support.

In the suit of George W. Richart vs. Arthur Brase, et al., on an automobile lien, the superior court has found for the plaintiff against the defendant Brase for $103.42 and ordered an automobile in the possession of Ray McAdams, receiver, to be sold.

In the case of the state ex-rel. Bertha M. Turner vs. Clarence Birely for contempt, the superior court discharged the defendant, who had been cited to appear and show cause Monday morning. Birely showed that there was cause. Mrs. Turner is Birely's former wife, having procured a divorce.

TWO AUTOS DAMAGED IN A SINGLE CRASH

An automobile belonging to Coony Bayer, of the Coony Bayer Cigar company, and an auto truck belonging to the B. McKinley Trucking company were both damaged—the Bayer car quite seriously—Monday when a street car struck the Bayer car on East Superior street and sent it crashing into the McKinley truck, which was parked on the north side of the street opposite the G. E. Bursley company building. The driver of the Bayer car was turning out for the McKinley truck when the street car dashed into it. No one was hurt.

Our Great Overcoat Sale

Is Drawing More People Every Day

Our "endless chain" is working. Every Overcoat we sell, sells us one or two more. John Smith buys an Isaac Carr Melton silk lined Overcoat for $28 that would cost him $50 in any other store in the state. He shows it to his neighbor and sells him one like it. He can't get away from the great value and so our sale grows. Advertising and good salesmen may catch a man once, but courteous treatment, efficient service, and Patterson-Fletcher Co. values, are the magnets that keep him coming, keep him sounding the praises of this store.

Our second floor is crowded with fine silk lined hand tailored Overcoats that we know are being sold at 25 to 50 per cent. less than you can find them in any other store. We have a magnificent assortment for you to choose from, probably twice as many as you can find in all other stores in Fort Wayne. "This is the store that does things." AGAIN NAMES LOUIS FOX TO PARK BOARD

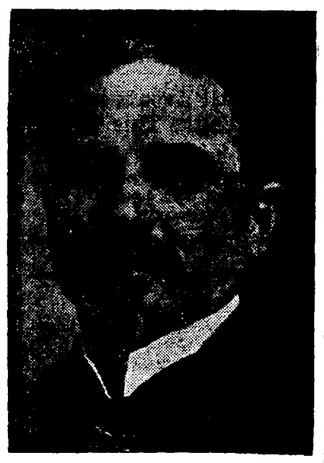
Mayor Hosey Reappoints Member Who Has Been in One Term.

Louis Fox on Monday received from Mayor William J. Hosey his commission as a member of the Fort Wayne board of park commissioners for a term of four years from January 1, 1916. Mr. Fox already has served four years, having been appointed to the board by Mayor Jesse Grice to succeed Joseph M. Singmaster, who declined a reappointment. Mr. Fox has made an excellent member of the board and it has been during his service that some of the larger and more far-reaching plans of the board for the creation of the park and driveway system have been developed. The law provides that a member of the park board shall be appointed each year before the first of February and that his term shall begin the first of the month previous.



LOUIS FOX,
Reappointed by Mayor Hosey to Membership on Fort Wayne Park Board.

CREMATORY MAN IS HERE.

J. F. Boulger, of the Morse Boulger Destructor company, of New York, came to Fort Wayne Monday to confer with Mayor W. J. Hosey and the board of works relative to the proposal submitted by his company for the construction of the new garbage crematory in Fort Wayne. Mr. Boulger went over the plans and explained them carefully to the city officials. This company has done an immense amount of crematory construction for the United States government at army posts, navy yards and other federal establishments. The board still has the plans under consideration, but is eliminating some of the proposals received two weeks ago, when nine concerns bid for the work.

MORE TRAFFIC DUMMIES.

The satisfactory results had from the "dummy traffic cop" placed some days ago at Harrison and Berry streets has moved Chief of Police Lenz to ask the board of safety to procure similar devices for the intersections of Harrison and Wayne streets and Harrison and Baker streets.

The clinics will continue for two days, in which some of the leading surgeons of the country will take part. That Dr. Macbeth should be selected as one of the surgeons to take part in the dedication of the new hospital is no small honor.

BUSINESS OF THAWING PIPES.

While endeavoring to thaw out some frozen water pipes in the basement of the residence of Mrs. Fay Ramsey, 918 Monroe street, the woodwork in the house was set on fire. The loss amounted to $25. The department answered the call at 10:57 o'clock Monday morning.

A street railway in a hilly section of Rome wets its rails with running water.

fire was at its heighth just about the time the first street cars are taken out of the Holman street barns. Hose was stretched across Calhoun street from the hydrant at Holman and Calhoun streets to the burning building, which is located on the east side of Calhoun street, holding up most of the cars until after 6 o'clock. It was not until late in the morning that the cars on any of the lines throughout the city were able to resume regular schedule.

Since the cold weather there has been a very noticeable decrease in the number of jitney busses and there were very few on the job early Monday morning. Those who are compelled to report for work at 7 o'clock had no other alternative but to walk and consequently there were large numbers who were late.

Conducted Place Four Months.

Lebamoff brothers have owned the restaurant at 1323 South Calhoun street for the past four months. However, the room has been occupied by a restaurant almost since the building was erected. Lebamoff brothers also conduct a general store at 1430 Hanna street. When asked Monday morning what he thought caused the blaze one of the brothers replied: "I don't know anything about it." The origin is very much a mystery, which Assistant Chief Jasper was unable to solve. The fire had too much of a start when first discovered for the patrolman to determine whether it originated in the rear or the front of the room.

Many Hardships Experienced.

The outstanding feature of the fire was the hardships experienced by the firemen. Those handling the hose probably suffered the most from the extreme cold. At the time the firemen were fighting the flames the government thermometer stood eight below zero, the coldest morning that has been experienced in this section this winter, and the first time the mercury has gone below the zero mark.

Mrs. W. S. Morris, who owns the building in which the fire occurred, did not know that her property had been damaged until told by a Sentinel reporter, who was seeking information.

Left Gas Burning.

When the night man closed the restaurant Sunday night he is said to have left the fire burning in one of the burners of the stove under a pan of grease. The disastrous fire may be attributed to this, as no other cause can be assigned. A thorough investigation is being made by the fire chief.

NO ESCORT WAS NEEDED

Watson a personal passport and that the Carranza immigration authorities in Juarez gave a general passport for the whole Watson party. These developments are taken to point to responsibility of the Carranza government for not adequately protecting the Americans.

State department officials indicated, however, that thed did not consider the advices being fully sufficient to determine the responsibility of the Carrent and further investigation will be made.

The Official Advices.

The state department gave out this paraphrase of its official advices from El Paso: Holmes, the only survivor of the massacre, has no knowledge as to whether Watson and his companions requested a military escort or guard for their trip from Chihuahua to Cusihuirachic. He states that if they did so, the authorities declined to furnish an escort or guard. Holmes says all the members of the party felt safe in making the trips.

"It is reported by a person connected with one of the companies operating in Chihuahua that on the day the Americans started for the works he had a conversation with Watson and asked him if a Mexican escort was to accompany him and his party. Watson replied that such an escort would not accompany them as he had talked with the authorities and they told him it was not necessary.

pital at once. His death had been expected since Saturday evening.

Mr. Merrill was born in Lexington, Ill., and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Merrill. He attended the Illinois Wesleyan college and at the age of 24 years entered the newspaper work in Chicago, accepting a position as a reporter on the Tribune. From there he went to Toledo, where he became manager of the Toledo Commercial, and a few years later entered the theatrical business. For several years he was manager of the Burts-Lyceum and Casino theaters in Toledo, but in 1903 went to Pittsburg, where he became manager of the Alvin theater.

In 1911 Mr. Merrill came to Fort Wayne and purchased the Fort Wayne Bill Posting company in which business he was engaged until his death. He was a member of the F. & A. M. and the B. P. O. E. lodges and of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Besides his aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Merrill, of Lexington, Ill., and his grief-stricken wife, who is critically ill at the family home from the shock, he is survived by four sons—Thomas H., Walter B., Colton A. and William B. Merrill, jr., all of Fort Wayne. A son, Norman P. Merrill, preceded him in death last May.

Turk Army Is Given Second Defeat Within Few Days.

London, Jan. 17.—Announcement was made in the house of commons today that the Turkish forces in Mesopotamia have fallen back to within six miles of Kut-el-Amara.

The announcement was made by J. Austen Chamberlain, secretary for India, who said the Turks had retreated as the result of another British victory. The Turkish positions at Waddi, he said, were carried on Saturday by the British.

This is the second defeat for the Turks in Mesopotamia the last few days, according to British reports. It was announced in London that the Turks had been beaten at Orah on the Tigris, 25 miles below Kut-el-Amara, and were in retreat.

The attack is being made by the army of Gen. Aylmer, which is advancing in an attempt to form a junction with the original British expedition, under Gen. Townshend, which is now at Kut-el-Amara.

Extinguished the Blazes.

While the son ministered to his injured mother, who was later removed to the Lutheran hospital, Mr. Leuscher was busily engaged in extinguishing the small fires in the kitchen and in turning off the water and gas connections. However, before he was able to get the water pressure shut off the cellar was flooded. The stove was blown to bits. Monday morning Mr. Leuscher found a fragment of the stove in the diningroom lying on the window casing.

With the report from the hospital that his wife will get better and that there is a chance for the recovery of her eyesight, Mr. Leuscher feels that the outcome of the accident has been very lucky. That no one was more seriously injured by flying pieces of iron seem miraculous to him.

A physician was immediately summoned and Mrs. Leuscher was rushed to the Lutheran hospital where her injuries were attended. She was resting much easier late Monday afternoon.

Going--Going--At These Prices Everything Will Soon Be Gone!

Out of the Ruts

This store is not content to follow in the footsteps of others. It believes it should open up new paths and cut away the underbrush from the old ones. Therefore it is constantly "blazing the way" to a better store service.

The longer one stays in a rut, the harder it is to get out, and we know and you know that the "easy way" to do things is to travel in that self-same rut right straight along. By developing our resources through new paths of endeavor we make the store more truly helpful. So, despite the temptation to stay in the "same old rut" we are ever blazing new paths here.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Psalm 138:1-8.

1 I will praise thee with my whole heart: before the gods will I sing praise unto thee.

2 I will worship toward thy holy temple, and praise thy name for thy loving kindness and for thy truth: for thou has magnified thy word above all thy name.

3 In the day when I cried thou answered me, and strengthenedst me with strength in my soul.

4 All the kings of the earth shall praise thee, O Lord, when they hear the words of thy mouth.

5 Yea, they shall sing in the ways of the Lord: for great is the glory of the Lord.

6 Though the Lord be high, yet hath he respect unto the lowly: but the proud he knoweth afar off.

7 Though I walk in the midst of trouble, thou wilt revive me; thou shalt stretch forth thine hand against the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall save me.

8 The Lord will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O Lord, endureth for ever: forsake not the works of thine own hands.

Judge Eichhorn on Court Reforms.

Doubtless there are very few men occupying the bench in Indiana courts who do not have brought to their attention daily the pressing need for court reforms. Bound rigidly in procedure by iron-clad forms and regulations and practices handed down unchanged through more than half a century, which take no account of new conditions, advance in method or thought, and forced to adhere to a set and fixed program that has long since become antiquated and out of date, these presiding judges chafe helplessly against a system which they fully realize is not only inadequate but which robs the courts of many functions which it might perform in serving the interests of justice and in the expeditious handling of the business that comes before them.

None either is so well qualified to speak on this matter as is the judge whose experience has brought him day after day face to face with its delinquencies. For that reason an address delivered before the Indianapolis Saturday Lunch club by Judge W. H. Eichhorn, of Bluffton, is entitled to particular consideration. Judge Eichhorn ...ued forcefully and definitely for some very definite reforms in ju...l procedure in Indiana, and a report of his address says that ...any of the reforms advocated were of a fundamental nature such ...increasing the number of judges of the supreme court, abolishing ...e appellate court, districting counties so as to allow more than one ...ircuit court in the same county, reforming the jury system by abol...shing unanimity of verdict and by annulling the provision that ju...rors in criminal cases should be the judges of the law, fixing qualifications for lawyers, changing tenure and method of selecting of judges, etc."

Having cited the delays, the technicalities and the inadequacies of the present court system, Judge Eichhorn offered as the very best, if not the only remedy, a new constitution through a non-partisan convention, for the reason that the changes needed are largely of a constitutional character and can be secured only through complete constitutional revision. Important and desirable as the suggested changes are, they still constitute but a fraction of the sum total of excellent reasons why Indiana should have a constitution suited to the needs of 1916 rather than those of the days of the 50's.

In a decision by Judge Jacob F. Denney, at Portland, the Indiana state fire marshal law has been held constitutional insofar as it involves the power given the state official to order the wrecking of dilapidated buildings which are considered fire menaces, and while the case may be carried to the higher court, the Portland decision constitutes no small victory for the fire marshal. It is said, also, that the particular point involved has never yet been decided by a higher court, but it is so vital to the effectiveness of any fire marshal law whatever that if anybody is disposed to attack it there public interest dictates action without delay. The fire marshal either has or hasn't authority to order the removal of buildings which he believes jeopardize surroundings because of their liability to fire. Until the law is held unconstitutional, at least, he will continue to enforce his mandates in this direction.

General Carranza's order that the Mexican bandits who slaughtered American mining men be promptly executed "without formality" is all well and good, but it's going to be necessary to first catch your bandits. The offer of a good, stiff reward for the murderers, dead or alive, would doubtless prove more effective as an inspiration in hunting them down than all the other proclamations the first chief can issue. He can add to the impressiveness of his promises of satisfaction to the United States by putting upon the heads of the guilty men a price that will be more effective than patriotism just now in that war-torn land.

Petitions on file with the board of public works in which property-owners ask for the paving of forty-five streets in Fort Wayne this year, make it apparent that there is to be no lull in improvement of this character. It is much to be hoped the city will find itself in financial position to care for its share of the work, since property-owners are anxious to assume the heavier portion of the burden. Fort Wayne already has a reputation as a finely-paved city. It is gratifying to know that it is to have no halt in the march forward—and street paving constitutes no unimportant item in the general scheme of progress.

For the additional reason that it would provide a reserve supply of trained aviators in connection with the preparedness program, Dr. Alexander Graham Bell is urging the creation of aerial mail routes, but it is to be regretted that in his suggestions he has somehow overlooked the Fort Wayne-Indianapolis aerial mail route, which was among the very first to be advocted, but which somehow dropped out of sight after it had made a most promising stir while it did claim public attention.

In an effort to halt the inroads into the New strength which it is perfectly clear Mr. Watson has made in his recent drive through the Twelfth district, the New following is bringing Hon. Charles A. Bookwalter to Fort Wayne to tell republicans why Capt. New should be nominated for United States senator. It is beginning to be apparent that trench fighting will be the next resort in this crool, crool warfare.

PROBLEM OF RECREATION.

(New York Press.)

Of all phases of modern city life the problem of recreation lies in a field which has been least explored. When an investigator figures that in a city of fairly good size each individual has about five hours in which he neither sleeps nor works, and that in that time each person spends for recreation at the rate of 2 cents an hour on the average for the five hours, the calculation is necessarily largely guesswork.

But taking the figures to be as nearly accurate as can be reached and applying them to New York city they produce the result that today, tomorrow and every day the population of this town, not counting the visitors, is going to spend half a million dollars for recreation.

The civic expert who made the computation proves one point, even if the accuracy of his figures be assailed, and that point is that there is a profound economic effect from this five hours of spare time you and your neighbor have in a day.

Couple with this the recent statement of Governor Brumbaugh, of Pennsylvania, that most crimes are committed, and that the police is largely made necessary by the activities of a city's population during these five hours, and you add another economic problem to that of the other expenditure.

In other words, you not only pay a certain amount daily for amusement, but you also must pay, in supporting asylums, hospitals and jails, for the unwise use to which some of your fellow-men have put their leisure time.

Many cities have reached the point where the necessity for playgrounds and parks for children is recognized. Few have yet appreciated the fact that the grownup often needs an opportunity for the right sort of amusement or he will choose the wrong sort and the community will have to pay the piper.

All this is not a question of reform or "uplift." The question of proper recreation in crowded centers of population is the hardest kind of business problem in cold dollars and cents.

RECALLS AQUEDUCT DAYS.

Carthage, Mo., Jan. 12.—To the Editor of The Sentinel:—I was very much interested in your story of the Old Aqueduct club and the old aqueduct days. My father helped build the acqueduct and lived with Major Lewis. I do miss the name of Sam L——. My father entered eighty acres of land on the Six Mile creek near New Haven, soon after coming to Fort Wayne where I was born in 1844. Father improved and sold this farm to a Mr. Good, who was a saddler in Fort Wayne, in 1847. He then moved to an 80-acre place adjoining that of Samuel Hanna, first president of the Pittsburg road. This farm lay on the south side of Pontiac street and included Weisser park on the extreme south. The aqueduct was too far over for me as you see—we were on Hanna street—but I sure had my share of the canal, in swimming, in skating and the old game of "Shinny-on-your-own-side."

I recall several of the names of members of the club as school-fellows at the Fort Wayne Academy—Irving's school—in the middle of the fifties, especially the name of the man who played the piano solo at the reunion, Mr. McCulloch. Father came to Fort Wayne the year The Sentinel was established—1833—and was always a subscriber to both it and the Times as far back as I can remember until we moved in 1858 and rambled a great deal. We came to Missouri where at 17 years of age I enlisted, serving in the Sixth Missouri M. S. M. cavalry. Yours respectfully.

Mothers should give a whole Cascaret to cross, bilious, sick, feverish children any time. They are harmless and never gripe or sicken.—Advertisement.

HOT WATER THE BEST LIVER AND BOWEL MEDICINE

Says glass of hot water before Breakfast washes poisons from System.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.—Advertisement.

FAVOR MILITARY TRAINING.

Prominent Alumni of Franklin College Wish It Established There.

Franklin, Ind., Jan. 17.—The question of re-establishing military training at Franklin college, after a lapse of nearly twenty-five years, is receiving consideration as a result of the preparedness campaign. No action on the proposed movement has been taken thus far by the college's board of directors, but many prominent alumni of the institution are advocating it strongly. Dr. E. A. Hanley, president of the college, has issued the following statement:

"While I am not prepared strenuously to advocate required military training in our colleges and universities, I see no great evil which would follow from this requirement. On the other hand, I believe much good would ensue. It is probable that military training would bring better all-around development to our young men than is now obtained. If war should come, those who have enjoyed the greatest benefits from the country should lead in its defense. While if war does not come and if armies are to be converted into a police force, none could discharge this responsibility more acceptably than college men. I do not think that military training in college would have any tendency to incite war."

A majority of the members of the faculty are said to be in sympathy with the movement.

DR. GEISEL WILL BE HERE THIS WEEK

Famous Woman Lecturer to Deliver Series of Lectures.

Much interest is being manifested in the series of lectures to be given in Fort Wayne, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday by Dr. Carolyn Geisel, under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher clubs of the city.

The lectures will be given in the largest school auditoriums in the city. The patrons of the north side schools, including the Adams, Bloomingdale, Clay, Franklin, Harmar, Jefferson, Lakeside, McCulloch, Nebraska, Rudisill and Washington grade schools will no doubt find it most convenient to attend the lectures at the high school Thursday night and at the Bloomingdale school Friday afternoon, though they are asked to attend the southside lectures if they wish.

The patrons of the south side schools, including the Hamilton, Hanna, Hoagland, Miner, South Wayne and James H. Smart schools, will find it convenient to attend the lectures Wednesday night at the James H. Smart school and Thursday afternoon at the Hanna school, though many from these districts may wish to attend the north side meetings, too.

High school patrons will attend the Friday evening meeting at the high school. Others who wish may attend these meetings also.

People who never heard Dr. Geisel cannot realize what an opportunity has been brought to them. Dr. Geisel has been brought here at great expense, but the Parent-Teacher clubs of the city will pay the bill, and they are giving the public free lectures. It shows a very magnanimous and laudable spirit upon the part of the clubs. Fort Wayne people should rise to the occasion, and let nothing keep them away from these lectures, and thus show Dr. Geisel and the clubs their appreciation in addition to gaining much of practical value and an inspiration for themselves.

The program for the week follows:

Wednesday evening, Jan. 19, 8:00 o'clock—James H. Smart school, corner E. Pontiac and Smith streets.

Thursday afternoon, Jan. 20, 3:00 o'clock—Hanna school, corner S. Lafayette and Williams streets.

Thursday evening, Jan. 20, 8:00 o'clock—High school auditorium, corner E. Lewis and Barr streets.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

MONTPELIER CONCERN IN COURT.

Receiver Appointed for Jackson Shovel and Tool Works.

Hartford City, Ind., Jan. 17.—Charles H. Morse, of Montpelier, formerly of this city, was appointed receiver of the Jackson Shovel & Tool works, of Montpelier, late Friday evening, when a special session of court was held in the office of County Clerk S. J. Farrell. Morse was placed under a personal bond of $5,000 to guarantee the correct use of the receivership. The complaint, which was filed by the H. Channon Manufacturing company, of Chicago, asks for judgment on first mortgages held by the plaintiff and the sale of the properties of the company unless these judgments are paid. In an attached affidavit, Willis Melville, Chicago attorney, who appeared for the plaintiff in the case, alleged that the assets of the defendant company were being wasted and petitioned for the immediate appointment of a receiver. In the complaint it is also set out that the Jackson Shovel & Tool works was established December 1, 1904. Bonds in the amount of $20,000 were given the First Trust & Savings company of Chicago, the complaint continues, which company later sold $15,000 worth of these bonds to the H. Channon company, who also received a first mortgage on the plant of the Jackson Shovel & Tool works at that time.

ENLARGING THE CEMETERY.

Kendallville, Ind., Jan. 17.—The Lake View Cemetery association has just closed an important deal in the purchase of the hundred-acre farm just across the highway on the west and opposite the cemetery, for a consideration of $15,000. In view of the fact that the association has but 159 vacant lots in the present cemetery, and with the rate the city is growing, the members deemed it advisable to purchase additional territory. The purchase of the farm will hence settle for an indefinite period into the future where Kendallville and vicinity will bury its dead. It is the plan of the association to plot off a new cemetery, by planting trees and laying out lots.

SAVE LITTLE SKATERS LIFE.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 17.—Helen Baumgartner, 12, a daughter of Homer Baumgartner, broke through the thin ice that had formed over the old Starr quarry in the Wabash river while coasting Saturday afternoon and was saved from drowning only by the prompt action of Dr. Charles Landfair, who was attracted to the scene by screams of the girl and two companions of her own age.

BORN IN COUNTY 70 YEARS AGO.

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 17.—George W. Brown, one of the oldest pioneers of Adams county, died here of tuberculosis, after an illness of a year. He was born in this county April 14, 1846, and was a shoemaker by trade. He is survived by two children and several brothers and sisters.

BLUFFTON GIRL A BRIDE.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 17.—The marriage of Miss Dacie Margaret Scott, daughter of Sylvanus Scott, and Luther Edward Lacey, son of Jerome Lacey, took place this afternoon at the parsonage of the First M. E. church, the Rev. W. T. Arnold officiating. The couple live near Petroleum.

WOMAN OF BLUFFTON DIES.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 17.—Mrs. John North, 59, died Saturday at 2:05 o'clock at her home in this city, after a prolonged illness from Bright's disease. Surviving are her husband and three children.

URGES AERO MAIL ROUTES.

Would Provide Trained Aviators for War, Says Mr. Bell.

New York, Jan. 17.—Dr. Alexander Graham Bell has appealed to the Aero Club of America to urge upon congress the establishment of aerial mail routes wherever possible throughout the United States. He argues that this step would bring into daily use large numbers of aeroplanes which would form a valuable reserve of trained aviators in case of war.

At the next meeting the governors of the aero club will consider plans for establishing the first forty-three aeroplane mail routes suggested by the postoffice department. Some of the routes proposed where an aeroplane could carry mail in less time than is required by other methods are from Albany to Lake Placid, from Sag Harbor to New London and from Key West to Havana.

POLICE SALARIES RAISED.

City Controller, of Anderson, However, Refuses to Pay Increases.

Anderson, Ind., Jan. 17.—W. C. Richter, city controller, has refused to allow an increase in salaries to John W. Mountain, chief of police; W. H. Dunn, city court bailiff, and E. B. Northcutt, police lieutenant. Until Dunn submitted the pay roll only a few persons knew that the police board had passed resolutions to increase the salary of Mountain from $105 to $125 a month. The same resolution granted an increase of $10 to Dunn and $5 to Northcutt.

The increased salary of Mountain, the controller says, would exceed the annual limit for a police chief in a city of the third class. He also asserts there is no appropriation for increase of salaries. The councilmen opposed any change in the salaries of the three officers. No explanation was made as to why the increases were proposed by the police board.

MAY BE LOVE FEAST; POSSIBLY MASSACRE

Gilson Gardner Discusses Some Possibilities at Chicago.

By Gilson Gardner.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Roosevelt has not been eliminated as a candidate by the olive branch proceedings at Chicago. I have just returned from Chicago where I witnessed the proceedings of the progressive party national committee, and I feel I can say that the committee's statement does not mean that.

Indeed, anyone reading it carefully will see it means exactly the reverse. This statement insists that a platform be adopted with the main emphasis on Americanism and national defense. It also insists that a candidate be chosen who will be known by his character and his record as fitted to carry out this platform. The Standpat republicans immediately reply suggesting Burton and McCall. Neither of these would do. They would not satisfy the progressive group which met in Chicago and they would not satisfy the progressive convention which will meet there June 7. This statement is made with entire confidence in its absolute accuracy and authority. I talked to practically every committeeman in Chicago and to all the members who had a part in framing the committee statement, and I know what they intended to express and what they intended not to express.

Efforts in Washington and New York to make it appear that the progressives have abandoned the idea that Roosevelt may be nominated by the republicans do not take account of the real intentions of the progressive committee which met in Chicago. They fail to note the following facts:

(1) That a convention is to be held in Chicago by the progressive party with 1,000 delegates and many progressives present who will not be delegates;

(2) That this convention will be held regardless of any program made by the regular republican party for its convention or nominee;

(3) That there will be two conventions held which will be either harmonious, or the opposite, according as the republicans adopt a platform and name a candidate acceptable to the progressives.

Should the republicans names a Burton or a McCall, the progressives will go on and name Roosevelt on a platform as outlined by the committee in Chicago. Should the republicans name Roosevelt, Cummins or Hughes, the progressives would undoubtedly endorse, and the whole affair would be a love feast. The issue is perfectly clearcut and plain. There need be no room for misunderstanding. The progressives have not "gone back." There is to be no party "amalgamation." The two parties are to be maintained in their separate entity—national, state and county, and even city. The only question is whether the two parties will name the same candidate for president and adopt the same national platform.

In short, the regular republicans, in noting the extension of the olive branch, must not overlook the fact that in the other hand is a sawed-off shotgun.

It may be a love feast or it may be a massacre.

Society

A brilliant event in society circles was the auction party given at the Commercial club this afternoon by Mrs. William H. Dreier and her daughters, Mrs. Edward Gilmartin and Misses Frances and Alma Dreier. The ladies received in the salon where a tall basket of carnations of vivid color mingled with narcissus made a welcome note of beauty. Auction was played in the ballroom where many luxurious made the room homelike and comfortable while curtained alcoves in green walls hung in southern smilax and many palms between which glimmered now and then a bright light of an electric stove, placed temporarily to counteract the unusual severity of the weather, combined to make for beauty and comfort. Tables to the number of fifty were arranged for the game and a number of guests arrived for the supper who did not take part in the card playing. Mrs. C. A. Horton and Mrs. May S. Skinner played during the supper hour. Assisting in tallying the games were Mrs. H. J. Bowerfind, Mrs. Frank Bohn, Mrs. C. M. Niezer, Miss Marcelline Gerow, Miss Ruth Evans and Miss Alice Knight. Touches of pink appeared in the appointments of the supper and elegance characterized the entire affair. Visiting guests included Miss Edna Heaton, of Indianapolis; Miss Beuret, of Joliet, Ill., and Miss Desdelora Stevens, of Owosso, Mich.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell in "Pygmalion" Wednesday.

"Pygmalion," in which Mrs. Patrick Campbell will appear in this city, has been given in Germany, in Austria, in Denmark and in Russia; but, though, as is generally known, the play was performed in English, it was for Mrs. Campbell that the play was written, and in Bernard Shaw's opinion it is Mrs. Campbell alone who can do it justice.

"How did Mr. Shaw come to see in you whom we know best as Paula Tanqueray, or as Magda, the ideal impersonator of Eliza Doolittle, the cockney flower girl?" Mrs. Campbell was recently asked.

"I think it must have been his idea of a joke," was Mrs. Campbell's reply. "He wanted to make fun of a tragic actress, but I am not sure that he has had the last laugh, for though the tragic actress found the part very hard work—if very interesting work—the public has managed to put up with her performance several hundreds of times. "The Newlyweds and Their Baby" at the Majestic Thursday.

Warmly endorsed by theater-goers all over the country, the latest bid for patronage is the successful musical play, or comedy with music, as perhaps better describes the attraction "The Newlyweds and Their Baby," announced to appear at the Majestic on Thursday matinee and night.

This company has had a very prosperous existence. It is said to be entirely new and novel in treatment, entirely free from the taint of vulgarity or suggestiveness. The characters of Mr. and Mrs. Newlywed and their wonderful offspring, Napoleon, are new to the stage, although well known to lovers of cartoon pictures.

Griffiths Mighty Spectacle Marks the Birth of a New Art.

Next Monday night will begin an engagement of one week at the Majestic theater of D. W. Griffith's epoch-making spectacle which has revolutionized the theater. In all of the large centers of population, and also in the smaller cities, "The Birth of a Nation" is pleasing vast multitudes of observers. It has been enjoyed by over five million people.

There are panoramic battle scenes of grandeur, thrilling night rides of the Ku Klux Klan, historical episodes like the surrender of Lee to Grant and the assassination of President Lincoln, the home-life of the south during and after the civil war and a double love story of surpassing interest and charm. The magnitude of the spectacle is almost beyond belief. Such theatrical productions as "Ben Hur" and "The Blue Bird" seem infinitesimal in comparison

The sale of seats will open at the box office of the theater Thursday morning and in the meantime mail orders accompanied by remittances will receive the most careful and prompt attention.

Edgar D. Evard, manager of the Consumers' Ice company, was called to Converse Monday morning on account of the illness of his mother, who is 78 years old.

AT KEITH PALACE

JUST FOR THE FUN OF IT.

New Palace Bill Constructed After Laugh Designs.

The New Palace bill for the first portion of the week is constructed with designs on the short ribs of the audiences, for it will have them aching before the show is thirty minutes old. It's all for the fun of it, as there isn't a really serious act on the entire program. They are all the same sort of hilarious comedy turns as Dan Sherman's famous "Jay Circus," with its irascible ringmaster, gullible hicks, collapsing bleachers and funny clown. Sherman's "sprinkler" still is getting the laughs, while the comedy elicited from the remarkable resemblance of the two rubes is howlingly funny. The act has been fitted with new drops, with the one depicting the outside of the circus tent an interesting flash.

Phil Roy and Roy Arthur's "Fun in a Dining Car" is an absurdity with plenty of snap to it. The clumsy attempts of the comedian to emulate the tricks of the straight man in juggling dishes results in fifteen minutes of fun and a general demolishment of everything in sight. The target shooting turn is not entirely new in the idea but it's new the way the old idea is worked out. The Melnotte Twins, a team of clever girls, are singing some character songs in a new way. Their interpretation of the song, "The Green River Route," with one of them stimulating an unrepentent drunk, and the Charlie Chaplin imitation are decidedly classy. Burnham and Irwin's song sketch at the piano is a means for introducing two clever artists to Fort Wayne. Miss Burnham at the piano is a clever comedienne, and evidences it best in her song about her too rapid acquirements of plumpness. Nip and Tuck, one of them a lean contortionist, open the show with a bunch of acrobatic absurdities.

AT THE TEMPLE.

Stock Players Appearing on Temple Vaudeville Bill.

George Ford and Mr. and Mrs. Morrell, of the Temple players, are on the Temple vaudeville bill for the first four days of this week in place of George Lovett and company, who failed to arrive on time for the opening of the show. A novelty new to this city is the boxing kangaroo, who goes three rounds with his sparring partner, and demonstrating that he can box. Will Fields has been seen here before but he returns this time with a new line of song and stories. Juggling Wilbur is a polished performer and his act rounds out a very entertaining little bill. Two performances every evening at 7:30 and 9 o'clock.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

HAS LOTS OF PUNCH.

"The Rack," at Orpheum, With Alice Brady, Possesses Startling Theme.

Alice Brady has a fine acting part in this photoplay, which has been directed by Monsieur Emile Chautard, the celebrated French producer, who was responsible for "The Boss" and other notable World film offerings.

Blanche Gordon, although married, is indiscreet in her dallyings with men other than her husband, and she is trapped in what looks like suspicious circumstances, at a disreputable roadhouse in the company of a profligate man about town. The latter is killed by a pistol shot and Blanche is arrested and tried for the murder. The district attorney subjects her to a racking torture (hence the title of the play) and Blanche is pronounced guilty, when the real murderer, an enemy of the dead man, comes forward and avows his guilt of the deed.

Miss Anna Lyons, the popular young soprano singer, has became a member of the Golden Gate Trio at this theater and will appear with them for the first time today.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

MICE AND MEN.

Margurite Clark Best as Peggy at Jefferson.

Without exception the Jefferson is showing the best picture of the season in "Mice and Men," featuring the dainty star, Margurite Clark as Peggy.

The versatility of Marguerite Clark is well established in the minds of the thousands of the diminutive star's admirers, but even her most ardent protagonists will be surprised and delighted at the remarkable work which she does in this play, tracing as it does the development of an uneducated foundling into a society butterfly—but not the brainless butterfly of the silly, simpering variety. She is a high-strung, delicate little soul whose charming naivete and deep sincerity win the love and admiration of all who behold her. It is one of the cleverest characterizations that Miss Clark has given the screen.

The last showings are today. Tomorrow only is offered "The Penitentes," featuring Orrin Johnson and Senna Owen. A romance of love and hate with New Mexican settings.

AT THE LYRIC.

"The Battle Cry of Peace" at Lyric a Wonderful Creation.

"The Battle Cry of Peace," a thrilling film production, showing what might happen to the United States if a foreign foe landed on our shores and urging preparedness against such a contingency, is the attraction at the Lyric theater five days this week. Already the play has been shown in the cities of New York, Chicago, Boston and Cleveland, where it has made a tremendous impression. A leading Boston newspaper had this comment to make on the play the morning after its initial appearance in the Hub city:

"The idea that power spells peace was driven home with a will. The first part of the film is without doubt one of the most dramatic production ever given in this city. It showed the destruction of New York city by a hostile fleet whose 15-inch guns toppled building after building without being in range of the United States shore batteries. Thousands of persons were pictured running madly about as the bombardment continued, both from the sea and air.

A portion of the United States fleet, much smaller than the invaders, was seen in combat off the coast. One of the finest pitctures ever shown was the sinking of the two battleships, which had been driven in close to shore by the foreign fleet. Then came the landing of troops of Emanon (noname backward,) and what they did to the inhabitants. Men were torn from their home and shot by machine guns in front of a wall a short distance away. The invaders were shown attacking women and girls, choking them when they resisted.

GIVES ESTIMATE OF CHRIST.

Warren K. Voorhis, of Kokomo, Speaks at First Presbyterian Church.

Attorney Warren K. Voorhis, of Kokomo, who spoke at the Lyon tabernacle a year ago, gave an interesting address at the First Presbyterian church, Sunday evening before a large audience. He spoke on the subject, "A Lawyer's Estimate of Christ." The meeting was held under the auspices of the Men's club of the church.

The speaker brought out forcibly the point that when a man thinks of the divinity of Christ he must recognize that it has today the same message for the men without an education that it has for the cultured.

ICE SKATING NOT POPULAR HERE? WHAT!

WELL-KNOWN GARDENER IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Edward R. Fox, Long a Familiar Figure on City Market.

Edward R. Fox, one of the best known gardeners of Allen county who brought his produce to the Fort Wayne market, died at 11:20 o'clock Sunday night at his home on the Sand Point road in Wayne township at the age of 50 years.

EDWARD R. FOX.

He had been in failing health for the past two years but only bedfast for two months.

The deceased was born and reared in Allen county and was educated in the parochial schools of St. Paul's Catholic church. He was the son of the late Valentine Fox. Twenty-four years ago he was united in marriage to Mary Reinig, who survives him. He also leaves the following children: Leo Fox, of Fort Wayne; Aloysius, Herman, Carl and Donald Fox, at home; one brother, Albert Fox, of Wayne township, and five sisters—Mrs. Frank Minnich, Mrs. Charles Gebhardt, Mrs. Henry Sorg, Mrs. Frank Ankenbruck and Mrs. John Schnurr. The deceased was a member of St. Paul's Catholic church and of the School society of the same congregation.

Funeral services Thursday morning at 7:15 o'clock at the residence and at 9 o'clock at St. Paul's Catholic church; interment at the Catholic cemetery.

LIEDTKE.

John J. Lietdke, aged 75 years, a well known druggist of Fort Wayne, died at 5 o'clock Sunday evening at his home, 507 State street. Death followed a brief illness due to pneumonia. Mr. Lietdke was born in Berlin, Germany, but had resided in Fort Wayne for many years. He had resided in this country forty-five years.

Three years after coming to this country he came to Fort Wayne and accepted employment with the Wagner drug store and later with the Volmer drug store. Still later he became identified with the Meyer Drug company and continued with the latter for twenty-one years. He retired from active work nearly twenty-five years ago. He celebrated his golden wedding anniversary with his wife last October.

Besides the widow he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Louis Sievers, and three grandchildren. The deceased was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

YOUSE.

Oliver M. Youse, a native of Allen county, died Sunday afternoon at Baxter Springs, Kan., his home, according to a telegram received by his brother-in-law, David C. Stout, clerk of Allen county. The message contained no particulars. Mr. Youse was born near Hoagland and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Christian Youse. He was an oil driller by trade, and went to the Kansas fields fifteen years ago. He is survived by his wife and four children; five brothers, John S. Youse, of Hoagland; William, Nelson and Charles W. Youse, all of Allen county, and Edward Youse, of Markle, and three sisters, Mrs. Reason Clayton, of Monroeville, and Mrs. A. N. Houk and Mrs. D. C. Stout, of Fort Wayne, also survive him.

WEBER.

Mrs. Anastasia Weber, one of the oldest residents of Fort Wayne, died Saturday evening at the home of her son, Frank Weber, 2522 Oliver street, at the age of 85 years. She was born in Germany but came to this country in 1872. She had resided in Noble county until four months ago, when she came to this city to make her home with her son.

Two children survive her, Frank Weber and Joseph Weber, of Battle Creek, Mich. There are also eleven grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

INDIANA LAW IS UPHELD.

Supreme Court Says Employers' Liability Act is Good.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Validity of the Indiana employers' liability was upheld today by the supreme court in approving a verdict of $12,000 recovered from the Vandalia railroad by Charles Stillwell, brakeman, for injuries.

WINTER MODES.

Little Hats, Wide Skirts and Lack of Fur Now Noted.

The little hat of midwinter is so stingily trimmed that the veil—the circular, sweeping veil has been called to the rescue. Even the young girls wear these face "curtains" that fall gracefully from the hat brim to the shoulder tip.

The scarlet velvet chapeau adds to the gaiety of the nation. It's a cap-like affair that sets high on the head and the only trimming is a "windfall" bow of scarlet velvet.

Skirts are spreading—also they are being tilted up above the shoe tops. When will Dame Fashion quit joking with us?

The smartest of the spring suits, so the medistes tell us, will be in checks, but not in the done-to-death black and white, nor shepherd plaid, but in shadow checks of blue and gray, green and brown and blue and similar combinations of color.

Fur is gradually giving way to braid mohair or novelty weaves and it will be a rare suit that will be without braid ornamentation.

In proportion to population among cities in the United States, Cleveland has the greatest number of telephones and New Orleans the fewest.

Peat is being used as fertilizer in greater quantities in the United States—$350,000 worth in 1914, against $170,000 worth in 1913.

Ready-Made Sheets and Pillow Cases

Less Than Cost of Sheetings.

Time was when almost every woman made her own sheets and pillow cases. 'Twas then economy to do so; now it's rank extravagance. Why? Because factories can buy material away under what you would pay, and cutting and sewing by machinery in huge lots reduces cost of production to the minimum.

But all brands are not good brands. If we have it, it's the best or what we deem the best. Our kind are torn, not cut, neatly and strongly hemmed, and now offered at less than the sheetings cost by the yard.

STEIL AND M'CARTHY REALLY GOING UP

Purchase of Former Central Leaguers Announced by Quinn.

Bobby Quinn, of the Columbus American association club, announces the purchase of two Central leaguers who tried out with him last season. McCarthy, first sacker for Terre Haute last year, and Mel (Toughy) Steil, diminutive Grand Rapids shortstop for several seasons, are the men.

Another announcement of interest to local men made yesterday was the sale of Bubbles Hargraves by the Cubs to the Kansas City club. Bubbles is a New Haven boy, and broke into the baseball game there, trying out with Fort Wayne, going to Terre Haute, and then climbing.

CLAIMS BENCH BOSS IS BEST.

Joe Tinker, Cub manager, will play only in emergencies next season because, he says, a man cannot be a successful manager and player at the same time.

"I found while manager at Cincinnati that two jobs are too much," says Tinker. "I missed plays because I was paying attention to my pitcher or to some other matter. I have seen Frank Chance forget to cover first base when he had his mind on something else, and Fred Clarke quit playing to be a better manager.

"The managers who don't play win the most pennants."

WHOLE CAMPAIGN FOR TWO BITS

High Finance Lacking in British Fight Game.

Ted Lewis, the English fighter, says one of the things that surprised him most when he came to the United States was the admission charged for bouts and the number of rounds a spectator is allowed to see for his money.

In England Lewis says you can see sixty-nine rounds and sometimes 100 rounds for an admission of 25 cents. A show nearly always consists of a main bout of twenty rounds, a semi-final of fifteen rounds, two bouts of ten rounds each and six bouts of four rounds each.

On some occasions a tournament of fifteen bouts, each lasting three rounds, is provided in addition to the regular card. And the whole show can be seen for 25 cents. In the United States the prices range from $1 up for a main bout of from six to twenty rounds, with a few short prelims.

Tournaments are popular in England, according to Lewis. They are held every week or so, and it is in the tournaments that the English stars get their starts.

Lewis started boxing in tournaments when he was 16 years of age. He weighed 98 pounds. As he won his way through tournaments he was given better bouts, and finally fought for and won featherweight championship of England and Europe.

Lewis has been busier than any boxer in the country during the past two months, and is making so much money he plans to bring his father, mother and three sisters to the states to live.

WHY NOT "BEAMER?"

The Chicago Tribune says "Frank Bleemer is taking over the Fort Wayne team."

The ever accurate South Bend Tribune announces that "Frank Biehmar" has secured the franchise.

A Grand Rapids paper tells the waiting world that it is "Frank Beemer" who is turning things over here.

Such is fame for Mr. Biemer!

The next regular meeting of the Allen County Agricultural society will be held in the assembly room of the court house one week from next Saturday, January 29.

INDOOR PRACTICE BECOMES A FAD AMONG GOLFERS.

PHOTOS SHOW START AND FINISH OF DRIVING STROKE AS PRACTIC ED INDOORS IN COLD MONTHS.

Ice, snow and wintry blasts do not keep real golf fiends from improving their game.

The stunt of practicing indoors has become quite a fad and reached the point where thousands who showed lack of form or had trouble hitting the ball last season will look like professionals at the tee next season.

The big idea of indoor practice is to get a proper stance, form in swinging the driver and ability to hit the ball. The practice is of special benefit to women who seem to have more trouble than men in hitting the pill.

Two kinds of balls are made by the Spalding concern to make indoor practice like the real thing. One is made of wood, and the other of rubber, fastened to a small tee. The balls are so soft they will not do damage even if driven against a window pane.

Anyone with room enough to swing a club can secure valuable practice in the winter and have the edge on the golfer who chucks the clubs in a closet and waits until he can get onto the links before securing practice.

ACTIVE TURNERS TO MEET NEW HAVEN

The Turners meet the New Haven Sigma Kappa team here Tuesday night. Both teams are working hard for the game and both have all the confidence in the world. The Sigma Kappa crowd has one of the old Terre Haute stars under its wing, and the rivalry between the teams is rather acute. So acute, one might say, that meat axes would prove themselves worthy implements of settlement. So it will be a corking good game.

LYCEUMS MEET WINONA.

The St. Patrick's Lyceums meet the Winona five, another bunch of old rivals, at the Lyceum gym next Friday night. The Winona boys have been working together well and have had the benefit of excellent coaching. The game will be a peppery one.

ALLEGES "CURE IS A FAKE."

Purdue Agent Causes Arrest of Doctor Who Sold Hog Remedy.

Washington, Ind., Jan. 17.—Following an investigation made by D. B. Clark, of the veterinary department of Purdue university, Dr. W. F. Larimer, of Lyons, was arrested here charged with selling an alleged fake hog cholera cure called "appe tona." Mr. Clark says Dr. Larimer has established agencies at Elnora, Terre Haute, Bloomfield and Switz City for the distribution of his alleged cure. Mr. Clark further alleges that the cure has never passed the Purdue university test for hog cholera remedies, and one this ground the affidavit was filed.

According to the law a permit is required from Purdue university before hog cholera preventives or remedies can be legally sold in the state. Dr. Larimer's medicine has been sold to many farmers of Daviess and Greene counties, it is alleged.

Henry W. Roesener was found not guilty of harboring an untaxed dog by Justice of the Peace C. W. Rayhouser Saturday.

HOCKEY PUTS IN FIRST APPEARANCE HERE IN SEVERAL YEARS--GAME TUESDAY NIGHT

Hockey loomed over the horizon of the sport world here today when two teams, one composed of Bloomingdale boys and the other of young fellows from another part of town, engaged a space on the ice at the Malloy rink for tomorrow night. The ice surface is so large that a couple of games could be played and still leave plenty of safety zone for skaters. Hockey is bound to come back this winter, and surely ought to be almost if not wholly as popular as football.

A number of real teams are being organized, and a city championship tourney wouldn't be a bad idea later in the winter. Fort Wayne ought to be able to accommodate a dozen or more teams, and if the game once started there would surely be enough public interest to make it pay.

Three coast clubs have applied for admission to the Western association. They are the Beresford Country club, of San Mateo, Cal., the San Jose, Cal., Country club and Marin Golf club of San Rafael, Cal.

OPPOSES BASKETBALL.

New Owner of Boston Braves Fears Injury to Players.

Boston, Jan. 17—Percy Haughton, president of the Boston Nationals, already has exercised his authority in disciplining players. Announcing himself as opposed to basketball playing by any members of the Braves because of the possibility of injury, he wrote personally to Walter Maranville cautioning him against taking part in indoor games. Maranville had stated his intention of joining a team which would include Janvyn of the Red Sox, Connelly of the Washingtons, Nunamaker of the New York Americans, and Reigh of the Providence Interhationals.

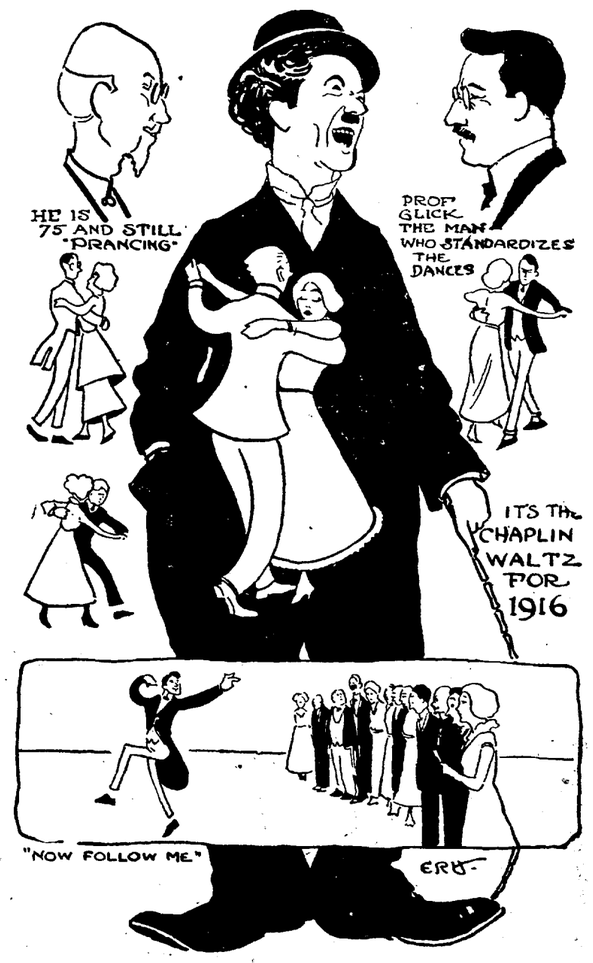
CHARLEY CHAPLAIN WALTZ NEWEST 1916 NOVELTY—HOW TO DANCE IT.



HE IS 75 AND STILL "PRANCING"
PROF GLICK THE MAN WHO STANDARDIZES THE DANCES
ITS THE CHAPLIN WALTZ FOR 1916
"NOW FOLLOW ME"
ERK-

Well, it's come—the Charley Chaplin waltz!

Chaplin skirts, canes, candy and a hundred other things will be forgotten for the new dance, the one novelty to be seen in ballrooms in 1916.

It's a combination of what is called the "walk waltz" and it's not a bit vulgar. If it was the American National Association Masters of Dancing would not have approved it at their recent meetings in New York and Cleveland.

You'll be asked to dance it so you'd better prepare to learn. Here is the official description:

Part 1—Walk forward beginning with left foot 2 measures; balance forward and back, 2 measures; waltz forward, 2 measures; make quarter turn and step, draw twice (or two over Sal movements) 2 measures, then repeat all.

Part 2—Walk 4 steps forward in line of direction, 4 measures; waltz to left, 4 measures; walk two steps forward, make half turn to right and walk two steps back, 4 measures; waltz to right, 4 measures.

"Pa" Rawlins of Kendall, Ga., 75 years old and still prancing—was the first to give an exhibition of the Chaplin waltz when the dancing masters met in Cleveland.

When praised for his grace the old man replied:

"That's easy—just put your feet down soft like as if you were stepping on eggs."

Ease of motion instead of the slam, bun tango stuff will be the proper thing in ballrooms this year.

They've standardized the fox trot and the one-step and taken all the jerks and dips out of them. Prof. George W. Glick, of Cleveland, is the man who has made them safe, sane and simple.

If you can dance the 1916 standardized fox trot, you needn't worry about the others. Try it!

First, 8 slow walking steps, then 2 fast and 1 slow, then 2 two-steps turning and 2 more in line of direction, and the fourth figure is the "twinkle" —4 slow steps, balance forward and back, twinkle on last four steps.

Repeat all as long as your partner can stand up.

H. M. MASON ANSWERS FINAL TRUMPET CALL

Henry M. Mason, father of Dr. M. A. Mason, of Fort Wayne, and a veteran of the civil war, responded to the call of the trumpet of death Sunday afternoon at his home in New Haven. Death came at the advanced age of 82 years, 1 month and 29 days, and followed an illness of over a year, although he had been bedfast only the past ten weeks.

He came to Allen county in 1860 and located near Monroeville, where he engaged in the custom saw mill business with Thomas Meade. In 1864 he enlisted in the 91st Indiana infantry and was later transferred to the 124th. He remained in the service of his country until peace was declared and the armies disbanded. During his enlistment he was assigned to the commissary department. In 1869 he moved to New Haven and relocated his saw mill.

Surviving besides the wife he leaves two sons, Dr. M. A. Mason, of Fort Wayne, and Dr. T. J. Mason, of Twin Bridges, Mont.

EXPLOSION CAUSE IS NOT YET DETERMINED

Edison Batteries Did Not Cause Disaster on the Submarine E-2.

New York, Jan. 17.—The cause of the explosion in the hull of the submarine E-2 by which four men were killed and ten injured was still undetermined today. A board of investigation appointed by Admiral Usher continued its inquiry and was assisted by Rear Admiral Grant, who was ordered here from Philadelphia. It is expected this board will complete its inquiry today and will forward its findings to the navy department without making them public.

Three of the men injured by the explosion are in a serious condition in Brooklyn hospitals. They are Louis C. Miles, chief electrician; John Halsey, gunners' mate, and Guy H. Clark, jr., machinists' mate.

The Edison storage battery with which the E-2 was equipped was absolved from blame in a statement issued last night by Miller Reese Hutchison, chief engineer for Thomas A. Edison and a member of the naval advisory board. Mr. Hutchison said he had formed a tentative opinion as to the cause of the disaster after making an investigation and that he saw no reason to recommend any changes in the Edison battery. He declared that the battery in the E-2 was not damaged.

Mrs. Sue H. Carmony, 1016 College street, received word Sunday evening that her nicce, Mary Elizabeth Reed, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee H. Constantinople, Jan. 16.—An official statement given out tonight declares that the Turks have repulsed fresh attacks in the renewed Russian offensive on the Caucasus front.

An official statement issued by the Turkish war office says:

The value of the booty captured by the Turkish forces now amounts to at least $2,000,000."

Suffering from serious injuries sustained in the jitney and street car smashup on Huffman street on Christmas eve, Mrs. F. E. Blazer, one of the passengers in the automobile, died at 6 o'clock Sunday morning at St. Joseph's hospital. She suffered a fracture of the skull and internal injuries in the accident on Huffman street and the best medical attention and an operation proved to be of no avail.

The accident occurred about 5 o'clock on the evening of December 24 when a Huffman street car crashed into the rear of the jitney bus at Sherman and Huffman streets. The auto was turned over and Mrs. Blazer and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Rosa Shaw, and Oscar Schust, the driver, were all pinned beneath the vehicle and injured.

Mrs. Blazer was 32 years of age and was the wife of Fred E. Blazer, of 1125 Polk street, who survives her, as do two small children. The body was removed to the Peltier undertaking establishment and later sent to Willshire, Ohio, her former home, for burial.

Chicago Brothers Held in Plot to Kill Parents

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Irving and Herbert Updike, 32 and 19 years old respectively, taken into custody last night after the police had obtained evidence of an alleged plot to murder their father, Furman D. Updike, millionaire commission man, and their mother, are still held in jail today at Oak Park, a suburb.

Chief of Police Lee, of Oak Park, said Herbert, the younger son, is being held merely as a corroborative witness but he refused to tell what charge if any, had been lodged against Irving, the elder son. According to a statement by the police a stenographic report of a conversation between the two young men in the Updike garage gave details of an alleged plot to kill Mr. and Mrs. Updike, because the police say, the son feared his father would change his will, and leave the greater portion of his estate to other members of the family. Herbert, the younger son, according to the police, went to the police with the story of the alleged plot with the intention of frustrating it. It was Herbert who reported the matter to the police.

"Irving told me first he was going to kill father and mother more than a year ago," the younger son told the police. "We used to go down in the basement nights and talk about it."

When arrested, according to the police, Irving first tried to implicate his brother and then made a complete confession. The officers were hidden in the garage where they took a stenographic report of the conversation between the brothers, and later they say they found a shot gun and two pistols, equipped with silencers.

Police Chief Lee, of Oak Park, said that Herbert was at liberty to leave the station, but that he would try to show that Irving is not sane.

After the two young men had been taken to the police station Mrs. Updike sent their night clothes and toilet articles to them.

THESE MEN WERE MURDERED BECAUSE THEY CHANCED TO BE AMERICAN CITIZENS IN MEXICO.

The above photograph, taken at the Cusihuiriachic mines in Mexico, shows nine of the 17 Americans dragged from a train and slain by bandits near Santa Ysabel on Jan. 10. The picure is the property of Charles Trask, jr., of Chicago, chief auditor of the mining company, who is now on his way to El Paso to assist in caring for the bodies. Charles E. Watson, general manager of the mines, and one of the victims, seated on the railing at the left, front row.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

TRAIN MOVEMENT NOT INTERRUPTED

Less Tonnage and in Some Cases Less Speed, but All Get There.

Below zero weather has not greatly interfered with the movement of trains over the steam roads running through Fort Wayne. In passenger and freight all the lines reduced the tonnage, making in some cases two trains out of a string of cars which under ordinary weather conditions would have been sent over the line as one section. So far as could be learned none of the roads had accidents nor otherwise seriously crippled by the cold weather, but travel was lighter today than for any of the previous days of the past two weeks, owing to the cold weather.

MEAT CUTTERS HAVE ELECTION.

The meeting of the Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen Thursday night was well attended and of unusual interest. One new member was admitted to the union and the annual election was followed by a smoker and general good time. The election resulted as follows: George Feuchter, president; Christ Kessens, vice president; W. A. Felger, recording secretary; D. J. Shaw, financial secretary and treasurer; C. McVey, guide; H. C. Horn, guard; George Bender, sergeant-at-arms; Porter DeWitt, business agent; G. B. Place, John Austin and W. H. Spuhler, trustees.

GEORGE FEUCHTER.

WANT MORE WAGES.

Bricklayers Preparing to Ask for Seventy Cents an Hour.

Bricklayers' union, No. 26, will present a new agreement to the bosses, effective May 1, which will involve an increase from sixty to seventy cents per hour, an eight hour working day with a Saturday half-holiday. The bricklayers now work on an eight hour schedule, but have no half-holiday like the union men in other lines of work have. An arbitration clause is also embodied in the agreement, which is expected to eliminate trouble between employer and employe. The bricklayers and the carpenters have an agreement that neither craft will work on a job unless it is strictly union. Many of the bricklayers in the surrounding towns are affiliated with the local union and will receive a share of the benefits accruing from the proposed agreement.

INSIDE WIREMEN'S OFFICERS.

The scheme to allow the charter to remain open for the benefit of applicants who wish to become charter members of the union, the local body of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers has added many names to the roll that would not have got there under other conditions, it is believed, and it is thought that in time the local will become a 100 per cent. union; that is, get every eligible person in the city in the fold. Six new members were initiated Wednesday night, when the local held its annual election, which resulted as follows: O. Allen, president; L. Norford, vice president; A. H. Meyer, recording secretary; H. Miller, treasurer; M. Wiedeman, financial secretary; M. Brown, foreman; B. Metler, first inspector; G. Gray, second inspector; M. Wiedeman, H. Miller and A. Meyer, trustees.

LABOR UNION MEETING.

Considerable interest centers in the union labor meeting to be held at Unity hall on the night of January 30. The object is to thoroughly review the situation, eliminating the evils as far as possible and plan improvements. In his call for the meeting President J. D. Shaw, of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor, states that one of the reasons why the meeting should be held is inability of the federation, on account of the great volume of routine work, to take care of the greater problems. Among these President Shaw enumerates the "auto bus proposition, the street car strike, who our friends are in the city, closer relations between the affiliated and unaffiliated organizations of Fort Wayne and the general situation with reference to labor."

MANY SHOPMEN SICK.

The grip, which has prevailed in Pennsylvania shop circles in common with other circles in the city, is worse today than on any of the previous days of the winter, as indicated by the increased size of the sick lists in the several departments. New names on the list this morning were: C. W. Johnson, J. A. Haslup, A. J. Hubor, H. H. Burlage and William Lepper, of the planing mills; Otto Langston and N. Miller, of the car machine shop; H. Limbach, F. X. Miller, J. Kalliker and H. H. Boegel, of the blacksmith shop; W. J. Koch, painter; F. A. Etzold, tinner; Harry Long and A. J. Bobay, pipefitters; J. Freeburn, H. H. Jensen, W. O'Conner, F. W. Schaefer, C. W. oPrter, O. L. Ulrich, H. J. Koosen and R. Simon, of the boiler shop; F. W. Glusenkamp, C. G. Cooper, L. C. Shuster, J. J. Oswald, and F. G. Warner, of the machine shop, and M. Blue, of the toolroom.

TO ATTEND FUNERAL OF UNCLE.

Tomorrow Machinist George R. Rupley of the Pennsylvania shops, and his wife will go to Decatur, Ind., to attend the funeral of Frank Pio, an uncle to Mrs. Rupley, who died last Saturday, following a short illness. The deceased was eighty-one years old and for ten years made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Rupley in this city and at Rome City. At the latter place he had general supervision over the cottages owned by Mr. Rupley and became quite well acquainted with Fort Wayne people who visited that resort.

LOCAL UNION MAN ADVANCED.

The death of Timothy O'Brien, which occurred at Indianapolis several weeks ago, has been followed by general advance of vice presidents of the Indiana State Federation of Labor. Mr. O'Brien was the first vice president and he has been succeeded by John J. Daley, a charter member of Friendship lodge, No. 70, International Association of Machinists, who was the second vice president. Joel Messick, Arthur Lahr and William Greene were similarly advanced and Amer Keppel, president of the Bartenders' State league, was elected fifth vice president.

HAS GONE TO SANITARIUM.

Fort Wayne District Manager E. J. Little, of S. F. Bowser & Co., has gone to the Baldwin sanitarium at Kalamazoo for a two weeks' rest and treatment. Close attention to the duties of his office has injured Mr. Little's health and he hopes a two weeks' sojourn at the sanitarium will bring back good health.

TRESPASSER INJURED.

Michael Riley was struck by Pennsylvania passenger train No. 9 at Bourbon, Ind., Saturday night and sustained a broken arm and numerous bruises on the body and limbs. Riley was using the company's tracks as a public highway and was a trespasser. He is a farm hand and is about thirty years old.

WILL GIVE A TEA.

Nickel Plate division, No. 513, Grand International Auxiliary to the B. L. E., has arranged to give one of its pleasant "teas" at the hall, corner of West Main and Cherry streets, Tuesday afternoon. The committee of entertainment want the friends who attend it to "bring your sewing."

RECOVERS FROM BROKEN LEG.

After an absence of six weeks R. J. Sorg is again at work in the Pennsylvania tank shops. While riding his motorcycle he was thrown from the machine and had one of his legs broken and only recently recovered sufficiently to walk without the aid of crutches.

KILLED A MAN AT CLYMERS.

Fast westbound train No. 9, on the Wabash, Saturday struck and killed a man by the name of R. Harter on a street crossing at Clymers. The man failed to heed the warnings of the approaching train.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Machinist William Hanson, of the Pennsylvania tooiroom, is off duty on account of the illness of his wife.

After a week's illness Michael Creigh is again repairing trucks at the Pennsylvania machine shop.

Al Baker, machinist, is absent from the Pennsylvania tool room on account of the death of a relative.

P. H. Doty, engineer, and W. J. Wilson, fireman, of the Pennsylvania, are sick and off duty.

Joseph Gans resumed work at the Pennsylvania car machine shop this morning. He has just returned from Florida, where he went three weeks ago.

FIVE ON TRIAL FOR HIGHWAY ROBBERY

City Court Trying to Find the Truth in Fight of Several Poles.

Whether there was a real case of highway robbery, as charged, or merely riot at John and Buchanan streets about 12 o'clock Saturday night, when Mike Steelle and Alex Adzigonski say they were set upon by four or five men and assaulted and robbed, is what the city court set out to establish when it went into special session at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, with Tony Schmidt, Adam Schmidt, John Narland, Mike Curloi and Mike Zurwoski in the dock charged with the robbery. There was no telling what would be developed, but the opinions of the police were much in agreement that it was a drunken brawl of the sort so frequently staged on Saturday nights in the region where the alleged hold-up took place. Steelle and Adzigonski appeared at the station shortly after midnight, Sunday morning, and related that while passing on the street they were attacked by two thugs, one of whom struck Steelle over the head and inflicted a cut in his shoulder with a knife. Steelle said his watch, valued at $55, had been stolen and Adzigonski claimed the loss of a pocketbook containing $45. A short time later Captain Kelly, Sergeants Nave and Zwick, Stationmaster Fry and Patrol Driver Buuck went out to the region and arrested the two Schmidts and Narland. Curloi was arrested Sunday and when Mike Zurwoski went to the station Sunday to confer with one of the men he was detained as a witness and Monday morning a charge of highway robbery was placed against him. The men accused employed Attorneys Albert E. Thomas and Frank E. Kleekamp to defend them. The bonds of the men under arrest were fixed at $1,000 each. Witnesses have told the police that two other men named Tony Zebroskie and Bruno Burski were concerned in the fight. There were near a score of Polish men and women in the city court Monday morning either as witnesses or as friends of some of the accused. It was planned to bring in several other witnesses.

Other City Court Cases.

Frank Anthony, a Sunday drunk, was fined $5 and costs and James Fullerton, also drunk, drew $1 and costs.

Sylvester O'Loughlin, continued from last week on a drunk charge, was turned loose.

PAROLE VIOLATOR GOES BACK.

State Parole Officer Lancelot, of Iowa, came to Fort Wayne Monday and took back to that state George Bruhn, who is wanted as a parole violator. Bruhn was picked up here for loitering and was identified as a man wanted by the Iowa authorities by Detective Sergeant Joseph Brennan, of the Bertillon division of the local department. He confessed that he violated his parole and said he had run away because his health had failed and he was being overworked on the farm near Des Moines, where he had been given employment. State Parole Officer Lancelot stated that Bruhn had run away from Des Moines with a woman of low character. After Bruhn had been identified here the vag who had been arrested with him in this city sought to obtain half of the reward offered by the Iowa authorities for the return of the fugitive.

Nashville, Ind., Jan. 17.—The grand jury probably will investigate the death of Mrs. Linna Rariden, wife of a farmer, who was found dead January 4 with a bullet wound in her head. Dr. William E. Walter Rariden, husband of the woman, testified to the coroner that he found his wife's body, with a revolver beside it, and he said he believed she committed suicide. Witnesses testified that Rariden bought the revolver the day before his wife's death. Rariden says he was not at home when his wife died.

COLD WEATHER WON'T HURT POULTRY SHOW

Biggest of All Exhibits to Open Tomorrow in Boss Building.

Cold weather cannot interfere with the success of the big Triangle Poultry Show and Pet Stock exhibit except by keeping at home the visitors who want to attend. As far as the poultry men and the pet stock fanciers are concerned, everything points to the finest exhibit ever made in Fort Wayne. All it needs now is attendance. The show opens tomorrow in the Boss glove factory building, at the northeast corner of Calhoun and Superior streets, two squares north of the transfer corner.

Exhibits Coming in Today.

All day today shipments of valuable birds and pet stock have been arriving by express from many points in Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. Doubtless all of these will be in place by this evening, as will also the entries of the ocal fanciers. The judging begins tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, and the exhibitors are all anxious that their offerings shall be in place and "look their prettiest" by that time. The judges in the poultry division are George H. Northrup, of Granville, N. Y.; H. A. Pickett, of Mattoon, Ill., and A. E. Hamlin, of Angola, Ind., recognized authorities in the highest poultry circles. Judges in the pet stock section equally well known, are C. S. Gibson, of Detroit, secretary of the National Pet Stock association, and John W. Fehr, of Indianapolis.

Free Guide to the Show.

Visitors to the show this week will find each coop labeled so as to give the name and address of the exhibitor and the name of the variety represented, together with the sex, class, etc., thus providing a complete free guide to the show. This is an innovation which will be appreciated by visitors who have but a faulty knowledge of poultry and of the various breeds represented.

Children Free All Week.

Every child under 12 years of age, who is accompanied by someone with a paid admission ticket, will be admitted free during the entire week. Special efforts have been made to provide interesting features for the ladies and children. In this connection may well be mentioned the refrigerator showcase exhibit of dressed poultry for the housewife's enlightenment, which shows the difference between the ordinary and thoroughbred poultry The children will be much interested in the rabbits. Twenty varieties will be shown. A wild fox, wild Mallard ducks, large coops of pigeons and pheasants, and other specimens will also interest the boys and girls. Many of them are expected to attend, and the management will welcome them as never before.

Vocational School Showing.

Patrons of the schools will be interested in the excellent exhibit of the vocational department, designed to show what has been accomplished since the establishment of this important branch of the city's educational system.

The people of Fort Wayne have an opportunity this week to boost a city-boosting event. Hundreds of people from outside points will be here to take in the show. The home folks should give the event their hearty support.

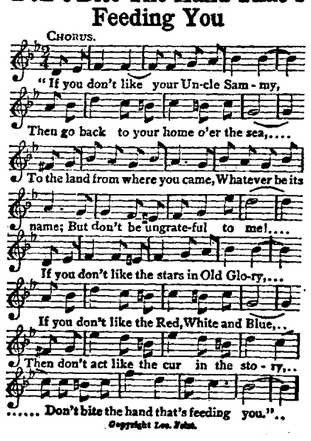
NEW POPULAR SONG WITH ODD IDEA

STIRRING EFFECT PRODUCED WHEN SUNG IN PUBLIC.

There is a new song in New York which is the most peculiar thing written in years. It is called "Don't Bite the Hand That's Feeding You," and, whenever sung, an immediate applause follows. Here is the text:

"Last night as I lay a-sleeping
A wonderful dream came to me
I saw Uncle Sammy weeping
For his children from over the sea;
They had come to him friendless and starving
When from tyrant oppression they fled,
But now they abuse and revile him
'Till, at last, in just anger he said:

Don't Bite The Hand That's Feeding You



CHORUS.
"If you don't like your Un-cle Sam-my,
Then go back to your home o'er the sea,....
To the land from where you came, Whatever be its name; But don't be ungrate-ful to me!...
If you don't like the stars in Old Glo-ry,...
If you don't like the Red, White and Blue,..
Then don't act like the cur in the sto-ry,...
..... Don't bite the hand that's feeding you."..
Copyright Lee, Feist.

It is said no song ever written is greeted with such vociferous acclaim, excepting, perhaps, the "Star Spangled Banner."

HOW HONEYMOON TO STATE PRISON

Magazine Writer Forged Check to Finance Wedding Trip.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 17.—For six years a prison record hung like a sword over Robert A. Ward. Despite his past, he won social prestige and achieved a reputation as a magazine writer. On the day a beautiful woman was to become his bride fate snipped the thread and the sword fell.

The woman he was about to lead to the altar was Mrs. Cornelia Rice, niece of the late James Schoolcraft Sherman, formerly vice president of the United States, and daughter of ex-Congressman Henry J. Cookingham of Utica, N. Y.

Exposed as a convict, Ward fled. When life seemed darkest, the woman to whom he was engaged called him back. To finance his wedding trip he forged a check. He married Mrs. Rice, but before the honeymoon had waned he was back in Joliet prison for his latest crime. His wife obtained a divorce.

The romantic story became known when Ward, who is now Convict No. 2420, wrote a letter to Warden Zimmer asking him to lay his case before the board of pardons at its meeting in March.

"I don't think the board of pardons will consider Ward's case in March," Warden Zimmer said. "It is a rule of the board that second termers must serve twenty-two months before their cases are taken up. Ward is now one of the editors of the prison paper."

FORMER STUDENTS IN ANNUAL BANQUET

Indiana University Alumni Association Elects New Officers.

President William Lowe Bryan was the principal speaker Saturday evening at the annual banquet of the local Indiana University Alumni association at the Anthony hotel. Dr. Bryan spoke on "Education in Indiana," and referred with pride to the state's high rating in educational circles. Reference was made to the honor the graduates of Indiana university are bringing to their alma mater.

Dr. Bryan told of the descent that was made in educational lines a few years after this great state of ours was settled. In 1848, the date of the origination of the free public school, 44 per cent of the people voted against the movement. He said now, however, the state was making a great rise in all lines. He proved his statement by the fact that seven men were selected from Indiana as masters in their special lines a few years ago when the best educated people in the United States were chosen. The statement that five of these seven were graduates from Indiana university brought a hearty applause from the audience.

Ralph V. Sollitt, secretary of the State Alumni association, spoke on the subject, "Spirit Among Indiana Alumni." He told of the work done by the various alumni clubs of the state and the great good that is certain to result to the future of the university.

Theodore Thieme, of this city, spoke on "The Business Man and Indiana University." He told of the advantages a university and college graduate has over the man who has not had the opportunity of attending such an institution.

David H. Hogg presided as toastmaster and Louis Plost as yell leader. Prof. DeLong, principal of the Monroeville high school, led the music. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: L. C. Ward, president; William H. Tschannen, vice-president, and M. C. Frysinger, secretary and treasurer.

Those who attended this happy yearly gathering were: Dr. W. S. Bryan, D. H. Hogg, Ralph V. Sollitt, Theodore F. Thieme, Prof. L. C. Ward, Harry A. Geyer, Walter E. Gordon, W. E. Clapham, Mrs. W. E. Clapham, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dreisbach, Marianne Morton, Glenn A. Smiley, Miss Esther Connor, Dr. Edward Cikul, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Voorhees, Mrs. Walter Kent, J. A. Reising, Marie Klemm, O. E. Try the Children's Medicine.

Many parents are inclined to believe that medicine used for children is not suitable for themselves. While it is true that larger doses are required, it is unreasonable to suppose that a disease in an adult should be treated any differently than the same ailment in a child. Mrs. Earl Jennings, Lima, Ohio, writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a splendid medicine for children. I have used it myself for colds and it has always given me the desired relief." BEAUTY HINTS- CHARMING COMPLEXION

Says a writer in the Home Magazine: "A little girl I know was downhearted on account of her face, which was red and mottled. Powder only improved it for a half hour. I felt so sorry for her that the first time I went to Paris I asked a certain fascinating woman there what she did for her face. Here it is: A simple thing, and my little friend is now happy. Buy one ounce of tincture of benzoin and one ounce of corylok. Bathe the face in a quart of very cold water and ½ teaspoon of benzoin, dry, and then apply a little of the corylok (vanishing face enamel). The results are astonishing, and last a day. This same woman uses sulsage (medicinal mixture of sulphur and sage) for darkening her gray and faded hair" —Advertisement.

DYNAMITE JOHNNY IS DYING IN NEW YORK

Romantic Figure of Cuban War is Victim of Paralysis.

New York, Jan. 17.—Capt. Johnny O'Brien, known throughout Central America as "Dynamite Johnny," hero of a hundred filibustering expeditions and the first admiral of the Cuban navy, is dying in the Hotel McAlpin. In poor health since he was stricken with paralysis at his home in Newark, nearly two years ago, Captain O'Brien was [illegible] to abandon his duties as chief of the government pilots in Havana harbor, and returned to the United States.

For three months he has been at the McAlpin, except for a few weeks in a hospital. At the hotel last night it was said that he could not live more than a few days.

"Dynamite Johnny" was one of the most romantic figures of the stormy days immediately preceding the Spanish-American war. He outfitted several filibustering expeditions, and ran arms to the Cuban insurgents, and commanded several bodies of Cuban troops in engagements with the Spaniards. After things quited down in Cuba, Captain O'Brien was prominent in revolutions in Haiti, Santo Domingo and various Central American countries.

G. V. Cox, of Fairmount, to Represent Beloit College in State Contest.

Beloit, Wis., Jan. 17.—By winning first place in the Beloit college home oratorical contest with his oration, "The Challenge of the European War," Garfield V. Cox, of Fairmount, Ind., twice winner of the Indiana state oratorical contest and winner of second place in the inter-state contest last year, won the right to represent Beloit in the Wisconsin state oratorical contest on February 18.

Cox won his Indiana oratorical honors representing Earlham college. The inter-state contest in which Cox won second place last spring was won for Beloit by another Indiana youth, Oscar Ahlgren, of Whiting.

Opens tomorrow—The big Poultry and Pet Stock Show.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Why Soldiers Die Unafraid

How can they die without dread? They have no hope, yet they have no fear. Why?

There is no answer that may be written down. Literature, helpless, falls to the ground when it confronts the task of describing the supreme emotion of a soldier. You may spend a lifetime in a library yet never learn. For your question will never be answered by written or spoken word.

But you may do this: You may stare into the courage steeled faces that rush across the canvases of war artists and know. Geniuses of the brush have caught that indescribable death hunger of the fighting man and have put that passion of passions where you may see. They have seized and held for the view of posterity that master moment when man, sword and heart are at the zenith, they have put into the fierce countenances of the soldiers that tremendous sense of heroic abandon which lifts them high and clear above thoughts of grain and memories of ambition.

Look at the Greys, thundering down, sabers swinging, voices screaming, manes whipping, scabbards rattling; look into that row of emotion-torn faces peering over the wild heads of their straining horses; feel, with the breathless riders, that bursting flood of abandon and know why men die unafraid!

It is action, unified action, headlong, unified action, and that alone which transports the mediocre man into the hero. Solitary gallantry springs from innate fearlessness, from lack of imagination or from ignorance. The transformation of the nervous, fearful layman into the intrepid fighting man is the work of concerted action.

Watch Nevinson's Frenchmen sweeping back to their trenches at dawn. Their heads stretch forward, their knees lift with one short, hard jerk, their feet come down in a single decisive "clump." The ditch into which they will soon be tumbling is a pit of death; into it shells come smashing, gases that rend lungs come drifting; through it blood and water run as high as a man's knees, but there is nothing to suggest those horrors in the eager swoop of this compact, hard-driven file of men.

Some unseen force, something that is bred in uniform determination and desire, puts that vigor and dash into their marching step. They hasten to meet death, not through despairing resignation, not through reckless bravado, not through heedless intoxication; they merely stretch forth to greet the Reaper halfway because the religion of martial ardor has seized them, the fit is on them.

Some mighty spirit envelops them, the spirit of thousands of men, all absorbed in the same thoughts, all striving for the same ends, all doing and acting for the accomplishment of the same things. When a man feels that surging up and down his spine life becomes less dear and death less dreadful.

It is the spirit that rises out of war pictures and out of nothing else in the realm of art or representation.

Here are the horsemen of Napoleon at Waterloo! Into the ditch they go, stern, inflexible, unflinching. To die in the open is one thing, to be smothered and trampled to death in a hole in the ground is another. Those cuirassiers set forth from the French lines, a vast lightning stroke that was to smash men on powerful horses, the flower of the barracks and stables, they were by sheer weight of flesh and steel to overwhelm the British squares.

Pomp and majesty thrilled the onlookers. The horsemen leaned forward more as their speed increased. Faster and faster they went.

Then suddenly under the feet of the front rank appeared a deep ditch, the sunken road. A detour was impossible. The momentum of the mass thrust the front lines unhesitatingly onward. There was no escape, so the soldiers of the emperor rode bolt upright over the brink and filled the trench with their bodies. When it was level full the remaining horsemen kept on over the mass of battered, mangled flesh.

The artist paints that moment when the second rank swept over the edge of the ravine. On his canvas apears no Frenchman afraid. Faced by a terrible death, they ride into it, still intent upon that something that wipes dread and remorse from the soldier's mind.

Three coal black horses bear their riders windlike into the fatal melee. One is almost down. Its rider throws back his head, cheering his comrades on. One is poised just before the descent. The cuirassier is motionless, struggling not against his doom. No terror-stricken attempt to ward the blow, no futile nervousness. The charger on the right has leaped far out over the writhing remains and is twisting to unseat its master. The soldier struggles to regain his seat, so that he may die on the saddle.

"Scotland Forever," by Lady Butler, Has in It the Abandon and Recklessness Which Drives Fear From the Minds of Warriors.

Just Like a Boy.

Really Robby and Elsie are the politest children in Boston. Their manners are be-eautiful.

One day they were told that they could have one each of the two apples on the table.

"Take your choice, Elsie," said Bobby, politely.

"No, Bobby," protested the little girl, "you choose first."

For a few minutes it went on, each pressing the other to pick first. Then suddenly Elsie got tired of waiting and took the apple.

Instantly Bobby's eyes flashed and cried sternly:

"Put that one back and take your choice!"

Education in Ruins.

'Twas eventide. The small lad stood on the bridge clapping his hands vigorously. Beyond the brow of the hill a dull, red glow suffused the sky.

"Ah, little boy," remarked the stranger, who was a little n sighted, "it does my heart goo see that you appreciate the cloud fect."

"Yes, sir," replied the lad. " been watching it for 10 minutes.

Upon the boy's face there appe ed a smile of perfect bliss.

"A real poet without doubt. A do you watch the sunset often, t tle boy?"

"Sunset? Why, that an't a su set, gov'nor; that's our shoolhou burning down."

How Alike They Lot!

Captain Turner of the ill-fated Lu sitania had a story about the rav ages of sea sickness that e often told in the saloon.

"A passenger," he would begin, "approached another passenger, and said:

"'We're getting up a tug-or-war between a team of married men and a team of single men. You're married, aren't you?'

"'No,' the other answered. 'I'm seasick. That's what makes me look like this.'"

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Notwithstanding that in consequence of higher prices at Liverpool, the wheat market here opened today at a sharp advance, weakness soon developed owing to heavy sales by prominent firms. The opening, which ranged from ¾c to 1c higher, with May at $1.28¼ to $1.28½ and July at $1.21¾ to $1.22¼, was followed by a decline to well below Saturday's closing figures.
The close was strong, 1c to 1½c net higher.
Prospects of enlarged receipts had a depressing effect on corn. Besides there were reports of beneficial rains in Argentine. After opening unchanged to ¼c lower, the market underwent a moderate further sag.
The close was strong at an advance of ⅝c net.
Oats showed comparative strength. Commission houses were generally on the buying side, influenced apparently by the fact that oats were at too great a discount.
Liberal experts encouraged an advance in pork and ribs. Foreign shipments of lard were diminished, however, and the price of lard was correspondingly heavy.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Jan. 17.—The week opened with further advances in a few of the more speculative issues, new high records being made by International Nickel, American Coal Products and Mercantile Marine preferred. Crucible Steel, Bethlehem Steel, American Can, New York Air Brake and General Electric were higher by substantial fractions to two points. Standard shares showed no material change, U. S. Steel and the leading rails varying little, if at all, from last week's final quotations. Oil shares were heavy but fertilizers and some utilities made advances.
Weakness of the oils and other specialties provoked fresh selling before the end of the first hour, even the more buoyant issues forfeiting much of their early gain. U. S. Steel and leaving rails were under last Saturday's final prices and Bethlehem Steel fell nine to 470, Marine issues were the real features, dealings in the common and preferred shares as well as the 4½ per cent. certificates exceeding the trading in other securities. Later Mexican stocks, including petroleum and smelting, scored marked recoveries but investment shares continued heavy. Bonds were irregular.
Various obscure stocks moved higher in the final hour but some of the minor rails, notably Minneapolis and St. Louis, common and preferred, were weak. The closing was irregular.

He Shocked Head—Hunting Savages Into Civilization

M. Matsuoka.

M. Matsuoka, former governor of Formosa. He took command six years ago when 200,000 natives were wild head hunters. He civilized them by means of electric wires stretched across a portion of the islands. The natives, receiving shocks from the wire, believed some evil god was at work and fled inland. They were corraled by moving the wires little by little. Finally aeroplanes were sent over them. When they began to fear the Japanese, thy were slowly civilized and are now cultivating thousands of unused acres, planting rice.

M'BRIDE NOT WOUNDED

Indianapolis, Jan. 17.—Robert W. McBride has received information that the report that his son, Herbert W. McBride, had been wounded while on the firing line in France, is incorrect. Herbert W. McBride is an officer in the Twenty-first battalion of Canadian troops, and he had charge of the machine gun section in the first line trenches. It had been reported that he had been struck by shrapnel and severely wounded.
The denial of the report came to Mr. McBride in the form of a telegram from Colonel Winter, military secretary to the minister of militia, at Ottawa, Canada. Mr. McBride had telegraphed Colonel Winter for definite word. The telegram from Colonel Winter said that the name of Herbert W. McBride did not appear in any of the casualty lists received from the front.

SCHERER BAKING CO'S. MARVELOUS GROWTH

Shows Progress of Ft. Wayne This Year.

The recent increase in the capital stock of the Scherer Baking company from $30,000 to $50,000 shows the wonderful growth of Fort Wayne more clearly than most anything else could, for this company does practically all its business in Fort Wayne and shows a growth of 40 per cent. in business under the present form, during the last year and a half.

When Louis P. Scherer, president of the company, first started in business on Barr street, thirty-five years ago with a small shop where he did most of the work himself, Fort Wayne numbered less than a third of the people it has today. But as the town grew, the use of first class materials made the business grow and the Scherer name a household word when "good eats" were in mind and the same is true today, for a short time ago one of our friends with a bakery of his own, was heard to say that "Scherer made the richest loaf of bread in Fort Wayne." Is it strange that with such a reputation even among its competitors the Scherer Baking company today has grown until thirty employes are busy supplying the demand of the people for more than "101" varieties of baked goods, supplied fresh daily to the citizens of the present city.

While the city of Fort Wayne has trebled in size, increasing more than 300 per cent. in population in the last thirty-five years, the little shop that "Louie" Scherer ran on Barr street, with the help of one boy, has grown more than 1,500 per cent., and today occupies buildings of its own at the corner of Maumee and Walter on the Lincoln highway, with more than 20,000 square feet of floor space, all used in the company business.

With the growth of the business, Mr. Scherer found himself burdened with too much work for one man, and retaining the presidency of the company founded by him, he elected to spend most of his time away from the detail work, which is always such a grind in the baking business, visiting his old friends around town and making new ones. If you see your favorite grocer laughing over some tale of hunting or fishing told by a stocky, rosy-cheeked man with a merry twinkle in his eye, just see if it isn't "Louie" telling of some trip taken in the past or one about to be taken in the future. With all this—and it is an occupation in itself to try and know all the dealers in Fort Wayne nowadays—Mr. Scherer takes time to drop into the bakery several times a day to see that checks are signed and the boys are being careful to always "keep the quality up."

Assisting Mr. Scherer with the title of secretary and manager, is Mr. A. F. Naylor, formerly in the advertising department of S. F. Bowser and company, where some savings effected in his department brought him to the attention of Mr. J. B. Franke, president and manager of the Perfect Biscuit company, whose success is well known to us all. Mr. Franke was about to introduce the cost system put into an independent cracker and bread factory in the state of Indiana. Mr. Naylor was started in packing crackers at the packing table and then all through the entire plant, and then sent at their expense to see the cost systems used in various other plants. The cost system installed as a result of this trip showed up some surprising facts and acting on these promptly, Mr. Franke has been wonderfully successful in the years since. While in the employ of the Perfection Biscuit company Mr. Naylor got up and patented the Can-see package cover used on baked goods from coast to coast. Knowing Mr. Naylor's experience in this line, Mr. Scherer chose him to put in the cost system now being installed in the plant of the Scherer Baking company, and permitted him to purchase a substantial interest in the business. The ideas picked up in a recent two months' trip through the leading western bakeries will be put into effect to help "keep the quality up."

To further supplement his own efforts, Mr. Scherer chose Mr. F. E. Wilkinson, for several years advertising manager for Weil Bros. and company, of this city, with large experience in handling employes there and with various railroad companies, as treasurer and superintendent of the Scherer Baking company. Mr. Wilkinson is a crank on system and efficiency and has himself worked up through the different departments of work in the Scherer Baking company in order to familiarize himself with all parts of the business. Under the present plan every ounce of material from the time it enters the plant until the money for its sale goes into the bank, will be kept track of and every assistance given workmen, salesmen, customers and consumers to see that the "Highest Cost Loaf" in town is the best loaf and reaches the consumer in the best possible condition, another step in "keeping the quality up."

Cleanliness is another of Mr. Scherer's and Mr. Wilkinson's hobbies and in the present rearrangement of forces, two men will devote their time to keeping the building and equipment owned by the Scherer Baking company in "apple pie order," to use the good old baking term.

Seven wagons carry the fresh goods to the hundreds of customers, and the demand has increased so that an eighth wagon is now being added. More than $8,000 has been spent in betterments since the incorporation of the company and the company today owns more new machinery than any other concern in town. With new machinery soon to be installed, your daily bread will hardly see human hands from flour to you and your favorite loaf comes wrapped, of course.

The other officer and directors of the company, while not actively at work at the plant, are just as much interested in its welfare, are Mr. George H. Krudop, the well known coal dealer and early friend of Mr. Scherer, who is vice president. His reputation is too firmly established to need comment. So, too, is that of Mr. Harry F. Kennerk, director of the company, member of the firm of Somers & Kennerk, and for years secretary of the Retail Merchants' association. Other professional men interested are Messrs. T. J. Logan, Fred Rush, H. C. Wells and C. W. Schuler.

In starting the new year the company and its members wish to thank the many friends who have made such a growth possible and whose support has been so liberally extended in the past, and invite them at any time to call and see how bread is made on the Lincoln highway at Fort Wayne, Ind.—Advertisement.

PROBING BLAME FOR MRS. BLAZER'S DEATH

Prosecutor and Police Inquiring Into Crash on Christmas Eve.

Prosecuting Attorney Frank A. Emrick, Deputy Prosecutor John C. Hoffman and Chief of Police Charles Lenz are conducting an investigation into the circumstances of the collision of a street car and a jitney bus on Huffman street, Christmas eve, when Mrs. Lena Blazer, 1125 Polk street, received injuries from which she died at St. Joseph hospital Sunday morning.

F. W. Luttman, motorman on the street car, has been under arrest since the night of the accident, on a charge of assault and battery, but at liberty on $300 bond. Oscar Shust, driver of the jitney bus, will be again questioned by the police. Probably no new steps will be taken pending an inquest by Coroner J. E. McArdle into the death of Mrs. Blazer, but it is purposed to obtain further facts if possible.

The jitney bus was struck from the rear by the street car and witnesses have stated that the car was going at very high speed. The Traction company is said to have obtained statements from other witnesses that the driver of the jitney had been racing alongside the street car for some distance and that he had just driven his automobile ahead of it onto the track when the car went into it. Shust says he had driven onto the track to avoid a grocery wagon which stood across the street between the curb and the tracks and that while he was turning out for that obstacle the rapidly moving car charged into him.

A prosecution for manslaughter may be developed from the accident.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW IS PRONOUNCED SUCCESS

By night ever yautomobile, display and all decorations will have been removed from the two buildings in which Fort Wayne's greatest automobile show was held last week. While the extreme cold weather kept many away the show was a success in every particular. The expenses incurred by the Auto Trade association, under whose auspices the show was given, were met and there may be a small surplus. A meeting of the association will be held in a few days, when an inventory will be taken and final reports made.

Members of the association have extended a vote of thanks to the Fort Wayne public and to business men of the city who were instrumental in making the display a success. Several Fort Wayne automobile dealers expect to leave this week for Chicago to attend the show at that place.

Hungarian Premier Makes the Announcement to Parliament.

LITTLE MONARCHY YIELDS TO AUSTRIA

British Administer Second Defeat to Turk Within Few Days.

Today's War News Given in Summary

Relief apparently is in sight for the British forces under Gen. Townshend that has been in a precarious position at Kut-el-Amara in Mesopotamia for some time since it was compelled to fall back from the vicinity of Bagdad.

It was officially announced in London today that the relief column under Gen. Aylmer proceeding up the Tigris river had inflicted a defeat on the Turks who, after being driven out of their positions at Waddi had fallen back to within six miles of Kut-el-Amara. They had been previously at Orah, 25 miles down the Tigris.

Today's Turkish official statement makes no mention of these operations, reporting merely intermittent artillery fighting near Kuet-el-Amara.

In the Caucasus the offensive inaugurated by the Russians with strongly reinforced columns along a 100 mile front appears to be gaining force, Constantinople admitting a retreat of several miles by the Turkish advanced posts at some points. Turkey has evidently been offering a determined resistance the war office declaring that their retirement was only after they had held strong Russian forces in check for a week.

Berlin announces that military operations on the western front have been lacking in important developments. The official statement records the killing of sixteen inhabitants of Lens by artillery fire.

Snow storms have hampered activities in the eastern war zone.

Berlin, Jan. 17.—(Via Sayville.)—The Overseas News agency announced today that Count Tisza, the Hungarian

ZERO WEATHER MAY CONTINUE FEW DAYS

Not Much Relief is Promised by the Official Forecaster.

While slowly rising temperature is promised by Forecaster P. McDonough tonight and Tuesday, zero weather will probably continue in this section for two or three days. There is nothing in sight indicating anything to the contrary.

Throughout all of Sunday the mercury hovered around the zero mark and during the night had descended several degrees and at 6 o'clock Monday morning stood 8 degrees below, according to the governments thermometer in the weather bureau's office. It remained at this point till 8 o'clock, when it commenced to slowly rise, reaching one above at 11:30 o'clock. It is not expected to go very much above that mark during the remainder of the day.

The cold wave is the second within the past week. Suffering among the poor of the city was intensified and charitable organizations and township trustee received an increased number of calls for relief. Both food and fuel were in demand.

The sharpness of the atmosphere was given an additional touch of bitterness by a strong wind which prevailed throughout Sunday, ranging from twenty to twenty-six miles in velocity. The present cold is swept from the northwestern states, where exceedingly low temperatures have been prevailing.

Ice skating has been supplied in abundance as practically every stream in Fort Wayne is covered with a heavy coat of ice.

With the thermometer at eight below zero the firemen from engine houses 1, 3 and 5 early Monday morning, were caked with ice from helmet to boots, while they worked three hours on the South Calhoun street restaurant blaze. WILLIAM B. MERRILL DIES FROM INJURIES

Owner of Billposting Company Suffered Fracture of Skull in Fall.

Suffering from a fractured skull since last Wednesday evening when he fell headlong to the bottom of the basement stairs at his home, 1332 Washington boulevard west, William B. Merrill, owner of the Fort Wayne Bill Posting company, died at 6:10 o'clock Monday morning. He passed away at the Lutheran hospital where he had been a patient since Thursday evening. Mr. Merrill was 44 years and 8 months of age.

He returned home about 11 o'clock Wednesday evening and the supposition is that he intended to go into the basement to fix the fire for the night. At the top of the stairs he tripped over a mop handle and pitched headlong to the bottom. He lay there several hours when he succeeded in pulling himself up the stairway and called for help from the members of the family.

He did not regard his condition as serious, thinking that his injuries did not even necessitate the calling of a physician. He remained at the house Thursday all day and even walked to the garage at the rear of the lot and enjoyed a cigar. Later in the afternoon he was rendered speechless which prompted the calling of a physician. The doctor found that the injured man was suffering from a severe fracture of the skull and ordered him taken to the hos-

New Evidence Points to Responsibility of Carranza Government.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Evidence collected at El Paso by state department agents indicates that Carranza authorities at Chihuahua assured C. R. In that opinion, however, many of the Americans agreed, although they had suggested to the authorities the advisability of sending troops with the party.

The advices further stated that the Carranza governor of Chihuahua gave

EXPLOSION MAY COST EYESIGHT

Mrs. Anna Luescher Badly Scalded as Hot Water Coils Explode.

RANGE WRECKED; FIRE SCATTERED

Other Occupants of House on Home Avenue Escape Injury.

As the result of the explosion of hot water coils in a kitchen range at the home of Herman Leuscher, 1018 Home avenue, at 11:30 o'clock Sunday morning, Mrs. Anna Leuscher is a patient at the Lutheran hospital suffering from scalds about the face and the upper portion of the body. It is feared that she may lose the sight of both of her eyes. Her face was badly scalded with the steam and hot water and late Monday afternoon reports were to the effect that she had not regained her sense of sight.

Mr. Leuscher, who is employed at the Packard piano factory, had just returned home and opened the door when the explosion occurred. He was standing in the doorway and his supposition is that had not the door been open the force of the explosion would have torn away a portion of the side walls. The noise was heard several squares away.

Fragments Strewn About.

Mrs. Leuscher, who was preparing dinner, was standing at the side of the stove when the accident occurred. Had she been standing directly in front of it she would without a doubt have been instantly killed. Fragments of the stove were found in all the adjoining rooms. A flatiron which was on the top of the stove grate was thrown a distance of eight feet striking Mr. Leuscher on the shoulder with great force.

Live coals were strewn over the entire kitchen and small blazes were discovered everywhere. One of the grates of the stove flew into the diningroom and burned a large hole in the rug. Fire was also discovered on top of a kitchen cabinet which stood in the opposite corner of the room. Paper on the ceiling and walls was also ablaze.

Mrs. Leuscher's aged mother and son were in the kitchen at the time of the accident and all heard a cracking noise in the water pipes of the stove a few seconds before it let go. Presumably, as stated by Mr. Leuscher, the pressure of the steam in the pipes had not been given the proper attention and consequently when it reached a certain point everything let go at the same time. Others escaped injury.

COAL MINERS SEEK A WAGE CONFERENCE

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 17.—While delegates to the United Mine Workers' convention, which opens Tuesday, were gathering here today from different parts of the United States and Canada, officers of the union were endeavoring to reach an agreement with coal operators from the central competitive bituminous districts for a wage conference after the convention adjourns.

The central competitive districts are made up of the Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania soft coal fields. The mine owners in these districts formerly had a four state agreement with the union miners, but it was broken up several years ago, since which time each state concluded its own contract with the union employes. At a conference here today between the officers of the union and representatives of the operators efforts were made to bring about a new interstate agreement.

SOUNDS FIRST NOTE FOR PREPAREDNESS

Seth Low Urges Administration Plan Before Civic Federation.

Washington, Jan. 17.—The National Civic Federation opened its sixteenth annual meeting today with prominent civic welfare workers from throughout the country present. Subjects for discussion included preparedness, immigration, government regulation of private industry and other problems. The women's section of the federation opened a separate two days' meeting.

National preparedness featured today's program, which was given over largely to presentation of committee reports.

Seth Low, of New York, president of the federation, sounded the first note on preparedness, when, in his opening address, he declared that if the United States is to prevent the "antagonisms and hates of Europe and its age-long tradition of empire" from finding lodgment on this continent after the war, it must be "by the strength of our own right arm, and by the willingness to die for what is certainly precious to ourselves and for what we believe to be the no less precious to humanity." Mr. Low said he favored the administration's defense program, not because he thought it ideally perfect, but because it was a long step in the right direction.

PROMOTERS AWAITING DECISION ON FIGHT

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 17.—Champion Jess Willard arrived here today to discuss with Manager Tom Jones bids submitted yesterday for a fight between Willard and Frank Moran, of Pittsburg. Jones told friends he wanted a few days to consider the matter.

Among the promoters here awaiting Jones' decision are Jack Curley, who made an offer of $30,000 as Willard's share of the proceeds; Barney Oldfield, who, with James Coffroth, would take the contest to Tinjuana, Mexico, and "Billy" Wellman, representing "Tex" Rickard, of New York. If Curley lands the fight he will present it in New York city. Willard says he is in first class condition.

NEW CONTINUANCE GRANTED.

Trial of William Lorimer at Chicago Again Deferred.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Another continuance was granted today in the trial of William Lorimer, formerly president of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank and other officials of the bank who are charged with complicity in wrecking the institution. The case which was set for today before Judge Dever in the criminal court was continued to Feb. 14, when the examination of jurors is expected to begin.

FIRE WIPES OUT A CAFE

Blaze in Lebamoff Brothers Restaurant Threatens Entire Block.

FROZEN HYDRANTS DELAY FIREMEN

Two Explosions Are Heard Soon After Arrival of Department.

Fire of unknown origin completely wiped out the restaurant belonging to Tom and John Lebamoff at 1323 South Calhoun street and gutted the building owned by Mrs. W. S. Morris at 4:20 o'clock Monday morning, causing a loss estimated at $2,000, partially covered by insurance.

With the thermometer registering several degrees below the zero mark fire fighting was most difficult and the firemen suffered intensely. Their clothing was frozen stiff, but they bravely stayed on the job, succeeding in keeping the flames to the one building. The two adjoining buildings, both of which had been recently vacated, were not damaged in the least.

Frozen hydrants added to the troubles of the firemen. The first company to arrive attempted to get water from the hydrant at Brackenridge and Calhoun streets, which was found to be frozen. Then an effort was made to get water from the hydrant at Douglas and Calhoun, which was also frozen. All the time the fire was raging and there was great danger of it reaching serious proportions before the firemen were able to get any water whatever. Finally they succeeded in getting water from the hydrant at Lewis and Calhoun streets and another string of hose was strung from the hydrant at Holman and Clinton streets. In this manner they were able to play on the fire from the front and the rear, but not until the entire interior of the building, which is a two story brick structure, had been completely gutted.

Entire Block Threatened.

The firemen confined their efforts in keeping the fire in the one building and it was not until after 6 o'clock that they had it under control. For a time the entire block was threatened. Companies 1, 3 and 5 responded, with Assistant Fire Chief Jasper directing the work.

The fire had a good start when it was discovered by the patrolman on the beat. He turned in the alarm and five minutes later the first company was on the scene. The flames made rapid headway and were soon leaping high into the air.

Two Explosions.

Shortly after the arrival of the fire department there was an explosion back of the counter on the south side of the room and near the front. A few mintes later this was followed by another explosion in the rear, presumably in the kitchen. There was no one in the restaurant and had not been since midnight so far as any one knows. It was not an all night restaurant as are many others in the city and usually was closed at 12 o'clock. The entire second floor was vacated and had not been occupied for some time.

E-2 EXPLOSION DUE TO NATURAL CAUSES

No Outside Agency Figured in Wrecking of U. S. Submarine.

New York, Jan. 17—Officials conducting the two inquiries—civil and naval—into the cause of the internal explosion Saturday on the submarine E-2 at the New York navy yard, which caused the death of four men and serious injuries to ten others, were convinced today, it was learned at the navy yard, that the accident was due entirely to natural causes. They were giving no consideration to the suggestion that outside agencies might have been responsible, it was said.

Three of the six enlisted men who were injured were still in a critical condition today at the naval hospital. The four civilians in a city hospital were sufficiently recovered to be questioned by Coroner Wagner. Three of them told the coroner they were suffering from colds last Saturday and were therefore unable to detect the presence of gas within the hull. The fourth man, however, said that he smelled only the usual odor of gas and oil previous to the explosion.

WILSON FURTHERS DEFENSE PROGRAM

Washington, Jan. 17.—Announcement that President Wilson had written to the presidents of the leading engineering organizations of the country requesting the appointment of representatives to gather, in conjunction with the civilian naval consulting board, data for use in organizing business for national defense in time of danger, served to renew interest in the subject here today.

The dispatch of the letters is the latest step in the plans of the president as outlined by him in his message to congress for marshalling the nation's manufactures and other business resources in event of an emergency.

Enter Pleas of Guilty on Conspiracy Charges

New York, Jan. 17.—Edward Weber, Paul Schmidt, Max Jaeger and Richard Wohlberg, accused in a federal indictment of conspiracy to ship contraband rubber to the German government in violation of the customs laws, pleaded guilty today and were fined.

Pleas of guilty were entered in behalf of the Rubber and Guayule agency, of this city, which was also indicted. Mrs. Annie Dekkers, another defendant, was too ill to be in court and will plead later.

Judge Clayton imposed upon Jaeger a fine of $1,500, upon Weber and Schmidt fines of $750 each, upon Wohling $100 and upon the Guayule agency $50. Jaeger was the leading spirit in the conspiracy. He was commissioned it was alleged by Albert Weber, a Berlin banker, who is in charge of the German government's rubber control, to come to this country and secure rubber for Germany. Mrs. Dekkers is a native of Holland with whom Jaeger became acquainted on his trip across the Atlantic. The plan was for her to make trips to Holland carrying rubber as personal baggage. Four and a half tons of crude rubber were procured through the Guayule agency, of which Richard Wohlberg is the head and on Nov. 27 Mrs. Dekker took passage on the Ryndam bound for Rotterdam. She had four trunks and eight packing cases filled with crude rubber. The customs authorities acting on information given by British agents held up Mrs. Dekker's baggage and she was not permitted to sail. Jaeger and Wohlberg are naturalized citizens and Schmidt has taken out his first papers.

LOVE'S YOUNG DREAM IS SOON SHATTERED

Maud and Orval Dye Wear Out the Honeymoon in Five Weeks.

It was on October 23, last year, that Maud L. Omspacher permitted herself to be led to the altar by Orval Dye, and it was just five weeks later, wanting one day—towit, November 29—that the short-lived honeymoon completely waned and love's young dream was shattered. Orval refused to provide his bride a home or to furnish her with the necessaries of life, was jealous of her, swore at her, threatened to strike her and by his negligence compelled her to go out to toil to obtain money wherewith to keep herself. This is set forth and alleged in a complaint for divorce just filed in the superior court by Mrs. Dye through Attorneys Macbeth & Hogg. She says she fears her husband will do her harm and asks an order of court to restrain him.

Claim Docket Called Thursday.

Judge John W. Eggeman gave notice Monday that on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock the claim docket in the circuit court will be called. All cases of claims for which no appearance of counsel is made at that time will be dismissed and others will be set for hearing.

Notes of the Courts.

The superior court has granted a divorce to Frances Long from Lloyd Long, giving her the custody of a child four years old and ordered the defendant to pay $12 a month for the little one's support.

In the suit of George W. Richart vs. Arthur Brase, et al., on an automobile lien, the superior court has found for the plaintiff against the defendant Brase for $103.42 and ordered an automobile in the possession of Ray McAdams, receiver, to be sold.

In the case of the state ex-rel. Bertha M. Turner vs. Clarence Birely for contempt, the superior court discharged the defendant, who had been cited to appear and show cause Monday morning. Birely showed that there was cause. Mrs. Turner is Birely's former wife, having procured a divorce.

TWO AUTOS DAMAGED IN A SINGLE CRASH

An automobile belonging to Coony Bayer, of the Coony Bayer Cigar company, and an auto truck belonging to the B. McKinley Trucking company were both damaged—the Bayer car quite seriously—Monday when a street car struck the Bayer car on East Superior street and sent it crashing into the McKinley truck, which was parked on the north side of the street opposite the G. E. Bursley company building. The driver of the Bayer car was turning out for the McKinley truck when the street car dashed into it. No one was hurt.

Our Great Overcoat Sale

Is Drawing More People Every Day

Our "endless chain" is working. Every Overcoat we sell, sells us one or two more. John Smith buys an Isaac Carr Melton silk lined Overcoat for $28 that would cost him $50 in any other store in the state. He shows it to his neighbor and sells him one like it. He can't get away from the great value and so our sale grows. Advertising and good salesmen may catch a man once, but courteous treatment, efficient service, and Patterson-Fletcher Co. values, are the magnets that keep him coming, keep him sounding the praises of this store.

Our second floor is crowded with fine silk lined hand tailored Overcoats that we know are being sold at 25 to 50 per cent. less than you can find them in any other store. We have a magnificent assortment for you to choose from, probably twice as many as you can find in all other stores in Fort Wayne. "This is the store that does things." AGAIN NAMES LOUIS FOX TO PARK BOARD

Mayor Hosey Reappoints Member Who Has Been in One Term.

Louis Fox on Monday received from Mayor William J. Hosey his commission as a member of the Fort Wayne board of park commissioners for a term of four years from January 1, 1916. Mr. Fox already has served four years, having been appointed to the board by Mayor Jesse Grice to succeed Joseph M. Singmaster, who declined a reappointment. Mr. Fox has made an excellent member of the board and it has been during his service that some of the larger and more far-reaching plans of the board for the creation of the park and driveway system have been developed. The law provides that a member of the park board shall be appointed each year before the first of February and that his term shall begin the first of the month previous.

LOUIS FOX,
Reappointed by Mayor Hosey to Membership on Fort Wayne Park Board.

CREMATORY MAN IS HERE.

J. F. Boulger, of the Morse Boulger Destructor company, of New York, came to Fort Wayne Monday to confer with Mayor W. J. Hosey and the board of works relative to the proposal submitted by his company for the construction of the new garbage crematory in Fort Wayne. Mr. Boulger went over the plans and explained them carefully to the city officials. This company has done an immense amount of crematory construction for the United States government at army posts, navy yards and other federal establishments. The board still has the plans under consideration, but is eliminating some of the proposals received two weeks ago, when nine concerns bid for the work.

MORE TRAFFIC DUMMIES.

The satisfactory results had from the "dummy traffic cop" placed some days ago at Harrison and Berry streets has moved Chief of Police Lenz to ask the board of safety to procure similar devices for the intersections of Harrison and Wayne streets and Harrison and Baker streets.

The clinics will continue for two days, in which some of the leading surgeons of the country will take part. That Dr. Macbeth should be selected as one of the surgeons to take part in the dedication of the new hospital is no small honor.

BUSINESS OF THAWING PIPES.

While endeavoring to thaw out some frozen water pipes in the basement of the residence of Mrs. Fay Ramsey, 918 Monroe street, the woodwork in the house was set on fire. The loss amounted to $25. The department answered the call at 10:57 o'clock Monday morning.

Announcement is made by Chairman Stults, of a meeting of republican workers of both city and county to be held next Saturday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the assembly room of Anthony hotel. Several speakers will be present.

A street railway in a hilly section of Rome wets its rails with running water.

fire was at its heighth just about the time the first street cars are taken out of the Holman street barns. Hose was stretched across Calhoun street from the hydrant at Holman and Calhoun streets to the burning building, which is located on the east side of Calhoun street, holding up most of the cars until after 6 o'clock. It was not until late in the morning that the cars on any of the lines throughout the city were able to resume regular schedule.

Since the cold weather there has been a very noticeable decrease in the number of jitney busses and there were very few on the job early Monday morning. Those who are compelled to report for work at 7 o'clock had no other alternative but to walk and consequently there were large numbers who were late.

Conducted Place Four Months.

Lebamoff brothers have owned the restaurant at 1323 South Calhoun street for the past four months. However, the room has been occupied by a restaurant almost since the building was erected. Lebamoff brothers also conduct a general store at 1430 Hanna street. When asked Monday morning what he thought caused the blaze one of the brothers replied: "I don't know anything about it." The origin is very much a mystery, which Assistant Chief Jasper was unable to solve. The fire had too much of a start when first discovered for the patrolman to determine whether it originated in the rear or the front of the room.

Many Hardships Experienced.

The outstanding feature of the fire was the hardships experienced by the firemen. Those handling the hose probably suffered the most from the extreme cold. At the time the firemen were fighting the flames the government thermometer stood eight below zero, the coldest morning that has been experienced in this section this winter, and the first time the mercury has gone below the zero mark.

Mrs. W. S. Morris, who owns the building in which the fire occurred, did not know that her property had been damaged until told by a Sentinel reporter, who was seeking information.

Left Gas Burning.

When the night man closed the restaurant Sunday night he is said to have left the fire burning in one of the burners of the stove under a pan of grease. The disastrous fire may be attributed to this, as no other cause can be assigned. A thorough investigation is being made by the fire chief.

NO ESCORT WAS NEEDED

Watson a personal passport and that the Carranza immigration authorities in Juarez gave a general passport for the whole Watson party. These developments are taken to point to responsibility of the Carranza government for not adequately protecting the Americans.

State department officials indicated, however, that they did not consider the advices being fully sufficient to determine the responsibility of the Carranza government and further investigation will be made.

The Official Advices.

The state department gave out this paraphrase of its official advices from El Paso: Holmes, the only survivor of the massacre, has no knowledge as to whether Watson and his companions requested a military escort or guard for their trip from Chihuahua to Cusihuiriachic. He states that if they did so, the authorities declined to furnish an escort or guard. Holmes says all the members of the party felt safe in making the trips.

"It is reported by a person connected with one of the companies operating in Chihuahua that on the day the Americans started for the works he had a conversation with Watson and asked him if a Mexican escort was to accompany him and his party. Watson replied that such an escort would not accompany them as he had talked with the authorities and they told him it was not necessary.

Turk Army Is Given Second Defeat Within Few Days.

London, Jan. 17.—Announcement was made in the house of commons today that the Turkish forces in Mesopotamia have fallen back to within six miles of Kut-el-Amara.

The announcement was made by J. Austen Chamberlain, secretary for India, who said the Turks had retreated as the result of another British victory. The Turkish positions at Waddi, he said, were carried on Saturday by the British.

This is the second defeat for the Turks in Mesopotamia the last few days, according to British reports. It was announced in London that the Turks had been beaten at Orah on the Tigris, 25 miles below Kut-el-Amara, and were in retreat.

The attack is being made by the army of Gen. Aylmer, which is advancing in an attempt to form a junction with the original British expedition, under Gen. Townshend, which is now at Kut-el-Amara.

Extinguished the Blazes.

While the son ministered to his injured mother, who was later removed to the Lutheran hospital, Mr. Leuscher was busily engaged in extinguishing the small fires in the kitchen and in turning off the water and gas connections. However, before he was able to get the water pressure shut off the cellar was flooded. The stove was blown to bits. Monday morning Mr. Leuscher found a fragment of the stove in the diningroom lying on the window casing.

With the report from the hospital that his wife will get better and that there is a chance for the recovery of her eyesight, Mr. Leuscher feels that the outcome of the accident has been very lucky. That no one was more seriously injured by flying pieces of iron seem miraculous to him.

A physician was immediately summoned and Mrs. Leuscher was rushed to the Lutheran hospital where her injuries were attended. She was resting much easier late Monday afternoon.

Out of the Ruts

This store is not content to follow in the footsteps of others. It believes it should open up new paths and cut away the underbrush from the old ones. Therefore it is constantly "blazing the way" to a better store service.

The longer one stays in a rut, the harder it is to get out, and we know and you know that the "easy way" to do things is to travel in that self-same rut right straight along. By developing our resources through new paths of endeavor we make the store more truly helpful. So, despite the temptation to stay in the "same old rut" we are ever blazing new paths here.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Psalm 138:1-8.

1 I will praise thee with my whole heart: before the gods will I sing praise unto thee.

2 I will worship toward thy holy temple, and praise thy name for thy loving kindness and for thy truth: for thou hast magnified thy word above all thy name.

3 In the day when I cried thou answered me, and strengthenedst me with strength in my soul.

4 All the kings of the earth shall praise thee, O Lord, when they hear the words of thy mouth.

5 Yea, they shall sing in the ways of the Lord: for great is the glory of the Lord.

6 Though the Lord be high, yet hath he respect unto the lowly: but the proud he knoweth afar off.

7 Though I walk in the midst of trouble, thou wilt revive me; thou shalt stretch forth thine hand against the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall save me.

8 The Lord will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O Lord, endureth for ever: forsake not the works of thine own hands.

Judge Eichhorn on Court Reforms.

Doubtless there are very few men occupying the bench in Indiana courts who do not have brought to their attention daily the pressing need for court reforms. Bound rigidly in procedure by ironclad forms and regulations and practices handed down unchanged through more than half a century, which take no account of new conditions, advance in method or thought, and forced to adhere to a set and fixed program that has long since become antiquated and out of date, these presiding judges chafe helplessly against a system which they fully realize is not only inadequate but which robs the courts of many functions which it might perform in serving the interests of justice and in the expeditious handling of the business that comes before them.

None either is so well qualified to speak on this matter as is the judge whose experience has brought him day after day face to face with its delinquencies. For that reason an address delivered before the Indianapolis Saturday Lunch club by Judge W. H. Eichhorn, of Bluffton, is entitled to particular consideration. Judge Eichhorn argued forcefully and definitely for some very definite reforms in judicial procedure in Indiana, and a report of his address says that "many of the reforms advocated were of a fundamental nature such as increasing the number of judges of the supreme court, abolishing the appellate court, districting counties so as to allow more than one circuit court in the same county, reforming the jury system by abolishing unanimity of verdict and by annulling the provision that jurors in criminal cases should be the judges of the law, fixing qualifications for lawyers, changing tenure and method of selecting of judges, etc."

Having cited the delays, the technicalities and the inadequacies of the present court system, Judge Eichhorn offered as the very best, if not the only remedy, a new constitution through a non-partisan convention, for the reason that the changes needed are largely of a constitutional character and can be secured only through complete constitutional revision. Important and desirable as the suggested changes are, they still constitute but a fraction of the sum total of excellent reasons why Indiana should have a constitution suited to the needs of 1916 rather than those of the days of the 50's.

In a decision by Judge Jacob F. Denney, at Portland, the Indiana state fire marshal law has been held constitutional insofar as it involves the power given the state official to order the wrecking of dilapidated buildings which are considered fire menaces, and while the case may be carried to the higher court, the Portland decision constitutes no small victory for the fire marshal. It is said, also, that the particular point involved has never yet been decided by a higher court, but it is so vital to the effectiveness of any fire marshal law whatever that if anybody is disposed to attack it there public interest dictates action without delay. The fire marshal either has or hasn't authority to order the removal of buildings which he believes jeopardize surroundings because of their liability to fire. Until the law is held unconstitutional, at least, he will continue to enforce his mandates in this direction.

General Carranza's order that the Mexican bandits who slaughtered American mining men be promptly executed "without formality" is all well and good, but it's going to be necessary to first catch your bandits. The offer of a good, stiff reward for the murderers, dead or alive, would doubtless prove more effective as an inspiration in hunting them down than all the other proclamations the first chief can issue. He can add to the impressiveness of his promises of satisfaction to the United States by putting upon the heads of the guilty men a price that will be more effective than patriotism just now in that war-torn land.

Petitions on file with the board of public works in which property-owners ask for the paving of forty-five streets in Fort Wayne this year, make it apparent that there is to be no lull in improvement of this character. It is much to be hoped the city will find itself in financial position to care for its share of the work, since property-owners are anxious to assume the heavier portion of the burden. Fort Wayne already has a reputation as a finely-paved city. It is gratifying to know that it is to have no halt in the march forward—and street paving constitutes no unimportant item in the general scheme of progress.

For the additional reason that it would provide a reserve supply of trained aviators in connection with the preparedness program, Dr. Alexander Graham Bell is urging the creation of aerial mail routes, but it is to be regretted that in his suggestions he has somehow overlooked the Fort Wayne-Indianapolis aerial mail route, which was among the very first to be advocted, but which somehow dropped out of sight after it had made a most promising stir while it did claim public attention.

In an effort to halt the inroads into the New strength which it is perfectly clear Mr. Watson has made in his recent drive through the Twelfth district, the New following is bringing Hon. Charles A. Bookwalter to Fort Wayne to tell republicans why Capt. New should be nominated for United States senator. It is beginning to be apparent that trench fighting will be the next resort in this crool, crool warfare.

PROBLEM OF RECREATION.

(New York Press.)

Of all phases of modern city life the problem of recreation lies in a field which has been least explored. When an investigator figures that in a city of fairly good size each individual has about five hours in which he neither sleeps nor works, and that in that time each person spends for recreation at the rate of 2 cents an hour on the average for the five hours, the calculation is necessarily largely guesswork.

But taking the figures to be as nearly accurate as can be reached and applying them to New York city they produce the result that today, tomorrow and every day the population of this town, not counting the visitors, is going to spend half a million dollars for recreation.

The civic expert who made the computation proves one point, even if the accuracy of his figures be assailed, and that point is that there is a profound economic effect from this five hours of spare time you and your neighbor have in a day.

Couple with this the recent statement of Governor Brumbaugh, of Pennsylvania, that most crimes are committed, and that the police is largely made necessary by the activities of a city's population during these five hours, and you add another economic problem to that of the other expenditure.

In other words, you not only pay a certain amount daily for amusement, but you also must pay, in supporting asylums, hospitals and jails, for the unwise use to which some of your fellow-men have put their leisure time.

Many cities have reached the point where the necessity for playgrounds and parks for children is recognized. Few have yet appreciated the fact that the grownup often needs an opportunity for the right sort of amusement or he will choose the wrong sort and the community will have to pay the piper.

All this is not a question of reform or "uplift." The question of proper recreation in crowded centers of population is the hardest kind of business problem in cold dollars and cents.

RECALLS AQUEDUCT DAYS.

Carthage, Mo., Jan. 12.—To the Editor of The Sentinel:—I was very much interested in your story of the Old Aqueduct club and the old aqueduct days. My father helped build the aqueduct and lived with Major Lewis. I do miss the name of Sam L——. My father entered eighty acres of land on the Six Mile creek near New Haven, soon after coming to Fort Wayne where I was born in 1844. Father improved and sold this farm to a Mr. Good, who was a saddler in Fort Wayne, in 1847. He then moved to an 80-acre place adjoining that of Samuel Hanna, first president of the Pittsburg road. This farm lay on the south side of Pontiac street and included Weisser park on the extreme south. The aqueduct was too far over for me as you see—we were on Hanna street—but I sure had my share of the canal, in swimming, in skating and the old game of "Shinny-on-your-own-side."

I recall several of the names of members of the club as school-fellows at the Fort Wayne Academy—Irving's school—in the middle of the fifties, especially the name of the man who played the piano solo at the reunion, Mr. McCulloch. Father came to Fort Wayne the year The Sentinel was established—1833—and was always a subscriber to both it and the Times as far back as I can remember until we moved in 1858 and rambled a great deal. We came to Missouri where at 17 years of age I enlisted, serving in the Sixth Missouri M. S. M. cavalry. Yours respectfully,

THOMAS H. PUGH.

"CASCARETS" FOR HEADACHE, COLDS, LIVER, BOWELS

Enjoy life! Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy and constipated.

Get rid of bad breath, sour stomach, coated tongue, indigestion.

Get a 10-cent box now.

They're fine! Cascarets liven your liver, clean your thirty feet of bowels and sweeten your stomach. You eat one or two, like candy, before going to bed and in the morning your head is clear, tongue is clean, stomach sweet, breath right and cold gone. Get a box from your druggist and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Cascarets stop sick headache, biliousness, indigestion, bad breath and constipation.

Mothers should give a whole Cascaret to cross, bilious, sick, feverish children any time. They are harmless and never gripe or sicken.—Advertisement.

HOT WATER THE BEST LIVER AND BOWEL MEDICINE

Says glass of hot water before Breakfast washes poisons from System.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.—Advertisement.

FAVOR MILITARY TRAINING.

Prominent Alumni of Franklin College Wish It Established There.

Franklin, Ind., Jan. 17.—The question of re-establishing military training at Franklin college, after a lapse of nearly twenty-five years, is receiving consideration as a result of the preparedness campaign. No action on the proposed movement has been taken thus far by the college's board of directors, but many prominent alumni of the institution are advocating it strongly. Dr. E. A. Hanley, president of the college, has issued the following statement:

"While I am not prepared strenuously to advocate required military training in our colleges and universities, I see no great evil which would follow from this requirement. On the other hand, I believe much good would ensue. It is probable that military training would bring better all-around development to our young men than is now obtained. If war should come, those who have enjoyed the greatest benefits from the country should lead in its defense. While if war does not come and if armies are to be converted into a police force, none could discharge this responsibility more acceptably than college men. I do not think that military training in college would have any tendency to incite war."

A majority of the members of the faculty are said to be in sympathy with the movement.

DR. GEISEL WILL BE HERE THIS WEEK

Famous Woman Lecturer to Deliver Series of Lectures.

Much interest is being manifested in the series of lectures to be given in Fort Wayne, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday by Dr. Carolyn Geisel, under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher clubs of the city.

The lectures will be given in the largest school auditoriums in the city. The patrons of the north side schools, including the Adams, Bloomingdale, Clay, Franklin, Harmar, Jefferson, Lakeside, McCulloch, Nebraska, Rudisill and Washington grade schools will no doubt find it most convenient to attend the lectures at the high school Thursday night and at the Bloomingdale school Friday afternoon, though they are asked to attend the southside lectures if they wish.

The patrons of the south side schools, including the Hamilton, Hanna, Hoagland, Miner, South Wayne and James H. Smart schools, will find it convenient to attend the lectures Wednesday night at the James H. Smart school and Thursday afternoon at the Hanna school, though many from these districts may wish to attend the north side meetings, too.

High school patrons will attend the Friday evening meeting at the high school. Others who wish may attend these meetings also.

People who never heard Dr. Geisel cannot realize what an opportunity has been brought to them. Dr. Geisel has been brought here at great expense, but the Parent-Teacher clubs of the city will pay the bill, and they are giving the public free lectures. It shows a very magnanimous and laudable spirit upon the part of the clubs. Fort Wayne people should rise to the occasion, and let nothing keep them away from these lectures, and thus show Dr. Geisel and the clubs their appreciation in addition to gaining much of practical value and an inspiration for themselves.

The program for the week follows:

Wednesday evening, Jan. 19, 8:00 o'clock—James H. Smart school, corner E. Pontiac and Smith streets.

Thursday afternoon, Jan. 20, 3:00 o'clock—Hanna school, corner S. Lafayette and Williams streets.

Thursday evening, Jan. 20, 8:00 o'clock—High school auditorium, corner E. Lewis and Barr streets.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

MONTPELIER CONCERN IN COURT.

Receiver Appointed for Jackson Shovel and Tool Works.

Hartford City, Ind., Jan. 17.—Charles H. Morse, of Montpelier, formerly of this city, was appointed receiver of the Jackson Shovel & Tool Works, of Montpelier, late Friday evening, when a special session of court was held in the office of County Clerk S. J. Farrell. Morse was placed under a personal bond of $5,000 to guarantee the correct use of the receivership. The complaint, which was filed by the H. Channon Manufacturing company, of Chicago, asks for judgment on first mortgages held by the plaintiff and the sale of the properties of the company unless these judgments are paid. In an attached affidavit, Willis Melville, Chicago attorney, who appeared for the plaintiff in the case, alleged that the assets of the defendant company were being wasted and petitioned for the immediate appointment of a receiver. In the complaint it is also set out that the Jackson Shovel & Tool works was established December 1, 1904. Bonds in the amount of $20,000 were given the First Trust & Savings company of Chicago, the complaint continues, which company later sold $15,000 worth of these bonds to the H. Channon company, who also received a first mortgage on the plant of the Jackson Shovel & Tool works at that time.

ENLARGING THE CEMETERY.

Kendallville, Ind., Jan. 17.—The Lake View Cemetery association has just closed an important deal in the purchase of the hundred-acre farm just across the highway on the west and opposite the cemetery, for a consideration of $15,000. In view of the fact that the association has but 159 vacant lots in the present cemetery, and with the rate the city is growing, the members deemed it advisable to purchase additional territory. The purchase of the farm will hence settle for an indefinite period into the future where Kendallville and vicinity will bury its dead. It is the plan of the association to plot off a new cemetery, by planting trees and laying out lots.

SAVE LITTLE SKATERS LIFE.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 17.—Helen Baumgartner, 12, a daughter of Homer Baumgartner, broke through the thin ice that had formed over the old Starr quarry in the Wabash river while coasting Saturday afternoon and was saved from drowning only by the prompt action of Dr. Charles Landfair, who was attracted to the scene by screams of the girl and two companions of her own age.

BORN IN COUNTY 70 YEARS AGO.

Decatur, Ind., Jan. 17.—George W. Brown, one of the oldest pioneers of Adams county, died here of tuberculosis, after an illness of a year. He was born in this county April 14, 1846, and was a shoemaker by trade. He is survived by two children and several brothers and sisters.

BLUFFTON GIRL A BRIDE.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 17.—The marriage of Miss Dacie Margaret Scott, daughter of Sylvanus Scott, and Luther Edward Lacey, son of Jerome Lacey, took place this afternoon at the parsonage of the First M. E. church, the Rev. W. T. Arnold officiating. The couple live near Petroleum.

WOMAN OF BLUFFTON DIES.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 17.—Mrs. John North, 58, died Saturday at 2:05 o'clock at her home in this city, after a prolonged illness from Bright's disease. Surviving are her husband and three children.

URGES AERO MAIL ROUTES.

Would Provide Trained Aviators for War, Says Mr. Bell.

New York, Jan. 17.—Dr. Alexander Graham Bell has appealed to the Aero Club of America to urge upon congress the establishment of aerial mail routes wherever possible throughout the United States. He argues that this step would bring into daily use large numbers of aeroplanes which would form a valuable reserve of trained aviators in case of war.

At the next meeting the governors of the aero club will consider plans for establishing the first forty-three aeroplane mail routes suggested by the postoffice department. Some of the routes proposed where an aeroplane could carry mail in less time than is required by other methods are from Albany to Lake Placid, from Sag Harbor to New London and from Key West to Havana.

POLICE SALARIES RAISED.

City Controller, of Anderson, However, Refuses to Pay Increases.

Anderson, Ind., Jan. 17.—W. C. Richter, city controller, has refused to allow an increase in salaries to John W. Mountain, chief of police; W. H. Dunn, city court bailiff, and E. B. Northcutt, police lieutenant. Until Dunn submitted the pay roll only a few persons knew that the police board had passed resolutions to increase the salary of Mountain from $105 to $125 a month. The same resolution granted an increase of $10 to Dunn and $5 to Northcutt.

The increased salary of Mountain, the controller says, would exceed the annual limit for a police chief in a city of the third class. He also asserts there is no appropriation for increase of salaries. The councilmen opposed any change in the salaries of the three officers. No explanation was made as to why the increases were proposed by the police board.

MAY BE LOVE FEAST; POSSIBLY MASSACRE

Gilson Gardner Discusses Some Possibilities at Chicago.

By Gilson Gardner.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Roosevelt has not been eliminated as a candidate by the olive branch proceedings at Chicago. I have just returned from Chicago where I witnessed the proceedings of the progressive party national committee, and I feel I can say that the committee's statement does not mean that.

Indeed, anyone reading it carefully will see it means exactly the reverse. This statement insists that a platform be adopted with the main emphasis on Americanism and national defense. It also insists that a candidate be chosen who will be known by his character and his record as fitted to carry out this platform. The Standpat republicans immediately reply suggesting Burton and McCall. Neither of these would do. They would not satisfy the progressive group which met in Chicago and they would not satisfy the progressive convention which will meet there June 7. This statement is made with entire confidence in its absolute accuracy and authority. I talked to practically every committeeman in Chicago and to all the members who had a part in framing the committee statement, and I know what they intended to express and what they intended not to express.

Efforts in Washington and New York to make it appear that the progressives have abandoned the idea that Roosevelt may be nominated by the republicans do not take account of the real intentions of the progressive committee which met in Chicago. They fail to note the following facts:

(1) That a convention is to be held in Chicago by the progressive party with 1,000 delegates and many progressives present who will not be delegates;

(2) That this convention will be held regardless of any program made by the regular republican party for its convention or nominee;

(3) That there will be two conventions held which will be either harmonious, or the opposite, according as the republicans adopt a platform and name a candidate acceptable to the progressives.

Should the republicans names a Burton or a McCall, the progressives will go on and name Roosevelt on a platform as outlined by the committee in Chicago. Should the republicans name Roosevelt, Cummins or Hughes, the progressives would undoubtedly endorse, and the whole affair would be a love feast. The issue is perfectly clearcut and plain. There need be no room for misunderstanding. The progressives have not "gone back." There is to be no party "amalgamation." The two parties are to be maintained in their separate entity—national, state and county, and even city. The only question is whether the two parties will name the same candidate for president and adopt the same national platform.

In short, the regular republicans, in noting the extension of the olive branch, must not overlook the fact that in the other hand is a sawed-off shotgun.

It may be a love feast or it may be a massacre.

This Investment Pays Health Dividends

—And it's handy at your Grocer's.

The average man or woman seldom considers health value seriously until doctor bills have to be paid.

If asked the cause of most physical ills, the majority of doctors would likely say, "wrong living," which includes wrong eating—food that is lacking in certain elements essential to health.

The famous pure food—

Grape-Nuts

is made of whole wheat and malted barley, and supplies all the rich nutriment of the grains, scientifically processed to retain their mineral values—phosphate of potash, etc.—so necessary in the balanced upkeep of every part of the body.

Grape-Nuts is ready to eat direct from the package; is easy to digest; has delicious flavour, and with cream or good milk is a well-balanced food.

Health from right living is the finest possible dividend, and to those who have it all things are possible.

Society

A brilliant event in society circles was the auction party given at the Commercial club this afternoon by Mrs. William H. Dreier and her daughters, Mrs. Edward Gilmartin and Misses Frances and Alma Dreier. The ladies received in the salon where a tall basket of carnations of vivid color mingled with narcissus made a welcome note of beauty. Auction was played in the ballroom where many luxurious made the room homelike and comfortable while curtained alcoves in green, walls hung in southern smilax and many palms between which glimmered now and then a bright light of an electric stove, placed temporarily to counteract the unusual severity of the weather, combined to make for beauty and comfort. Tables to the number of fifty were arranged for the game and a number of guests arrived for the supper who did not take part in the card playing. Mrs. C. A. Horton and Mrs. May S. Skinner played during the supper hour. Assisting in tallying the games were Mrs. H. J. Bowerfind, Mrs. Frank Bohn, Mrs. C. M. Niezer, Miss Marcelline Gerow, Miss Ruth Evans and Miss Alice Knight. Touches of pink appeared in the appointments of the supper and elegance characterized the entire affair. Visiting guests included Miss Edna Heaton, of Indianapolis; Miss Beuret, of Joliet, Ill., and Miss Desdelora Stevens, of Owosso, Mich.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell in "Pygmalion" Wednesday.

"Pygmalion," in which Mrs. Patrick Campbell will appear in this city, has been given in Germany, in Austria, in Denmark and in Russia; but, though, as is generally known, the play was performed in English, it was for Mrs. Campbell that the play was written, and in Bernard Shaw's opinion it is Mrs. Campbell alone who can do it justice.

"How did Mr. Shaw come to see in you whom we know best as Paula Tanqueray, or as Magda, the ideal impersonator of Eliza Doolittle, the cockney flower girl?" Mrs. Campbell was recently asked.

"I think it must have been his idea of a joke," was Mrs. Campbell's reply. "He wanted to make fun of a tragic actress, but I am not sure that he has had the last laugh, for though the tragic actress found the part very hard work—if very interesting work—the public has managed to put up with her performance several hundreds of times. "The Newlyweds and Their Baby" at the Majestic Thursday.

Warmly endorsed by theater-goers all over the country, the latest bid for patronage is the successful musical play, or comedy with music, as perhaps better describes the attraction "The Newlyweds and Their Baby," announced to appear at the Majestic on Thursday matinee and night.

This company has had a very prosperous existence. It is said to be entirely new and novel in treatment, entirely free from the taint of vulgarity or suggestiveness. The characters of Mr. and Mrs. Newlywed and their wonderful offspring, Napoleon, are new to the stage, although well known to lovers of cartoon pictures.

Griffiths Mighty Spectacle Marks the Birth of a New Art.

Next Monday night will begin an engagement of one week at the Majestic theater of D. W. Griffith's epoch-making spectacle which has revolutionized the theater. In all of the large centers of population, and also in the smaller cities, "The Birth of a Nation" is pleasing vast multitudes of observers. It has been enjoyed by over five million people.

There are panoramic battle scenes of grandeur, thrilling night rides of the Ku Klux Klan, historical episodes like the surrender of Lee to Grant and the assassination of President Lincoln, the home-life of the south during and after the civil war and a double love story of surpassing interest and charm. The magnitude of the spectacle is almost beyond belief. Such theatrical productions as "Ben Hur" and "The Blue Bird" seem infinitesimal in comparison.

The sale of seats will open at the box office of the theater Thursday morning and in the meantime mail orders accompanied by remittances will receive the most careful and prompt attention.

Edgar D. Eward, manager of the Consumers' Ice company, was called to Converse Monday morning on account of the illness of his mother, who is 78 years old.

AT KEITH PALACE

JUST FOR THE FUN OF IT.

New Palace Bill Constructed After Laugh Designs.

The New Palace bill for the first portion of the week is constructed with designs on the short ribs of the audiences, for it will have them aching before the show is thirty minutes old. It's all for the fun of it, as there isn't a really serious act on the entire program. They are all the same sort of hilarious comedy turns as Dan Sherman's famous "Jay Circus," with its irascible ringmaster, gullible hicks collapsing bleachers and funny clowns. Sherman's "sprinkler" still is getting the laughs, while the comedy elicited from the remarkable resemblance of the two rubes is howlingly funny. The act has been fitted with new drops, with the one depicting the outside of the circus tent an interesting flash.

Phil Roy and Roy Arthur's "Fun in a Dining Car" is an absurdity with plenty of snap to it. The clumsy attempts of the comedian to emulate the tricks of the straight man in juggling dishes results in fifteen minutes of fun and a general demolishment of everything in sight. The target shooting turn is not entirely new in the idea but it's new the way the old idea is worked out. The Melnotte Twins, a team of clever girls, are singing some character songs in a new way. Their interpretation of the song, "The Great River Route," with one of them simulating an inexperienced drunk, and the Charlie Chaplin imitation are decidedly classy. Burnham and Irwin's song sketch at the piano is a means for introducing two clever artists to Fort Wayne. Miss Burnham at the piano is a clever comedienne and evidences it best in her song about her too rapid acquirements of plumpness. Nip and Tuck, one of them a lean contortionist, open the show with a bunch of acrobatic absurdities.

AT THE TEMPLE.

Stock Players Appearing on Temple Vaudeville Bill.

George Ford and Mr. and Mrs. Morrell, of the Temple players, are on the Temple vaudeville bill for the first four days of this week in place of George Lovett and company, who failed to arrive on time for the opening of the show. A novelty new to this city is the boxing kangaroo, who goes three rounds with his sparring partner, and demonstrating that he can box. Will Fields has been seen here before but he returns this time with a new line of song and stories. Juggling Wilbur is a polished performer and his act rounds out a very entertaining little bill. Two performances every evening at 7:30 and 9 o'clock.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

HAS LOTS OF PUNCH.

"The Rack," at Orpheum, With Alice Brady, Possesses Startling Theme.

Alice Brady has a fine acting part in this photoplay, which has been directed by Mons. Emile Chautard, the celebrated French producer, who was responsible for "The Boss" and other notable World film offerings.

Blanche Gordon, although married, is indiscreet in her dallyings with men other than her husband, and she is trapped in what looks like suspicious circumstances, at a disreputable roadhouse in the company of a profligate man about town. The latter is killed by a pistol shot and Blanche is arrested and tried for the murder. The district attorney subjects her to a racking torture (hence the title of the play) and Blanche is pronounced guilty, when the real murderer, an enemy of the dead man, comes forward and avows his guilt of the deed.

Miss Anna Lyons, the popular young soprano singer, has became a member of the Golden Gate Trio at this theater and will appear with them for the first time today.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

MICE AND MEN.

Margurite Clark Best as Peggy at Jefferson.

Without exception the Jefferson is showing the best picture of the season in "Mice and Men," featuring the dainty star, Margurite Clark as Peggy.

The versatility of Marguerite Clark is well established in the minds of the thousands of the diminutive star's admirers, but even her most ardent protagonists will be surprised and delighted at the remarkable work which she does in this play tracing as it does the development of an uneducated foundling into a society butterfly—but not the brainless butterfly of the silly, simpering variety. She is a high-strung, delicate little soul whose charming naivete and deep sincerity win the love and admiration of all who behold her. It is one of the cleverest characterizations that Miss Clark has given the screen.

The last showings are today. Tomorrow only is offered "The Penitentes," featuring Orrin Johnson and Senna Owen. A romance of love and hate with New Mexican settings.

AT THE LYRIC.

"The Battle Cry of Peace" at Lyric a Wonderful Creation.

"The Battle Cry of Peace," a thrilling film production, showing what might happen to the United States if a foreign foe landed on our shores and urging preparedness against such a contingency, is the attraction at the Lyric theater five days this week. Already the play has been shown in the cities of New York, Chicago, Boston and Cleveland, where it has made a tremendous impression. A leading Boston newspaper had this comment to make on the play the morning after its initial appearance in the Hub city:

"The idea that 'power spells peace' was driven home with a will. The first part of the film is without doubt one of the most dramatic production ever given in this city. It showed the destruction of New York city by a hostile fleet whose 15-inch guns toppled building after building without being in range of the United States shore batteries. Thousands of persons were pictured running madly about as the bombardment continued, both from the sea and air.

A portion of the United States fleet, much smaller than the invaders, was seen in combat off the coast. One of the finest pitetures ever shown was the sinking of the two battleships, which had been driven in close to shore by the foreign fleet. Then came the landing of troops of Emanon (noname backward,) and what they did to the inhabitants. Men were torn from their home and shot by machine guns in front of a wall a short distance away. The invaders were shown attacking women and girls, choking them when they resisted.

GIVES ESTIMATE OF CHRIST.

Warren K. Voorhis, of Kokomo, Speaks at First Presbyterian Church.

Attorney Warren K. Voorhis, of Kokomo, who spoke at the Lyon tabernacle a year ago, gave an interesting address at the First Presbyterian church, Sunday evening before a large audience. He spoke on the subject, "A Lawyer's Estimate of Christ." The meeting was held under the auspices of the Men's club of the church.

The speaker brought out forcibly the point that when a man thinks of the divinity of Christ he must recognize that it has today the same message for the men without an education that it has for the cultured.

ICE SKATING NOT POPULAR HERE? WHAT!

The accompany pictures were snapped of an afternoon crowd at the Malloy ice skating rink at the ball park. Yesterday nearly a thousand paid admissions throughout the day proved the contention of Miss Irene Malloy, proprietor of the rink, that the sport would be popular here this winter.

Edward R. Fox, Long a Familiar Figure on City Market.

Edward R. Fox, one of the best known gardeners of Allen county who brought his produce to the Fort Wayne market, died at 11:20 o'clock Sunday night at his home on the Sand Point road in Wayne township at the age of 50 years.

EDWARD R. FOX.

He had been in failing health for the past two years but only bedfast for two months.

The deceased was born and reared in Allen county and was educated in the parochial schools of St. Paul's Catholic church. He was the son of the late Valentine Fox. Twenty-four years ago he was united in marriage to Mary Reinig, who survives him. He also leaves the following children: Leo Fox, of Fort Wayne; Aloysius, Herman, Carl and Donald Fox, at home; one brother, Albert Fox, of Wayne township, and five sisters—Mrs. Frank Minnich, Mrs. Charles Gebhardt, Mrs. Henry Sorg, Mrs. Frank Ankenbruck and Mrs. John Schnurr. The deceased was a member of St. Paul's Catholic church and of the School society of the same congregation.

Funeral services Thursday morning at 7:15 o'clock at the residence and at 9 o'clock at St. Paul's Catholic church; interment at the Catholic cemetery.

LIEDTKE.

John J. Lietdke, aged 75 years, a well known druggist of Fort Wayne, died at 5 o'clock Sunday evening at his home, 507 State street. Death followed a brief illness due to pneumonia. Mr. Lietdke was born in Berlin, Germany, but had resided in Fort Wayne for many years. He had resided in this country forty-five years.

Three years after coming to this country he came to Fort Wayne and accepted employment with the Wagner drug store and later with the Volmer drug store. Still later he became identified with the Meyer Drug company and continued with the latter for twenty-one years. He retired from active work nearly twenty-five years ago. He celebrated his golden wedding anniversary with his wife last October.

Besides the widow he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Louis Sievers, and three grandchildren. The deceased was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church.

YOUSE.

Oliver M. Youse, a native of Allen county, died Sunday afternoon at Baxter Springs, Kan., his home, according to a telegram received by his brother-in-law, David C. Stout, clerk of Allen county. The message contained no particulars. Mr. Youse was born near Hoagland and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Christian Youse. He was an oil driller by trade, and went to the Kansas fields fifteen years ago. He is survived by his wife and four children; five brothers, John S. Youse, of Hoagland; William, Nelson and Charles W. Youse, all of Allen county, and Edward Youse, of Markle, and three sisters, Mrs. Reason Clayton, of Monroeville, and Mrs. A. N. Houk and Mrs. D. C. Stout, of Fort Wayne, also survive him.

WEBER.

Mrs. Anastasia Weber, one of the oldest residents of Fort Wayne, died Saturday evening at the home of her son, Frank Weber, 2522 Oliver street, at the age of 85 years. She was born in Germany but came to this country in 1872. She had resided in Noble county until four months ago, when she came to this city to make her home with her son.

Two children survive her, Frank Weber and Joseph Weber, of Battle Creek, Mich. There are also eleven grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Funeral services Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the residence and at 9 o'clock at St. Peter's Catholic church.

GORDON.

The remains of William D. Gordon, an iron broker, who passed away in Peoria, Ill., Saturday, arrived in this city at 3:40 o'clock Monday afternoon and were taken to the home of the brother, D. D. Gordon, 129 East Leith street, where funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock and at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's Catholic church.

Mr. Gordon was a member of the Fort Wayne Elks, and is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Margaret Baker, of Fort Wayne; two sons, George and Robert, the mother, Mrs. Kathryn Gordon, of Peoria, and five brothers.

GRUBER.

Mrs. Vienna P. Gruber, aged thirty years the wife of William Gruber, a farmer of Springfield township, died Sunday evening at St. Joseph hospital following a surgical operation. She was a member of the Scipio M. E. church, and besides the husband is survived by the following children: Raymond, Herman, Alda, Vesta and Della Gruber; three sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Applegate, Miss Elma and Dora Hamm; three brothers, John, Anthony and Homer Hamm.

HEATER.

INDIANA LAW IS UPHELD.

Supreme Court Says Employers' Liability Act is Good.

Washington, Jan. 17.—Validity of the Indiana employers' liability was upheld today by the supreme court in approving a verdict of $12,000 recovered from the Vandalia railroad by Charles Stillwell, brakeman, for injuries.

WINTER MODES.

Little Hats, Wide Skirts and Lack of Fur Now Noted.

The little hat of midwinter is so stingily trimmed that the veil—the circular, sweeping veil has been called to the rescue. Even the young girls wear these face "curtains" that fall gracefully from the hat brim to the shoulder tip.

The scarlet velvet chapeau adds to the gaiety of the nation. It's a cap-like affair that sets high on the head and the only trimming is a "windfall" bow of scarlet velvet.

Skirts are spreading—also they are being tilted up above the shoe tops. When will Dame Fashion quit joking with us?

The smartest of the spring suits, so the modistes tell us, will be in checks, but not in the done-to-death black and white, nor shepherd plaid, but in shadow checks of blue and gray, green and brown and blue and similar combinations of color.

Fur is gradually giving way to braid—mohair or novelty weaves and it will be a rare suit that will be without braid ornamentation.

In proportion to population among cities in the United States, Cleveland has the greatest number of telephones and New Orleans the fewest.

Peat is being used as fertilizer in greater quantities in the United States—$350,000 worth in 1914, against $170,000 worth in 1913.

Ready-Made Sheets and Pillow Cases

Less Than Cost of Sheetings.

Time was when almost every woman made her own sheets and pillow cases. 'Twas then economy to do so; now it's rank extravagance. Why? Because factories can buy material away under what you would pay, and cutting and sewing by machinery in huge lots reduces cost of production to the minimum.

But all brands are not good brands. If we have it, it's the best or what we deem the best. Our kind are torn, not cut, neatly and strongly hemmed, and now offered at less than the sheetings cost by the yard.

STEIL AND M'CARTHY REALLY GOING UP

Purchase of Former Central Leaguers Announced by Quinn.

Bobby Quinn, of the Columbus American association club, announces the purchase of two Central leaguers who tried out with him last season. McCarthy, first sacker for Terre Haute last year, and Mel (Toughy) Steil, diminutive Grand Rapids shortstop for several seasons, are the men.

Another announcement of interest to local men made yesterday was the sale of Bubbles Hargraves by the Cubs to the Kansas City club. Bubbles is a New Haven boy, and broke into the baseball game there, trying out with Fort Wayne, going to Terre Haute, and then climbing.

CLAIMS BENCH BOSS IS BEST.

Joe Tinker, Cub manager, will play only in emergencies next season because, he says, a man cannot be a successful manager and player at the same time.

"I found while manager at Cincinnati that two jobs are too much," says Tinker. "I missed plays because I was paying attention to my pitcher or to some other matter. I have seen Frank Chance forget to cover first base when he had his mind on something else, and Fred Clarke quit playing to be a better manager.

"The managers who don't play win the most pennants."

WHOLE CAMPAIGN FOR TWO BITS

High Finance Lacking in British Fight Game.

Ted Lewis, the English fighter, says one of the things that surprised him most when he came to the United States was the admission charged for bouts and the number of rounds a spectator is allowed to see for his money.

In England Lewis says you can see sixty-nine rounds and sometimes 100 rounds for an admission of 25 cents. A show nearly always consists of a main bout of twenty rounds, a semi-final of fifteen rounds, two bouts of ten rounds each and six bouts of four rounds each.

On some occasions a tournament of fifteen bouts, each lasting three rounds, is provided in addition to the regular card. And the whole show can be seen for 25 cents. In the United States the prices range from $1 up for a main bout of from six to twenty rounds, with a few short prelims.

Tournaments are popular in England, according to Lewis. They are held every week or so, and it is in the tournaments that the English stars get their starts.

Lewis started boxing in tournaments when he was 16 years of age. He weighed 98 pounds. As he won his way through tournaments he was given better bouts, and finally fought for and won featherweight championship of England and Europe.

Lewis has been busier than any boxer in the country during the past two months, and is making so much money he plans to bring his father, mother and three sisters to the states to live.

WHY NOT "BEAMER?"

The Chicago Tribune says "Frank Bicemer is taking over the Fort Wayne team."

The ever accurate South Bend Tribune announces that "Frank Blehmar" has secured the franchise.

A Grand Rapids paper tells the waiting world that it is "Frank Beemer" who is turning things over here.

Such is fame for Mr. Biemer!

INDOOR PRACTICE BECOMES A FAD AMONG GOLFERS.

PHOTOS SHOW START AND FINISH OF DRIVING STROKE AS PRACTIC ED INDOORS IN COLD MONTHS.

Ice, snow and wintry blasts do not keep real golf fiends from improving their game.

The stunt of practicing indoors has become quite a fad and reached the point where thousands who showed lack of form or had trouble hitting the ball last season will look like professionals at the tee next season.

The big idea of indoor practice is to get a proper stance, form in swinging the driver and ability to hit the ball. The practice is of special benefit to women who seem to have more trouble than men in hitting the pill.

Two kinds of balls are made by the Spalding concern to make indoor practice like the real thing. One is made of wood, and the other of rubber, fastened to a small tee. The balls are so soft they will not do damage even if driven against a window pane.

Anyone with room enough to swing a club can secure valuable practice in the winter and have the edge on the golfer who chucks the clubs in a closet and waits until he can get onto the links before securing practice.

ACTIVE TURNERS TO MEET NEW HAVEN

The Turners meet the New Haven Sigma Kappa team here Tuesday night. Both teams are working hard for the game and both have all the confidence in the world. The Sigma Kappa crowd has one of the old Terre Haute stars under its wing, and the rivalry between the teams is rather acute. So acute, one might say, that meat axes would prove themselves worthy implements of settlement. So it will be a corking good game.

LYCEUMS MEET WINONA.

The St. Patrick's Lyceums meet the Winona five, another bunch of old rivals, at the Lyceum gym next Friday night. The Winona boys have been working together well and have had the benefit of excellent coaching. The game will be a peppery one.

ALLEGES "CURE IS A FAKE."

Purdue Agent Causes Arrest of Doctor Who Sold Hog Remedy.

Washington, Ind., Jan. 17.—Following an investigation made by D. B. Clark, of the veterinary department of Purdue university, Dr. W. F. Larimer, of Lyons, was arrested here charged with selling an alleged fake hog cholera cure called "appe tona." Mr. Clark says Dr. Larimer has established agencies at Elnora, Terre Haute, Bloomfield and Switz City for the distribution of his alleged cure. Mr. Clark further alleges that the cure has never passed the Purdue university test for hog cholera remedies, and one this ground the affidavit was filed.

According to the law a permit is required from Purdue university before hog cholera preventives or remedies can be legally sold in the state. Dr. Larimer's medicine has been sold to many farmers of Daviess and Greene counties, it is alleged.

Henry W. Roesener was found not guilty of harboring an untaxed dog by Justice of the Peace C. W. Rayhouser Saturday.

Big League Schedule Makers to Take Up Work at Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—The first meeting of the big league schedule makers will be held at Chicago Wednesday, Jan. 19, according to announcement by President Johnson. Johnson said Barney Dreyfus, of Pittsburg, and John Heidler would come here on that day to begin work on the 1916 card.

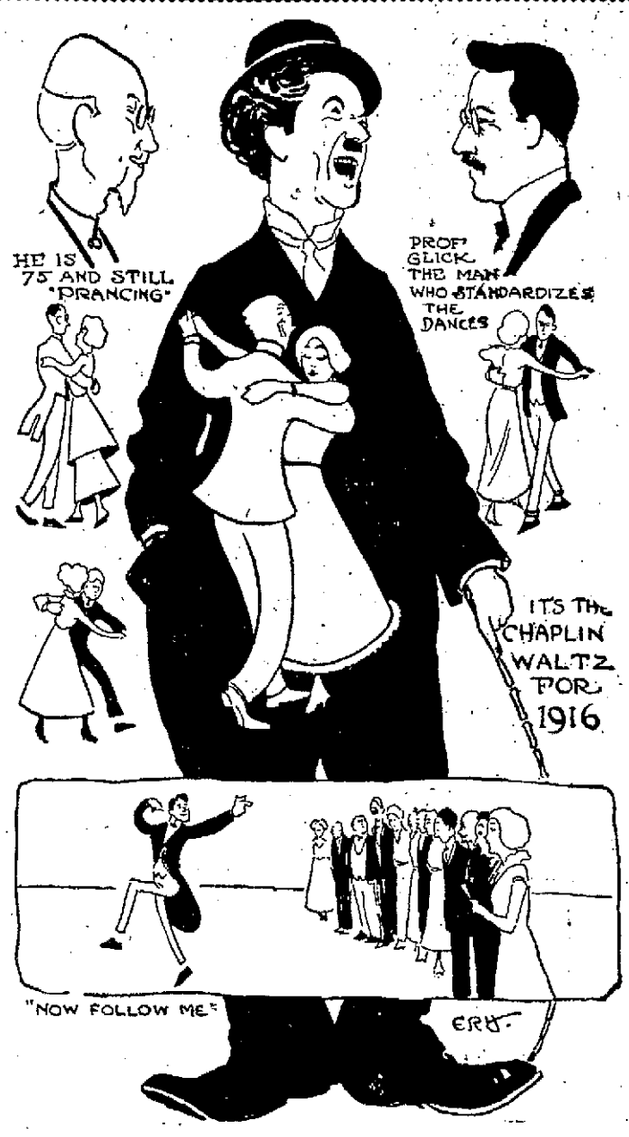
CHARLEY CHAPLAIN WALTZ NEWEST 1916 NOVELTY—HOW TO DANCE IT.



HE IS 75 AND STILL PRANCING
PROF GLICK THE MAN WHO STANDARDIZES THE DANCES
ITS THE CHAPLIN WALTZ FOR 1916
"NOW FOLLOW ME"
ERK

Well, it's come—the Charley Chaplin waltz!

Chaplin skirts, canes, candy and a hundred other things will be forgotten for the new dance, the one novelty to be seen in ballrooms in 1916.

It's a combination of what is called the "walk waltz" and it's not a bit vulgar. If it was the American National Association Masters of Dancing would not have approved it at their recent meetings in New York and Cleveland.

You'll be asked to dance it so you'd better prepare to learn. Here is the official description:

Part 1—Walk forward beginning with left foot 2 measures; balance forward and back, 2 measures; waltz forward, 2 measures; make quarter turn and step, draw twice (or two over Sal movements) 2 measures, then repeat all.

Part 2—Walk 4 steps forward in line of direction, 4 measures; waltz to left, 4 measures; walk two steps forward, make half turn to right and walk two steps back, 4 measures; waltz to right, 4 measures.

"Pa" Hawkins, of Mansfield, Ohio—75 years old and still prancing—was the first to give an exhibition of the Chaplin waltz when the dancing masters met in Cleveland.

When praised for his grace the old man replied:

"That's easy—just put your feet down soft like as if you were stepping on eggs."

Ease of motion instead of the slam, ban tango stuff will be the proper thing in ballrooms this year.

They've standardized the fox trot and the one-step and taken all the jerks and dips out of them. Prof. George W. Glick, of Cleveland, is the man who has made them safe, sane and simple.

If you can dance the 1916 standardized fox trot, you needn't worry about the others. Try it!

First, 8 slow walking steps, then 2 fast and 1 slow, then 2 two-steps turning and 2 more in line of direction, and the fourth figure is the "twinkle"—4 slow steps, balance forward and back, twinkle on last four steps.

Repeat all as long as your partner can stand up.

Outbursts of Everett True.

HOCKEY PUTS IN FIRST APPEARANCE HERE IN SEVERAL YEARS--GAME TUESDAY NIGHT

Hockey loomed over the horizon of the sport world here today when two teams, one composed of Bloomingdale boys and the other of young fellows from another part of town, engaged a space on the ice at the Malloy rink for tomorrow night. The ice surface is so large that a couple of games could be played and still leave plenty of safety zone for skaters. Hockey is bound to come back this winter, and surely ought to be almost if not wholly as popular as football.

A number of real teams are being organized, and a city championship tourney wouldn't be a bad idea later in the winter. Fort Wayne ought to be able to accommodate a dozen or more teams, and if the game once started there would surely be enough public interest to make it pay.

OPPOSES BASKETBALL.

New Owner of Boston Braves Fears Injury to Players.

Boston, Jan. 17.—Percy Haughton, president of the Boston Nationals, already has exercised his authority in disciplining players. Announcing himself as opposed to basketball playing by any members of the Braves because of the possibility of injury, he wrote personally to Walter Maranville cautioning him against taking part in indoor games. Maranville had stated his intention of joining a team which would include Janvyn of the Red Sox, Connelly of the Washingtons, Nunamaker of the New York Americans, and Reigh of the Providence Internationals.

H. M. MASON ANSWERS FINAL TRUMPET CALL

Henry M. Mason, father of Dr. M. A. Mason, of Fort Wayne, and a veteran of the civil war, responded to the call of the trumpet of death Sunday afternoon at his home in New Haven. Death came at the advanced age of 82 years, 1 month and 29 days, and followed an illness of over a year, although he had been bedfast only the past ten weeks.

In 1864 he enlisted in the 91st Indiana infantry, and was later transferred to the 124th. He remained in the service of his country until peace was declared and the armies disbanded. During his enlistment he was assigned to the commissary department. In 1869 he moved to New Haven and relocated his saw mill.

An inquest was held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the case of eleven-year-old George Baker, who broke through the ice and was drowned one block west of the Walton avenue bridge over the Maumee river, Friday evening. The inquest was to have been held Saturday afternoon, but owing to the illness of Wayne Paulson, the thirteen-year-old boy, living at 1600 East Wayne street, who also fell into the water, but was rescued, it was postponed.

Coroner J. E. McArdle conducted an inquest Saturday afternoon touching upon the death of Charles A. Myers, who was killed by a fall down the stairway to the Main street entrance of the Bank block Friday night. The coroner found that the cause of death was directly due to the dislocation of the neck.

EXPLOSION CAUSE IS NOT YET DETERMINED

Edison Batteries Did Not Cause Disaster on the Submarine E-2.

New York, Jan. 17.—The cause of the explosion in the hull of the submarine E-2 by which four men were killed and ten injured was still undetermined today. A board of investigation appointed by Admiral Usher continued its inquiry and was assisted by Rear Admiral Grant, who was ordered here from Philadelphia. It is expected this board will complete its inquiry today and will forward its findings to the navy department without making them public.

Three of the men injured by the explosion are in a serious condition in Brooklyn hospitals. They are Louis C. Miles, chief electrician; John Halsey, gunners' mate, and Guy H. Clark, jr., machinists' mate.

The Edison storage battery with which the E-2 was equipped was absolved from blame in a statement issued last night by Miller Reese Hutchison, chief engineer for Thomas A. Edison and a member of the naval advisory board. Mr. Hutchison said he had formed a tentative opinion as to the cause of the disaster after making an investigation and that he saw no reason to recommend any changes in the Edison battery. He declared that the battery in the E-2 was not damaged.

Mrs. Sue H. Carmony, 1016 College street, received word Sunday evening that her niece, Mary Elizabeth Reed, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee H. Reed, of Portland, was in a dying condition from burns received Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Scott, of St. Mary's, O., where she was visiting with her mother.

UNABLE TO LONGER HALT RUSS ADVANCE

Berlin, Jan. 17.—(Via Sayville.)—After delaying for a week the advance of strong Russian forces in the Caucasus the Turks have withdrawn their advance posts several miles at some points, according to the Turkish official statement of today, received here from Constantinople.

WHAT CONSTANTINOPLE SAYS.

Constantinople, Jan. 16.—An official statement given out tonight declares that the Turks have repulsed fresh attacks in the renewed Russian offensive on the Caucasus front.

An official statement issued by the Turkish war office says:

"Dardanelles front: A hostile ship on Friday unsuccessfully shelled Sedd-ul Bahr. Our seaplanes dropped bombs on ships of the enemy off Mudros (on the island of Lemnos).

The value of the booty captured by the Turkish forces now amounts to at least $2,000,000."

SPANISH STEAMER SUNK.

London, Jan. 17.—The Spanish steamer Belgica has been sunk. Twenty-three members of the crew were saved.

The last mention of the Belgica in available maritime records notes her arrival on Dec. 12 at Heysham from Santo Spain. The steamer was owned by the International Navigation company of Bilbao. Her gross tonnage was 2,105.

MRS. BLAZER DIES AS RESULT OF INJURIES

Woman Victim of Street Car and Jitney Crash is No More.

Suffering from serious injuries sustained in the jitney and street car smashup on Huffman street on Christmas eve, Mrs. F. E. Blazer, one of the passengers in the automobile, died at 6 o'clock Sunday morning at St. Joseph's hospital. She suffered a fracture of the skull and internal injuries in the accident on Huffman street and the best medical attention and an operation proved to be of no avail.

The accident occurred about 5 o'clock on the evening of December 24 when a Huffman street car crashed into the rear of the jitney bus at Sherman and Huffman streets. The auto was turned over and Mrs. Blazer and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Rosa Shaw, and Oscar Schust, the driver, were all pinned beneath the vehicle and injured.

Mrs. Blazer was 32 years of age and was the wife of Fred E. Blazer, of 1125 Polk street, who survives her, as do two small children. The body was removed to the Peltier undertaking establishment and later sent to Willshire, Ohio, her former home, for burial.

Chicago Brothers Held in Plot to Kill Parents

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Irving and Herbert Updike, 32 and 19 years old respectively, taken into custody last night after the police had obtained evidence of an alleged plot to murder their father, Furman D. Updike, millionaire commission man, and their mother, are still held in jail today at Oak Park, a suburb.

Chief of Police Leo, of Oak Park, said Herbert, the younger son, is being held merely as a corroborative witness but he refused to tell what charge if any, had been lodged against Irving, the elder son. According to a statement by the police a stenographic report of a conversation between the two young men in the Updike garage gave details of an alleged plot to kill Mr. and Mrs. Updike, because the police say, the son feared his father would change his will, and leave the greater portion of his estate to other members of the family. Herbert, the younger son, according to the police, entered into the alleged plot with the intention of frustrating it. It was Herbert who reported the matter to the police.

"Irving told me first he was going to kill father and mother more than a year ago," the younger son told the police. "We used to go down in the basement nights and talk about it."

When arrested, according to the police, Irving first tried to implicate his brother and then made a complete confession. The officers were hidden in the garage where they took a stenographic report of the conversation between the brothers, and later they say they found a shot gun and two pistols, equipped with silencers.

Police Chief Lee, of Oak Park, said that Herbert was at liberty to leave the station, but that he would try to show that Irving is not sane.

After the two young men had been taken to the police station Mrs. Updike sent their night clothes and toilet cases to them.

THESE MEN WERE MURDERED BECAUSE THEY CHANCED TO BE AMERICAN CITIZENS IN MEXICO.

The above photograph, taken at the Cusihuiriachic mines in Mexico, shows nine of the 17 Americans dragged from a train and slain by bandits near Santa Ysabel on Jan. 10. The picure is the property of Charles Truax, jr., of Chicago, chief auditor of the mining company, who is now on his way to El Paso to assist in caring for the bodies. Charles R. Watson, general manager of the mines, and one of the victims, seated on the railing at the extreme right.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

TRAIN MOVEMENT NOT INTERRUPTED

Less Tonnage and in Some Cases Less Speed, but All Get There.

Below zero weather has not greatly interfered with the movement of trains over the steam roads running through Fort Wayne. In passenger and freight all the lines reduced the tonnage, making in some cases two trains out of a string of cars which under ordinary weather conditions would have been sent over the line as one section. So far as could be learned none of the roads had accidents nor otherwise seriously crippled by the cold weather, but travel was lighter today than for any of the previous days of the past two weeks, owing to the cold weather.

MEAT CUTTERS HAVE ELECTION.

The meeting of the Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen Thursday night was well attended and of unusual interest. One new member was admitted to the union and the annual election was followed by a smoker and general good time. The election resulted as follows: George Feuchter, president; Christ Kessens, vice president; W. A. Felger, recording secretary; D. J. Shaw, financial secretary and treasurer; C. McVey, guide; H. C. Horn, guard; George Bender, sergeant-at-arms; Porter DeWitt, business agent; G. B. Place, John Austin and W. H. Spuhler, trustees.

GEORGE FEUCHTER.

WANT MORE WAGES.

Bricklayers Preparing to Ask for Seventy Cents an Hour.

Bricklayers' union, No. 26, will present a new agreement to the bosses, effective May 1, which will involve an increase from sixty to seventy cents per hour, an eight hour working day with a Saturday half-holiday. The bricklayers now work on an eight hour schedule, but have no half-holiday like the union men in other lines of work have. An arbitration clause is also embodied in the agreement, which is expected to eliminate trouble between employer and employe. The bricklayers and the carpenters have an agreement that neither craft will work on a job unless it is strictly union. Many of the bricklayers in the surrounding towns are affiliated with the local union and will receive a share of the benefits accruing from the proposed agreement.

INSIDE WIREMEN'S OFFICERS.

The scheme to allow the charter to remain open for the benefit of applicants who wish to become charter members of the union, the local body of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers has added many names to the roll that would not have got there under other conditions, it is believed, and it is thought that in time the local will become a 100 per cent. union; that is, get every eligible person in the city in the fold. Six new members were initiated Wednesday night, when the local held its annual election, which resulted as follows: O. Allen, president; L. Norford, vice president; A. H. Meyer, recording secretary; H. Miller, treasurer; M. Wiedeman, financial secretary; M. Brown, foreman; B. Metler, first inspector; G. Gray, second inspector; M. Wiedeman, H. Miller and A. Meyer, trustees.

LABOR UNION MEETING.

Considerable interest centers in the union labor meeting to be held at Unity hall on the night of January 30. The object is to thoroughly review the situation, eliminating the evils as far as possible and plan improvements. In his call for the meeting President J. D. Shaw, of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor, states that one of the reasons why the meeting should be held is inability of the federation, on account of the great volume of routine work, to take care of the greater problems. Among these President Shaw enumerates the "auto bus proposition, the street car strike, who our friends are in the city, closer relations between the affiliated and unaffiliated organizations of Fort Wayne and the general situation with reference to labor."

MANY SHOPMEN SICK.

The grip, which has prevailed in Pennsylvania shop circles in common with other circles in the city, is worse today than on any of the previous days of the winter, as indicated by the increased size of the sick lists in the several departments. Limbach, F. X. Miller, J. Kulliker and H. H. Boegel, of the blacksmith shop; W. J. Koch, painter; F. A. Etzold, tinner; Harry Long and A. J. Bobay, pipefitters; J. Freeburn, H. H. Jensen, W. O'Conner, F. W. Schaefer, C. W. oPrter, O. L. Ulrich, H. J. Koosen and R. Simon, of the boiler shop; F. W. Ghusenkamp, C. G. Cooper, L. C. Shuster, J. J. Oswald, and F. G. TO ATTEND FUNERAL OF UNCLE.

Tomorrow Machinist George R. Rupley of the Pennsylvania shops, and his wife will go to Decatur, Ind., to attend the funeral of Frank Pio, an uncle to Mrs. Rupley, who died last Saturday, following a short illness. The deceased was eighty-one years old and for ten years made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Rupley in this city and at Rome City. At the latter place he had general supervision over the cottages owned by Mr. Rupley and became quite well acquainted with Fort Wayne people who visited that resort.

LOCAL UNION MAN ADVANCED.

The death of Timothy O'Brien, which occurred at Indianapolis several weeks ago, has been followed by general advance of vice presidents of the Indiana State Federation of Labor. Mr. O'Brien was the first vice president and he has been succeeded by John J. Daley, a charter member of Friendship lodge, No. 70, International Association of Machinists, who was the second vice president. Joel Messick, Arthur Lahr and William Greene were similarly advanced and Amer Keppel, president of the Bartenders' State league, was elected fifth vice president.

HAS GONE TO SANITARIUM.

Fort Wayne District Manager E. J. Little, of S. F. Bowser & Co., has gone to the Baldwin sanitarium at Kalamazoo for a two weeks' rest and treatment. Close attention to the duties of his office has injured Mr. Little's health and he hopes a two weeks' sojourn at the sanitarium will bring back good health.

TRESPASSER INJURED.

Michael Riley was struck by Pennsylvania passenger train No. 9 at Bourbon, Ind., Saturday night and sustained a broken arm and numerous bruises on the body and limbs. Riley was using the company's tracks as a public highway and was a trespasser. He is a farm hand and is about thirty years old

FIVE ON TRIAL FOR HIGHWAY ROBBERY

City Court Trying to Find the Truth in Fight of Several Poles.

Whether there was a real case of highway robbery, as charged, or merely riot at John and Buchanan streets about 12 o'clock Saturday night, when Mike Steelle and Alex Adzigonski say they were set upon by four or five men and assaulted and robbed, is what the city court set out to establish when it went into special session at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, with Tony Schmidt, Adam Schmidt, John Narland, Mike Curloi and Mike Zurwoski in the dock charged with the robbery. There was no telling what would be developed, but the opinions of the police were much in agreement that it was a drunken brawl of the sort so frequently staged on Saturday nights in the region where the alleged hold-up took place. Steelle and Adzigonski appeared at the station shortly after midnight, Sunday morning, and related that while passing on the street they were attacked by two thugs, one of whom struck Steelle over the head and inflicted a cut in his shoulder with a knife. Steelle said his watch, valued at $55, had been stolen and Adzigonski claimed the loss of a pocketbook containing $46. A short time later Captain Kelly, Sergeants Nave and Zwick, Stationmaster Fry and Patrol Driver Buuck went out to the region and arrested the two Schmidts and Narland. Curloi was arrested Sunday and when Mike Zurwoski went to the station Sunday to confer with one of the men he was detained as a witness and Monday morning a charge of highway robbery was placed against him. The men accused employed Attorneys Albert E. Thomas and Frank H. Kleekamp to defend them. The bonds of the men under arrest were fixed at $1,000 each. Witnesses have told the police that two other men named Tony Zebroskie and Bruno Burski were concerned in the fight. There were near a score of Polish men and women in the city court Monday morning either as witnesses or as friends of some of the accused. It was planned to bring in several other witnesses.

Other City Court Cases.

Frank Anthony, a Sunday drunk, was fined $5 and costs and James Fullerton, also drunk, drew $1 and costs.

Sylvester O'Loughlin, continued from last week on a drunk charge, was turned loose.

PAROLE VIOLATOR GOES BACK.

State Parole Officer Lancelot, of Iowa, came to Fort Wayne Monday and took back to that state George Bruhn, who is wanted as a parole violator. Bruhn was picked up here for loitering and was identified as a man wanted by the Iowa authorities by Detective Sergeant Joseph Brennan, of the Bertillon division of the local department. He confessed that he violated his parole and said he had run away because his health had failed and he was being overworked on the farm near Des Moines, where he had been given employment. State Parole Officer Lancelot stated that Bruhn had run away from Des Moines with a woman of low character. After Bruhn had been identified here the vag who had been arrested with him, in this city sought to obtain half of the reward offered by the Iowa authorities for the return of the fugitive.

GOOD ROADS DISCUSSED.

Crushed Stone Men Will Urge Adoption of Macadam Specifications.

Indianapolis, Jan. 17.—The Indiana Crushed Stone association decided at its annual meeting, which closed with a banquet at the Claypool hotel last night, to adopt specifications for the use of macadam in building roads and to start a campaign to induce all the counties in the state to adopt them. Fred W. Gonnell, secretary of the association, said he would attempt to induce county commissioners throughout the state to adopt the specifications that will be prepared. Good roads was the subject discussed at the banquet, the speakers being Edward Barrett, state geologist; J. R. Fleming, a state senator, and Charles A. Carruth, of the New York state highway department.

GRAND JURY MAY ACT.

Brown County Coroner Takes Testimony on Woman's Death.

Nashville, Ind., Jan. 17.—The grand jury probably will investigate the death of Mrs. Linna Rariden, wife of a farmer, who was found dead January 4 with a bullet wound in her head. Dr. William E. Prather, coroner, declines to fix the responsibility. Walter Rariden, husband of the woman, testified to the coroner that he found his wife's body, with a revolver beside it, and he said he believed she committed suicide. Witnesses testified that Rariden bought the revolver the day before his wife's death. Rariden says he was not at home when his wife died.

COLD WEATHER WON'T HURT POULTRY SHOW

Biggest of All Exhibits to Open Tomorrow in Boss Building.

Cold weather cannot interfere with the success of the big Triangle Poultry Show and Pet Stock exhibit except by keeping at home the visitors who want to attend. As far as the poultry men and the pet stock fanciers are concerned, everything points to the finest exhibit ever made in Fort Wayne. All it needs now is attendance. The show opens tomorrow in the Boss glove factory building, at the northeast corner of Calhoun and Superior streets, two squares north of the transfer corner.

Exhibits Coming in Today.

All day today shipments of valuable birds and pet stock have been arriving by express from many points in Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. Doubtless all of these will be in place by this evening, as will also the entries of the ocal fanciers. The judging begins tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, and the exhibitors are all anxious that their offerings shall be in place and "look their prettiest" by that time. The judges in the poultry division are George H. Northrup, of Granville, N. Y.; H. A. Pickett, of Mattoon, Ill., and A. E. Hamlin, of Angola, Ind., recognized authorities in the highest poultry circles. Judges in the pet stock section equally well known, are C. S. Gibson, of Detroit, secretary of the National Pet Stock association, and John W. Fehr, of Indianapolis.

Free Guide to the Show.

Visitors to the show this week will find each coop labeled so as to give the name and address of the exhibitor and the name of the variety represented, together with the sex, class, etc., thus providing a complete free guide to the show. This is an innovation which will be appreciated by visitors who have but a faulty knowledge of poultry and of the various breeds represented.

Children Free All Week.

Every child under 12 years of age, who is accompanied by someone with a paid admission ticket, will be admitted free during the entire week. Special efforts have been made to provide interesting features for the ladies and children. In this connection may well be mentioned the refrigerator showcase exhibit of dressed poultry for the housewife's enlightenment, which shows the difference between the ordinary and thoroughbred poultry. The children will be much interested in the rabbits. Twenty varieties will be shown. A wild fox, wild Mallard ducks, large coops of pigeons and pheasants, and other specimens will also interest the boys and girls. Many of them are expected to attend, and the management will welcome them as never before.

Vocational School Showing.

Patrons of the schools will be interested in the excellent exhibit of the vocational department, designed to show what has been accomplished since the establishment of this important branch of the city's educational system.

The people of Fort Wayne have an opportunity this week to boost a city-boosting event. Hundreds of people from outside points will be here to take in the show. The home folks should give the event their hearty support.

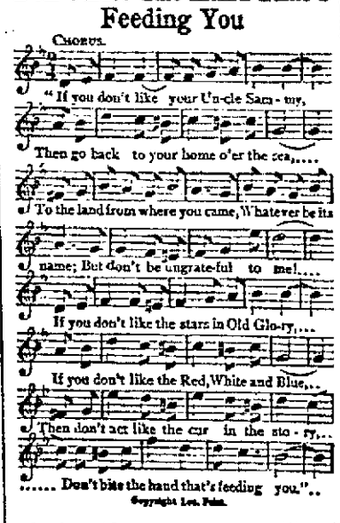
NEW POPULAR SONG WITH ODD IDEA

STIRRING EFFECT PRODUCED WHEN SUNG IN PUBLIC.

There is a new song in New York which is the most peculiar thing written in years. It is called "Don't Bite the Hand That's Feeding You," and, whenever sung, an immediate applause follows. Here is the text:

"Last night as I lay a-sleeping
A wonderful dream came to me
I saw Uncle Sammy weeping
For his children from over the sea;
They had come to him friendless and starving,
When from tyrant oppression they fled,
But now they abuse and revile him
'Till, at last, in just anger he said:

Don't Bite The Hand That's Feeding You



Chorus.
"If you don't like your Un-cle Sam-my,
Then go back to your home o'er the sea,....
To the land from where you came, Whatever be its name; But don't be ungrate-ful to me!....
If you don't like the stars in Old Glo-ry,....
If you don't like the Red, White and Blue,...
Then don't act like the cur in the sto-ry,...
..... Don't bite the hand that's feeding you."..
Copyright 1915, Feist.

It is said no song ever written is greeted with such vociferous acclaim, excepting, perhaps, the "Star Spangled Banner."

HUB HONEYMOON TO STATE PRISON

Magazine Writer Forged Check to Finance Wedding Trip.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 17.—For six years a prison record hung like a sword over Robert A. Ward. Despite his past, he won social prestige and achieved a reputation as a magazine writer. On the day a beautiful woman was to become his bride fate snipped the thread and the sword fell.

The woman he was about to lead to the altar was Mrs. Cornelia Rice, niece of the late James Schoolcraft Sherman, formerly vice president of the United States, and daughter of ex-Congressman Henry J. Cookingham of Utica, N. Y.

Exposed as a convict, Ward fled. When life seemed darkest, the woman to whom he was engaged called him back. To finance his wedding trip he forged a check. He married Mrs. Rice, but before the honeymoon had waned he was back in Joliet prison for his latest crime. His wife obtained a divorce.

The romantic story became known when Ward, who is now Convict No. 3420, wrote a letter to Warden Zimmer asking him to lay his case before the board of pardons at its meeting in March.

"I don't think the board of pardons will consider Ward's case in March," Warden Zimmer said. "It is a rule of the board that second termers must serve twenty-two months before their cases are taken up. Ward is now one of the editors of the prison paper."

FORMER STUDENTS IN ANNUAL BANQUET

Indiana University Alumni Association Elects New Officers.

President William Lowe Bryan was the principal speaker Saturday evening at the annual banquet of the local Indiana University Alumni association at the Anthony hotel. Dr. Bryan spoke on "Education in Indiana," and referred with pride to the state's high rating in educational circles. Reference was made to the honor the graduates of Indiana university are bringing to their alma mater.

Dr. Bryan told of the descent that was made in educational lines a few years after this great state of ours was settled. In 1848, the date of the origination of the free public school, 44 per cent of the people voted against the movement. He said now, however, the state was making a great rise in all lines. He proved his statement by the fact that seven men were selected from Indiana as masters in their special lines a few years ago when the best educated people in the United States were chosen. The statement that five of these seven were graduates from Indiana university brought a hearty applause from the audience.

Ralph V. Sollitt, secretary of the State Alumni association, spoke on the subject, "Spirit Among Indiana Alumni." He told of the work done by the various alumni clubs of the state and the great good that is certain to result to the future of the university.

Theodore Thieme, of this city, spoke on "The Business Man and Indiana University." He told of the advantages a university and college graduate has over the man who has not had the opportunity of attending such an institution.

David H. Hogg presided as toastmaster and Louis Plost as yell leader. Prof. DeLong, principal of the Monroeville high school, led the music. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: L. C. Ward, president; William H. Tschannen, vice-president, and M. C. Frysinger, secretary and treasurer.

Those who attended this happy yearly gathering were: Dr. W. S. Bryan, D. H. Hogg, Ralph V. Sollitt, Theodore F. Thieme, Prof. L. C. Ward, Harry A. Geyer, Walter E. Gordon, W. E. Clapham, Mrs. W. E. Clapham, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dreisbach, Marianne Morton, Glenn A. Smiley, Miss Esther Connor, Dr. Edward Cikul, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Voorhees, Mrs. Walter Kent, J. A. Reising, Marie Klemm, O. E. Hall, James B. Harper, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Tschannen, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Price, Marie Galbroth, F. R. Neff, Ina Estella Shordon, Anna Jones Sutton, M. Hatsch, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Frysinger, D. D. Lowe, Meredith Aldred, E. L. Sieber, William P. Jones, Paul Hackett, John DeLong, Dr. Noah Zehr, Roscoe J. Coats, John G. B. Jones, Burton J. Malott, Louis Plost, Charlotte Briggs, C. J. Try the Children's Medicine.

Many parents are inclined to believe that medicine used for children is not suitable for themselves. While it is true that larger doses are required, it is unreasonable to suppose that a disease in an adult should be treated any differently than the same ailment in a child. Mrs. Earl Jennings, Lima, Ohio, writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a splendid medicine for children. I have used it myself for colds and it has always given me the desired relief." BEAUTY HINTS- CHARMING COMPLEXION

Says a writer in the Home Magazine: "A little girl I know was downhearted on account of her face, which was red and mottled. Powder only improved it for a half hour. I felt so sorry for her that the first time I went to Paris I asked a certain fascinating woman there what she did for her face. Here it is: A simple thing, and my little friend is now happy. Buy one ounce of tincture of benzoin and one ounce of corylok. Bathe the face in a quart of very cold water and ½ teaspoon of benzoin, dry, and then apply a little of the corylok (vanishing face enamel). The results are astonishing, and last a day. This same woman uses sulsage (medicinal mixture of sulphur and sage) for darkening her gray and faded hair" —Advertisement.

DYNAMITE JOHNNY IS DYING IN NEW YORK

Romantic Figure of Cuban War is Victim of Paralysis.

New York, Jan. 17.—Capt. Johnny O'Brien, known throughout Central America as "Dynamite Johnny," hero of a hundred filibustering expeditions and the first admiral of the Cuban navy, is dying in the Hotel McAlpin. In poor health since, he was stricken with paralysis at his home in Newark, nearly two years ago. Captain O'Brien was [illegible] his duties as chief of the government pilots in Havana harbor, and returned to the United States.

For three months he has been at the McAlpin, except for a few weeks in a hospital. At the hotel last night it was said that he could not live more than a few days.

"Dynamite Johnny" was one of the most romantic figures of the stormy days immediately preceding the Spanish-American war. He outfitted several filibustering expeditions, and ran arms to the Cuban insurgents, and commanded several bodies of Cuban troops in engagements with the Spaniards. After things quited down in Cuba, Captain O'Brien was prominent in revolutions in Haiti, Santo Domingo and various Central American countries.

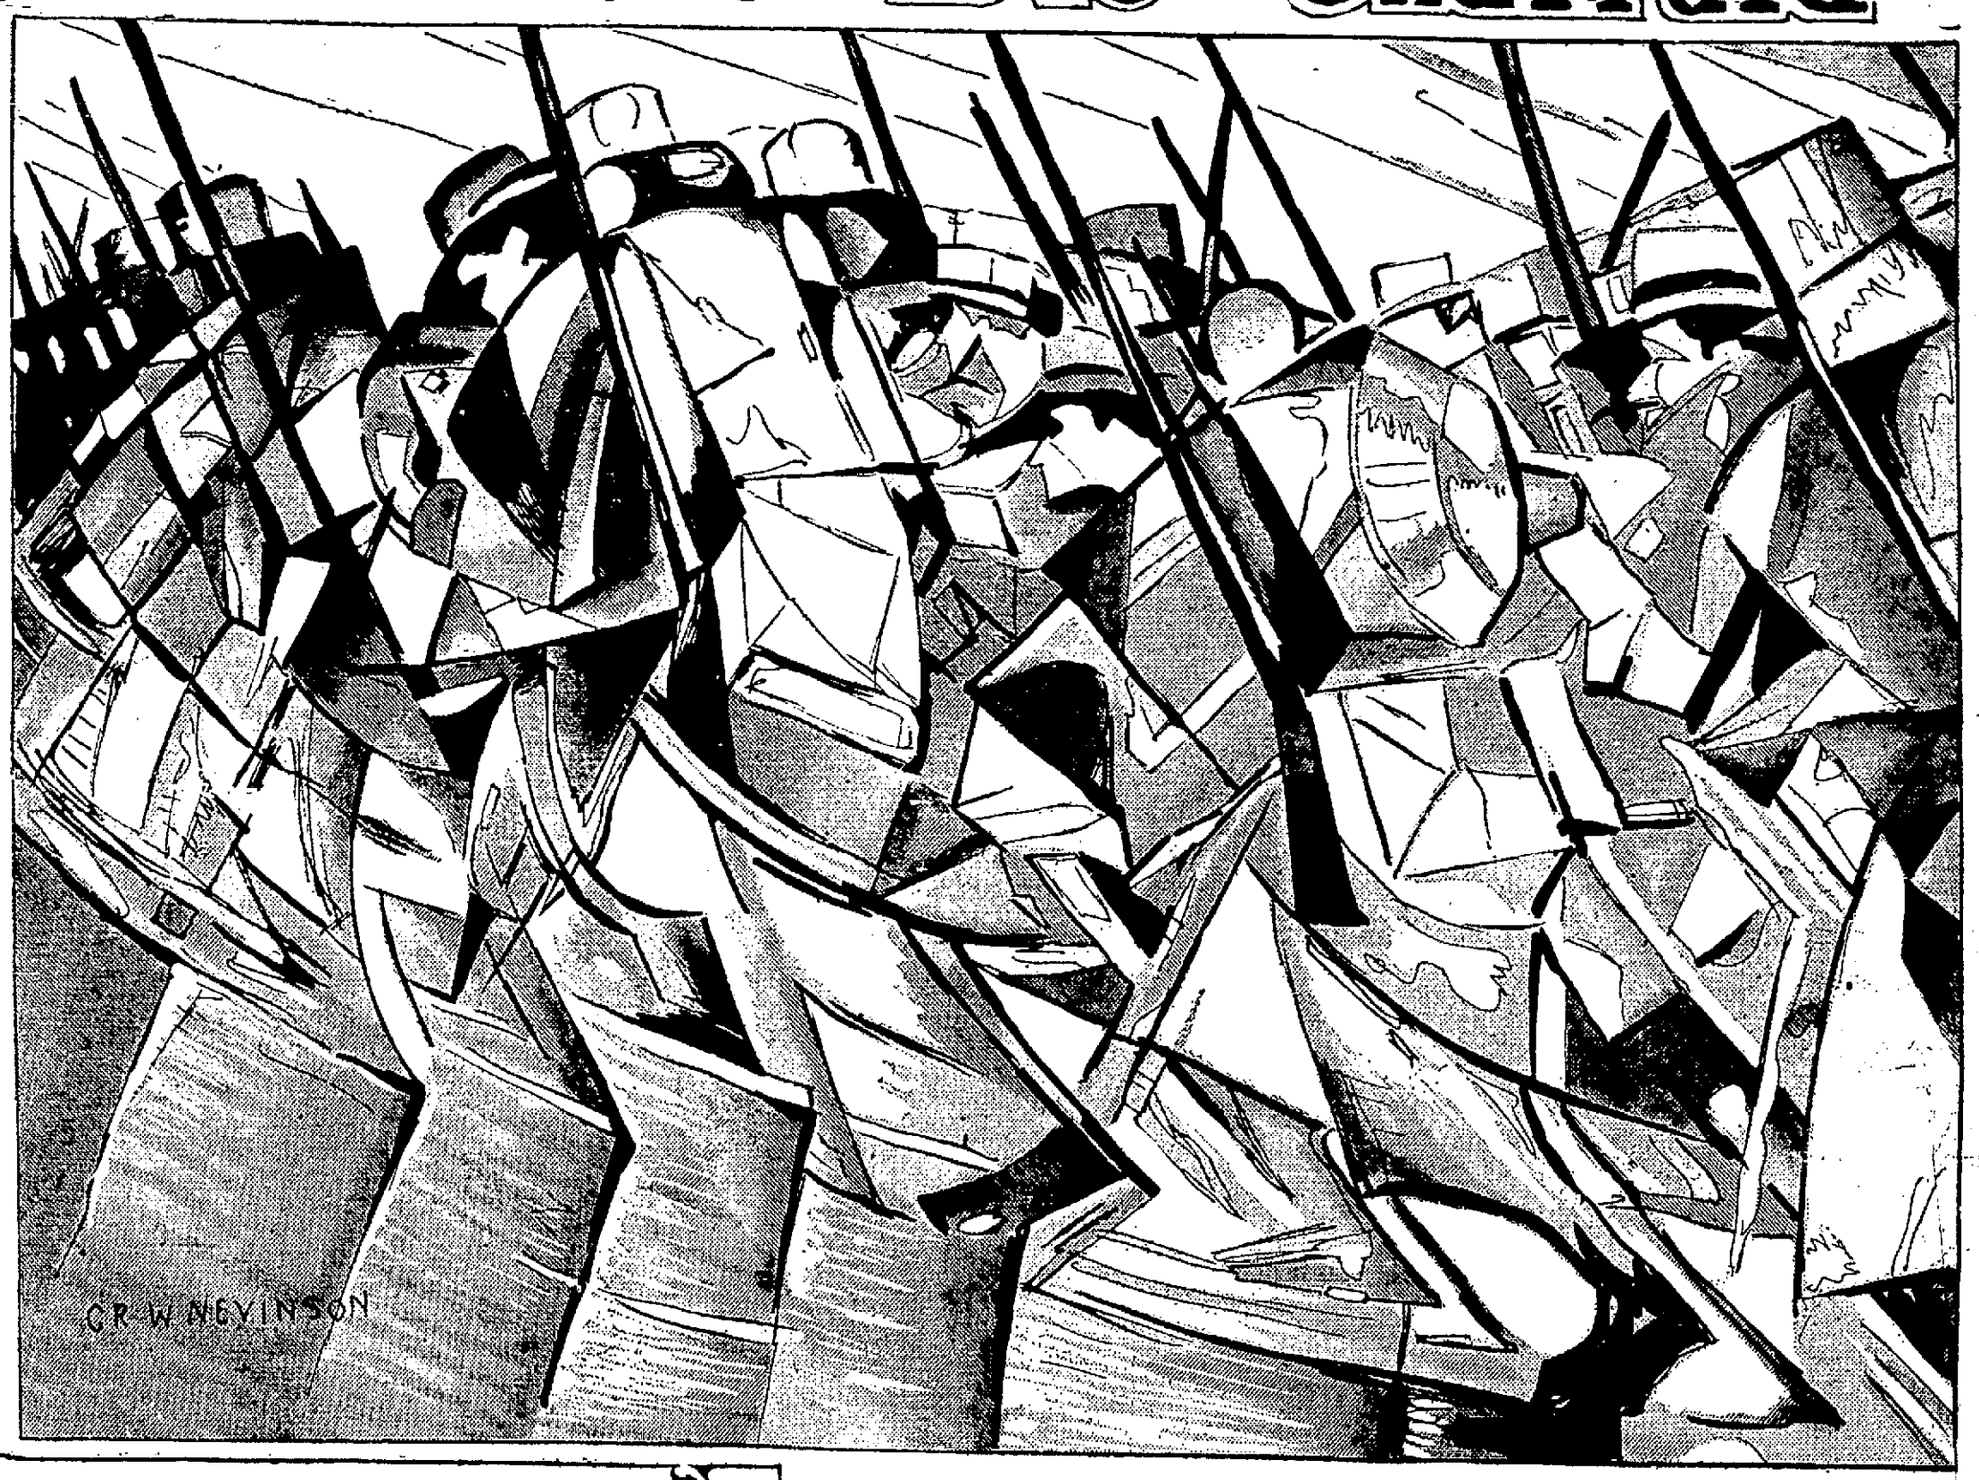
Why Soldiers Die Unafraid



How can they die without dread? They have no hope, yet they have no fear. Why?

There is no answer that may be written down. Literature, helpless, falls to the ground when it confronts the task of describing the supreme emotion of a soldier. You may spend a lifetime in a library yet never learn. For your question will never be answered by written or spoken word.

But you may do this: You may stare into the courage steeled faces that rush across the canvases of war artists and know. Geniuses of the brush have caught that indescribable death hunger of the fighting man and have put that passion of passions where you may see. They have seized and held for the view of posterity that master moment when man, sword and heart are at the zenith, they have put into the fierce countenances of the soldiers that tremendous sense of heroic abandon which lifts them high and clear above thoughts of grain and memories of ambition.

Look at the Greys, thundering down, sabers swinging, voices screaming, manes whipping, scabbards rattling; look into that row of emotion-torn faces peering over the wild heads of their straining horses; feel, with the breathless riders, that bursting flood of abandon and know why men die unafraid!

It is action, unified action, headlong, unified action, and that alone which transports the mediocre man into the hero. Solitary gallantry springs from innate fearlessness, from lack of imagination or from ignorance. The transformation of the nervous, fearful layman into the intrepid fighting man is the work of concerted action.

Watch Nevinson's Frenchmen sweeping back to their trenches at dawn. Their heads stretch forward, their knees lift with one short, hard jerk, their feet come down in a single decisive "clump." The ditch into which they will soon be tumbling is a pit of death; into it shells come smashing, gases that rend lungs come drifting; through it blood and water run as high as a man's knees, but there is nothing to suggest those horrors in the eager swoop of this compact, hard-driven file of men.

Some unseen force, something that is bred in uniform determination and desire, puts that vigor and dash into their marching step. They hasten to meet death, not through despairing resignation, not through reckless bravado, not through heedless intoxication; they merely stretch forth to greet the Reaper halfway because the religion of martial ardor has seized them, the fit is on them.

Some mighty spirit envelops them, the spirit of thousands of men, all absorbed in the same thoughts, all striving for the same ends, all doing and acting for the accomplishment of the same things. When a man feels that surging up and down his spine life becomes less dear and death less dreadful.

It is the spirit that rises out of war pictures and out of nothing else in the realm of art or representation.

Here are the horsemen of Napoleon at Waterloo! Into the ditch they go, stern, inflexible, unflinching. To die in the open is one thing, to be smothered and trampled to death in a hole in the ground is another. Those cuirassiers set forth from the French lines, a vast lightning stroke that was to smash men on powerful horses, the flower of the barracks and stables, they were by sheer weight of flesh and steel to overwhelm the British squares.

Pomp and majesty thrilled the onlookers. The horsemen leaned forward more as their speed increased. Faster and faster they went.

Then suddenly under the feet of the front rank appeared a deep ditch, the sunken road. A detour was impossible. The momentum of the mass thrust the front lines unhesitatingly onward. There was no escape, so the soldiers of the emperor rode bolt upright over the brink and filled the trench with their bodies. When it was level full the remaining horsemen kept on over the mass of battered, mangled flesh.

The artist paints that moment when the second rank swept over the edge of the ravine. On his canvas apears no Frenchman afraid. Faced by a terrible death, they ride into it, still intent upon that something that wipes dread and remorse from the soldier's mind.

Three coal black horses bear their riders windlike into the fatal melee. One is almost down. Its rider throws back his head, cheering his comrades on. One is poised just before the descent. The cuirassier is motionless, struggling not against his doom. No terror-stricken attempt to ward the blow, no futile nervous-

The Futurist Artist, G. R. W. Nevinson, Has Put Into His "Returning to the Trenches" the Absorbed, Determined Spirit That Animates the Soldier.

"The Ravine at Waterloo," Painted by V. Checa, Catches the Mental Concentration of the Fighting Man.

"Scotland Forever," by Lady Butler, Has in It the Abandon and Recklessness Which Drives Fear From the Minds of Warriors.

Just Like a Boy.

Really Robby and Elsie are the politest children in Boston. Their manners are be-eautiful.

One day they were told that they could have one each of the two apples on the table.

"Take your choice, Elsie," said Bobby, politely.

"No, Bobby," protested the little girl, "you choose first."

For a few minutes it went on, each pressing the other to pick first. Then suddenly Elsie got tired of waiting and took the apple.

Instantly Bobby's eyes flashed and cried sternly:

"Put that one back and take your choice!"

How Alike They Look!

Captain Turner of the ill-fated Lusitania had a story about the ravages of sea sickness that he often told in the saloon.

"A passenger," he would begin, "approached another passenger, and said:

"'We're getting up a tug-of-war between a team of married men and a team of single men. You're married, aren't you?'

"'No,' the other answered. 'I'm seasick. That's what makes me look like this.'"

Education in Ruins.

'Twas eventide. The small lad stood on the bridge clapping his hands vigorously. Beyond the brow of the hill a dull, red glow suffused the sky.

"Ah, little boy," remarked the stranger, who was a little near-sighted, "it does my heart good to see that you appreciate the cloudeffect."

"Yes, sir," replied the lad, "I've been watching it for 10 minutes."

Upon the boy's face there appeared a smile of perfect bliss.

"A real poet without doubt. And do you watch the sunset often, little boy?"

"Sunset? Why, that ain't a sunset, gov'nor; that's our schoolhouse burning down."

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—Notwithstanding that in consequence of higher prices at Liverpool, the wheat market here opened today at a sharp advance, weakness soon developed owing to heavy sales by prominent firms. The opening, which ranged from ¾c to 1c higher, with May at $1.28¼ to $1.28½ and July at $1.21¾ to $1.22¼, was followed by a decline to well below Saturday's closing figures.

The close was strong, 1c to 1¼c net higher.

Prospects of enlarged receipts had a depressing effect on corn. Besides there were reports of beneficial rains in Argentine. After opening unchanged to ¼c lower, the market underwent a moderate further sag.

The close was strong at an advance of ⅛c net.

Oats showed comparative strength. Commission houses were generally on the buying side, influenced apparently by the fact that oats were at too great a discount.

Liberal experts encouraged an advance in pork and ribs. Foreign shipments of lard were diminished, however, and the price of lard was correspondingly heavy.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Jan. 17.—The week opened with further advances in a few of the more speculative issues, new high records being made by International Nickel, American Coal Products and Mercantile Marine preferred. Crucible Steel, Bethlehem Steel, American Can, New York Air Brake and General Electric were higher by substantial fractions to two points. Standard shares showed no material change, U. S. Steel and the leading rails varying little, if at all, from last week's final quotations. Oil shares were heavy but fertilizers and some utilities made advances.

Weakness of the oils and other specialties provoked fresh selling before the end of the first hour, even the more buoyant issues forfeiting much of their early gain. U. S. Steel and leaving rails were under last Saturday's final prices and Bethlehem Steel fell nine to 470, Marine issues were the real features, dealings in the common and preferred shares as well as the 4½ per cent. certificates exceeding the trading in other securities. Later Mexican stocks, including petroleum and smelting, scored marked recoveries but investment shares continued heavy. Bonds were irregular.

Various obscure stocks moved higher in the final hour but some of the minor rails, notably Minneapolis and St. Louis, common and preferred, were weak. The closing was irregular.

He Shocked Head—Hunting Savages Into Civilization

M. Matsuoka.

M. Matsuoka, former governor of Formosa. He took command six years ago when 200,000 natives were wild head hunters. He civilized them by means of electric wires stretched across a portion of the islands. The natives, receiving shocks from the wire, believed some evil god was at work and fled inland. They were corraled by moving the wires little by little. Finally aeroplanes were sent over them. When they began to fear the Japanese, thy were slowly civilized and are now cultivating thousands of unused acres, planting rice.

M'BRIDE NOT WOUNDED

Indianapolis, Jan. 17.—Robert W. McBride has received information that the report that his son, Herbert W. McBride, had been wounded while on the firing line in France, is incorrect. Herbert W. McBride is an officer in the Twenty-first battalion of Canadian troops, and he has charge of the machine gun section in the first line trenches. It had been reported that he had been struck by shrapnel and severely wounded.

The denial of the report came to Mr. McBride in the form of a telegram from Colonel Winter, military secretary to the minister of militia, at Ottawa, Canada. Mr. McBride had telegraphed Colonel Winter for definite word. The telegram from Colonel Winter said that the name of Herbert W. McBride did not appear in any of the casualty lists received from the front.

SCHERER BAKING CO'S. MARVELOUS GROWTH

Shows Progress of Ft. Wayne This Year.

The recent increase in the capital stock of the Scherer Baking company from $30,000 to $50,000 shows the wonderful growth of Fort Wayne more clearly than most anything else could, for this company does practically all its business in Fort Wayne and shows a growth of 40 per cent. in business under the present form, during the last year and a half.

When Louis P. Scherer, president of the company, first started in business on Barr street, thirty-five years ago with a small shop where he did most of the work himself, Fort Wayne numbered less than a third of the people it has today. But as the town grew, the use of first class materials made the business grow and the Scherer name a household word when "good eats" were in mind and the same is true today, for a short time ago one of our friends with a bakery of his own, was heard to say that "Scherer made the richest loaf of bread in Fort Wayne." Is it strange that with such a reputation even among its competitors the Scherer Baking company today has grown until thirty employes are busy supplying the demand of the people for more than "101" varieties of baked goods, supplied fresh daily to the citizens of the present city.

While the city of Fort Wayne has trebled in size, increasing more than 300 per cent. in population in the last thirty-five years, the little shop that "Louie" Scherer ran on Barr street, with the help of one boy, has grown more than 1,500 per cent., and today occupies buildings of its own at the corner of Maumee and Walter on the Lincoln highway, with more than 20,000 square feet of floor space, all used in the company business.

With the growth of the business, Mr. Scherer found himself burdened with too much work for one man, and retaining the presidency of the company founded by him, he elected to spend most of his time away from the detail work, which is always such a grind in the baking business, visiting his old friends around town and making new ones. If you see your favorite grocer laughing over some tale of hunting or fishing told by a stocky, rosy-cheeked man with a merry twinkle in his eye, just see if it isn't "Louise" telling of some trip taken in the past or one about to be taken in the future. With all this—and it is an occupation in itself to try and know all the dealers in Fort Wayne nowadays—Mr. Scherer takes time to drop into the bakery several times a day to see that checks are signed and the boys are being careful to always "keep the quality up."

Assisting Mr. Scherer with the title of secretary and manager, is Mr. A. F. Naylor, formerly in the advertising department of S. F. Bowser and company, where some savings effected in his department brought him to the attention of Mr. J. B. Franke, president and manager of the Perfect Biscuit company, whose success is well known to us all. Mr. Franke was about to introduce the first cost system put into an independent cracker and bread factory in the state of Indiana. Mr. Naylor was started in packing crackers at the packing table and then all through the entire plant, and then sent at their expense to see the cost systems used in various other plants. The cost system installed as a result of this trip showed up some surprising facts and acting on these promptly, Mr. Franke has been wonderfully successful in the years since. While in the employ of the Perfection Biscuit company Mr. Naylor got up and patented the Can-see package cover used on baked goods from coast to coast. Knowing Mr. Naylor's experience in this line, Mr. Scherer chose him to put in the cost system now being installed in the plant of the Scherer Baking company, and permitted him to purchase a substantial interest in the business. The ideas picked up in a recent two months' trip through the leading western bakeries will be put into effect to help "keep the quality up."

To further supplement his own efforts, Mr. Scherer chose Mr. F. E. Wilkinson, for several years advertising manager for Weil Bros. and company, of this city, with large experience in handling employes there and with various railroad companies, as treasurer and superintendent of the Scherer Baking company. Mr. Wilkinson is a crank on system and efficiency and has himself worked up through the different departments of work in the Scherer Baking company in order to familiarize himself with all parts of the business. Under the present plan every ounce of material from the time it enters the plant until the money for its sale goes into the bank, will be kept track of and every assistance given workmen, salesmen, customers and consumers to see that the "Highest Cost Loaf" in town is the best loaf and reaches the consumer in the best possible condition, another step in "keeping the quality up."

Cleanliness is another of Mr. Scherer's and Mr. Wilkinson's hobbies and in the present rearrangement of forces, two men will devote their time to keeping the building and equipment owned by the Scherer Baking company in "apple pie order," to use the good old baking term.

Seven wagons carry the fresh goods to the hundreds of customers, and the demand has increased so that an eighth wagon is now being added. More than $8,000 has been spent in betterments since the incorporation of the company and the company today owns more new machinery than any other concern in town. With new machinery soon to be installed, your daily bread will hardly see human hands from flour to you and your favorite loaf comes wrapped, of course.

The other officer and directors of the company, while not actively at work at the plant, are just as much interested in its welfare, are Mr. George H. Krudop, the well known coal dealer and early friend of Mr. Scherer, who is vice president. His reputation is too firmly established to need comment. So, too, is that of Mr. Harry F. Kennerk, director of the company, member of the firm of Somers & Kennerk, and for years secretary of the Retail Merchants' association. Other professional men interested are Messrs. T. J. Logan, Fred Rush, H. C. Wells and C. W. Schuler.

In starting the new year the company and its members wish to thank the many friends who have made such a growth possible and whose support has been so liberally extended in the past, and invite them at any time to call and see how bread is made on the Lincoln highway at Fort Wayne, Ind.—Advertisement.

PROBING BLAME FOR MRS. BLAZER'S DEATH

Prosecutor and Police Inquiring Into Crash on Christmas Eve.

Prosecuting Attorney Frank A. Emrick, Deputy Prosecutor John C. Hoffman and Chief of Police Charles Lenz are conducting an investigation into the circumstances of the collision of a street car and a jitney bus on Huffman street, Christmas eve, when Mrs. Lena Blazer, 1125 Polk street, received injuries from which she died at St. Joseph hospital Sunday morning.

F. W. Luttman, motorman on the street car, has been under arrest since the night of the accident, on a charge of assault and battery, but at liberty on $300 bond. Oscar Shust, driver of the jitney bus, will be again questioned by the police. Probably no new steps will be taken pending an inquest by Coroner J. E. McArdle into the death of Mrs. Blazer, but it is purposed to obtain further facts if possible.

The jitney bus was struck from the rear by the street car and witnesses have stated that the car was going at very high speed. The Traction company is said to have obtained statements from other witnesses that the driver of the jitney had been racing alongside the street car for some distance and that he had just driven his automobile ahead of it onto the track when the car went into it. Shust says he had driven onto the track to avoid a grocery wagon which stood across the street between the curb and the tracks and that while he was turning out for that obstacle the rapidly moving car charged into him.

A prosecution for manslaughter may be developed from the accident.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW IS PRONOUNCED SUCCESS

By night ever yantomobile, display and all decorations will have been removed from the two buildings in which Fort Wayne's greatest automobile show was held last week. While the extreme cold weather kept many away the show was a success in every particular. The expenses incurred by the Auto Trade association, under whose auspices the show was given, were met and there may be a small surplus. A meeting of the association will be held in a few days, when an inventory will be taken and final reports made.

Members of the association have extended a vote of thanks to the Fort Wayne public and to business men of the city who were instrumental in making the display a success. Several Fort Wayne automobile dealers expect to leave this week for Chicago to attend the show at that place.
